Wilmington Man Perfects Process That May Revolutionize Cotton Planting in the South.

Mr. William E. Worlh, general Fertilizer Company of this city after more than two years of experimenting, has perfected a machine that bids fair to revolutionize the cotton planting industry in the South. While Mr. Worth is modest in the claims Messrs. Bun Tolar, A. F. Tolar for his invention, it can be seen and W. F. McDonald, of this place, at a glance that the process attended the lecture on Scotland originated by him will not only result in a great labor saving in

Wonderful How Men Become Crazed at Political Conventions. hatham Record

It is wonderful how crazed with enthusiasm men will become at political conventions. All who attended our recent State convention at Charlotte will bear witness to this, and yet as wild and unrestrained as was the enthusiasm on that occasion it was not to be compared to the enthusiasm at the national convention last week at Denver.

At the Republican national convention, held last month at Chicago, there was intense enthusiasm and at one time the cheers and applause lasted for threequarters of an hour continuous-
