SOME ROBESONIAN CONTEST BABIES

Gladys Wilson.

Here is one of the dearest little tots in this contest, Miss Gladys Wilson, the charming little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilson, of Bladenboro, N. C. She is not very far ahead on the list as yet, but we want you all to watch her standing before this contest closes.

Sara Hamilton.

We want you all to meet Miss Sara Hamilton, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hamilton, of Lumberton. She is not making very good showing just at present, but she has scores of friends who do not intend that she will remain at the foot of the ladder all through the contest, so you may look out for Miss Sara before the race is over.

Wm. Calder Guyton.

Look who's here! Master William Calder Guyton, little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Guyton, of Dublin, and surely that thriving little place is well represented with Master William entered as a candidate in this race. Never mind if he is behind just now. Watch his standing before the contest closes.

Fayetteville Observer, 13th: Andrew Jones, an old negro man who lived in the Lock's Creek neighborhood on the east side of Cape Fear river, was frozen to death in the snow storm Saturday night. He left town in his wagon late Saturday afternoon to go to his home, and it is supposed that the snow storm became so violent and blinding and the cold so bitter that, with benumbed faculties, he lost his bearings and succumbed.

Betty Hall Singletary.

This is to introduce to you Miss Betty Hall Singletary, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Singletary, of Elizabethtown. She is a very popular little miss and has a whole host of friends who are interested in her and who intend to do all they can to carry off first honors for her, and surely she is deserving of all that can be done for her.

Ruth Neill Bullock.

We are pleased to introduce Miss Ruth Neill Bullock, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bullock. She occupies an enviable place in this race through the efforts of her parents and friends and when the closing night comes they do not intend that Miss Ruth will be far behind, if, indeed, she is not at the very top.

Louise Kinlaw

How many of you are acquainted with this little ray of sunshine? She is Miss Louise Kinlaw, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evander Kinlaw. Her friends are very much interested in the contest and they do not intend to let the prizes be carried off without a brave struggle on their part for their little favorite.

A bottle of whiskey exploded in the pocket of a young man in Spencer the other day while he was sitting near an open fire and he had a narrow escape from being burned to death before the flames could be extinguished. His clothes were burned off.

Peruvian Mixtures

PERUVIAN GUANO—the world's richest fertilizer—is the base of Peruvian Mixtures.

To this we have added high grade Ammoniates and Potash to make a more perfectly balanced fertilizer.

Guano from far Peru—Ammoniates from United States—Potash from Germany's mines. That's the story of Peruvian Mixtures.

We have several mixtures of different analysis—each exactly suited to certain soils and crops. Last year Peruvian Mixtures were tested out on cotton, corn, tobacco and other crops. The results were astounding.

They showed Peruvian Mixtures to be the ideal fertilizer. They are proving a boon to the South—giving the utmost in plant foods, to meet the needs of growing plants at the right time.

But the supply of Peruvian is limited. Those who "put off" ordering are apt to be too late.
