SUPERB CHOCOLATES

All other chocolates seem just ordinary after you once try Huyler's. They are just as pure and wholesome as they are delicious. We secured the agency for the Huyler line knowing there is nothing finer, and because we know too that people will unconsciously judge the value of our chocolates by the individual lines we carry. We will be glad to have you judge this confectionery as soon as convenient.

BYRAN ON THE PRESIDENCY.

Its Powers Overestimated—Chief Executive is Powerless Unless a Majority of the House and Senate Concur with Him—Must Stand Against the Influences of Special Interests.
New York Dispatch, 15th.

William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic nominee for President, has written an article entitled "My Conception of the Presidency," for the July 15th issue of Collier's Weekly. Mr. Bryan says:

"The President's power for good or for harm is often overestimated. Our government is a government of checks and balances; power is distributed among different departments, and each of them works in cooperation with others. The making of laws, for instance, the President joins with the Senate and the House; he may recommend but he is powerless to legislate, except as a majority of the Senate and the House concur with him. The Senate and the House are also independent of each other, each having a veto over the other; and the President has a veto over both; except that the Senate and the House carry by a two-thirds vote, override the President's veto."
INFLUENCE LIMITED.
"The influence of the President over legislation is therefore limited; he shares responsibility with a large number of the people's representatives. Even in the enforcement of law he is hedged about by restrictions. He acts through an Attorney General (whose appointment must be approved by the Senate) and officers against the law must be prosecuted in the courts, so that here again the responsibility is divided. In the making of important appointments, he must consult the Senate, and is of necessity compelled to exercise care and discrimination. The most important requisite in a President, as in other officials, is that his sympathies shall be with the whole people, rather than with any particular class of the population. He is constantly called upon to act in the capacity of a judge—deciding between the importunities of those who seek favors and the rights and interests of the public. Unless his sympathies are right, the few are sure to have an advantage over the many, for the masses have no one to present their claims. They act only at elections, and must trust to their representatives to protect them from all their foes. Second, the President must have a knowledge of public questions and the ability to discern between the true and the false; he must be able to analyze the conditions and to detect the sophistries that are always employed by those who seek unfair advantages."

MORAL COURAGE.
He must possess the moral courage to stand against the influences that are brought to bear in favor of special interests. In fact, the quality of moral courage is as essential in a public official as either sight sympathies or a trained mind.
"A President must have counselors, and to make wise use of counselors he must be open to convictions. The President is committed by his platform to certain principles of government and these he is in duty bound to apply in all matters that come before him. But there is a wide zone in which he must act upon his own judgment, and here he ought to have the aid of intelligent and conscientious and faithful advisers. The law provides these, to a certain extent, in giving him a Cabinet, and the Vice President ought to be made a member of the Cabinet ex officio, in order, first, that the President may have the benefit of his wisdom and knowledge of affairs, and second, that the Vice President may be better prepared to take up the work of the President in case of a vacancy in the presidential office. There ought to be cordial relations also between the President and those who occupy positions of influence in the coordinate branches of the government, where our government is not a one man government, but a government in which the chosen representatives of the people labor to give expression to the will of the voters."

Games Between Kingsdale and Page's Mill—The Dinner That Was Not Served.

To the Editor of The Robesonian:
I have not seen any account of the ball game between Kingsdale and Page's Mill on the Fourth, so I will give you a little short sketch, which please publish. The boys played nine innings in the morning at the score, Kingsdale 7, Page's Mill 3.
Page's Mill sent a challenge to Kingsdale and promised a big dinner. Well, after the game was over dinner time came and passed, and as luck would have it the boys took some dinner with them; for if they had not—Oh well, they would have been very hungry by supper time.
In the evening Page's Mill went out to wire, so they got an umpire that would call them safe 10 to 20 feet from the base and when Kingsdale was at the bat he would call balls 3, strikes 2, before the third delivery had been made; so after the game was over and scores counted, it was Kingsdale, 11, Page's Mill, 7.

Help to Those Who Have Stomach Trouble.

After doctoring for about twelve years for a bad stomach trouble, and spending nearly five hundred dollars for medicines and doctor's fees, I purchased my wife one box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her so much good that she continued to use them and they have done her more good than all of the medicine I bought before.—SAMUEL BOYER, Polson, Iowa. This medicine is for sale by all druggists. Samples free.

Much Interest in Revival and Many have Professed Faith—Some of the People Who Come and Go.
Correspondence of The Robesonian.

The attendance at the Presbyterian church has increased daily, the spacious auditorium being almost filled on Friday and Saturday, and on Sunday every seat was taken. Rev. Mr. Black is most untiring in his efforts, and faithfully has he proclaimed the word of God from day to day. It was a grand and beautiful scene Sunday morning when between thirty-five and forty young people stood before the immense congregation and professed Christ. We are greatly encouraged and feel devoutly thankful to God for the glorious results. At the Sunday night service much interest was manifested and it was thought best to continue the service for a few days this week. Rev. Mr. Black and his singer, Mr. Burr, who has so effectively sung the gospel during the services, have greatly endeared themselves to us all, and many sincere regrets will be felt when we are obliged to bid them "good-bye." Surely we have been on the Mount of Privilege for the past week! They go from here to hold a meeting at Gastonia next week.
Miss Mamie Lovin returned Saturday from Elberle Springs, where she spent the past month.—Mrs. Archie Johnson and daughters, Kate and Ella, of Thomasville, who had been visiting Mrs. D. P. McEachern for the past week, left Tuesday for their summer home at Spring Hill.—Mr. Herbert Singleton, who has a position at Shannon, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Singleton.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown and little daughter, Amanda, of the Philadelphia section, spent Sunday in town.—Mrs. A. T. Dickson, of Raeford, visited her mother, Mrs. C. F. de Vane, Sunday.—Mr. George McKay, of Maxton, attended services in the Presbyterian church here Sunday.—Misses Lottie and Leila Denney and Mr. Kenneth Denney, of Cromartie, were in town Sunday.—Miss Margaret McNeill, who is teaching a violin class in Fayetteville, came home Friday to spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McNeill.—Mrs. Walter McNeill, of Maxton, and her sister, Mrs. Murphy McNeill, of Winston-Salem, spent Tuesday here.—Sheriff E. C. McNeill and daughter, Miss Josie, of Lumberton, were in town Sunday.—Miss Wyatt McKinnon left Monday to attend a house party at White Lake.—Mr. Jesse McCallum left Monday for White Lake.—Mr. Roscoe McMillan returned Wednesday from Jackson Springs.—Mr. and Mrs. Eric Huggins, of Raeford, are visiting at the home of Mr. I. Allen Huggins.—Mr. McArthur, of the Philadelphia section, spent Sunday in town.—Misses Harriet and Hazel Morrison returned to their home in Maxton after spending several days with Mrs. H. M. Dixon.—Misses Christie and Mary Black and Mr. A. D. Black left Saturday to spend the summer at Southport.—Mrs. W. G. Butler and children, Arthur and Christine, left Saturday for Southport.—Miss Mary Livermore is spending some time in New York City.—Miss Lillian Smith, of Rowland, is visiting relatives and friends here this week.
A large crowd attended the services here Sunday from the Antioch community. Among others we noticed Rev. Mr. W. T. Walker and sister, Miss Airey; Miss Jane Murphy Conolly, Miss Maggie McGoogan and sisters, Mrs. Make McPhaul and Miss Ann McRaine.
There were no services at Philadelphia Sunday on account of the meeting here, Rev. H. M. Dickson and many of the members of that congregation attending.
Miss Sallie McGoogan, who had been spending some time here, left Tuesday to spend a few days among relatives and friends in the Mt. Tabor neighborhood.—Miss Sue Broome expects to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Council, who lives near Fayetteville, next week.—Miss Eleanor Roddick left Thursday to spend a few weeks with friends in Fayetteville.—Miss Allie Purcell, of Floral College, spent Friday here.—Red Springs, N. C., July 13, 1908.

Boy's Life Saved.

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. We then gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured him and believe that saved his life.—WILLIAM H. STROILING, Carbon Hill, Ala. There is no doubt but this remedy saves the lives of many children each year. Give it with castor oil according to the plain printed directions and a cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

Rattlesnake's Teeth.

You May Get One at the Zoo—If You Do, Handle It With Care.
Washington Special to New York Sun.

The zoo keeper carefully unfolded a small paper packet which looked as if it might contain a rattlesnake's tooth? he inquired.
"Tooth?"
"Well, call it a fang, if you want to; but ain't there something in the Good Book about 'sharper than a serpent's tooth'? Look at this one and you think that the old fellow that wrote that must have known what he was talking about."
He opened the paper and showed what seemed like a miniature horn. It was shaped like a cow horn, which has only one curve. It was yellowish white, like a discolored tooth.
It was about three-quarters of an inch long and a sixteenth of an inch in diameter at the base, where it seemed as if it had been broken off. The point was as sharp as a needle. An eight of an inch back of the point, on the outer curve of the tooth, was an opening, the end of a sort of tube which ran the whole length of the tooth.
This little channel through the tooth seemed to be full of a dried substance, which the zoo keeper evidently regarded with proper suspicion, for he warned the recipient of the tooth to handle the same with care. He did not think that one would get a true case of snake bite from one of them more than once.
According to him the keepers at the zoo often pick up these loose teeth in the snake cages. They are apparently shed in the course of natural changes, something as the serpent sheds his skin. They are not merely the snake's baby teeth, but if the skin should be scratched or pierced by it a bad sore would probably result.

In and Around St. Paul's.

Correspondence of The Robesonian.
A good many of the people in this community attended preaching at Tolarsville last Sunday. Rev. J. T. Gibbs, the regular pastor, was present, but as he felt unable to preach Mr. George Johnson, of St. Paul's, took his place, and preached a good sermon.
Mrs. U. T. Humphrey left last Friday for Kenly, where she will spend several weeks with her sister, Mrs. R. H. Alfred.
Mr. Pasley Kimbell, of Gibsonville, passed through here last Friday on his way to see his family, who have been spending some time with Mrs. Kimbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Roberts, of Tolarsville. They will return home this week.
Miss Lena Humphrey left last Thursday for Maxton, where she will visit her uncle, Mr. Jake Nicholson. She also expects to visit Miss Margaret Cennie, who taught the public school at Centerville last winter.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Townsend, of Ten Mile, visited relatives in this community last week.
Mrs. Pet Williams, of Orrum, visited at the home of her niece, Mrs. G. F. Humphrey, last Saturday. She was accompanied on her return by Mrs. Humphrey, who will spend a few days at Orrum.
Mrs. D. B. McNeill, of Lumberton, spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Callie King.
Best wishes for The Robesonian.

Elopes With Neighbor Girl.

Rossboro, Va., Dispatch, 15th.
Mrs. L. D. Hawk, the attractive young wife of Policeman L. D. Hawk, a trusted officer of the Johnson City, Tenn., police force, to-day said she and her three little children had been deserted for Lydia Hill, a handsome neighbor girl. Mrs. Hawk found letters from the girl and some of her photographs addressed to her husband. When Mrs. Hawk confronted Miss Hill there was a scene of confusion following and Hawk and Miss Hill are alleged to have eloped to Asheville, N. C. The police are making efforts to apprehend the fleeing couple.

MT. ELIAM MATTERS.

A Hot Time in a Barn—Habit a Hard Thing to Break—The People Should Stop and Let the Commissioners Get Off—Honor to the Mothers.
Correspondence of The Robesonian.

As it is raining and nothing doing, only I am curing tobacco, I will try to write a few lines of nothing. News is like hen's teeth here at the present. I am like a boy told Mr. Otis Stone, when he asked him what he knew. He told him he knew he was trying to live, and that's most all I know.
Well, anyway, I have been cured myself since I wrote before. Something shut the barn door when I went in to see what the heat was. I found out it was high before I got out, but I was already yellowed, so it didn't take but about 15 minutes to kill the leaf, as it was one hundred and seventy in the barn at the time I was in there. Don't you know it was hot times with me! But I have got cool now, for I went to another ice cream supper at Mr. Jas. Stone's Saturday night—and of course it was enjoyed by all who were present.
I think sometimes I will stop writing, as Sarah Jane drags me so; but I think a habit is a hard thing to lose, for when you take "h" away you still have "abit" left; take "a" away and you still have "bit"; take "b" away and you still have "it" left; so I suppose I will have to keep writing, Sarah or no Sarah.
Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Britt, of Lumberton, visited their children here last week. It was Mr. Britt's first visit to his old home in two years. We were glad to learn that his health has improved.
Sorry to report the death of Mr. Pink Britt's baby.
I agree with the Red Springs man who thinks the commissioners have eaten Lumberton fodder and Robeson corn long enough, but it looks like they will hang around, whether elected or not. The commissioners are all fine men, but just think of saying "Don't know how." Didn't they say that? That's enough said. It looks like people could see after the board of audit and finance found things in such a shape. Now doesn't it. If I live and do well it will be five years before I can vote, but I can talk, if I do stutter. When you get a good thing it pays to keep it, but when you get a bad one, get it out of the way. The people should do the commissioners like a horse did a little boy one time. He started off on the horse and soon returned. His father asked him if he got thrown. He "Boo-hood" No. "Well, what happened, son?" "He just stopped and I couldn't." Now, if the people will stop the commissioners can't.
