SETTLE HEADS TICKET.

Republicans Oust Roosevelt Followers—Bull Meese Nominated Full State Ticket.

At the Republican convention held in Charlotte yesterday Thos. Settle of Buncombe was nominated for Governor and a full State ticket was also nominated. The platform declares for local option on liquor question. The followers of Roosevelt were run over by the steam roller and ousted from the convention, and they held a convention of their own, nominating a full State ticket headed by Zeb Vance Walser of Davidson for Governor. They first endorsed Dr. Cyrus Thompson, the nominee of the Greensboro convention, but Dr. Thompson wired that it would be impossible for him to make the race.

Progressives Name Dr. Cyrus Thompson for Governor—Platform Adopted.

At the State convention of the Progressive (Roosevelt Bull Moose) party held in Greensboro Tuesday Dr. Cyrus Thompson of Onslow county, former Populist leader, was nominated for Governor. The question of naming candidates for State and congressional offices was left with the executive committee which will meet in Greensboro Tuesday of next week to decide what course to pursue. About one-fourth of the counties were represented by about 150 delegates. Iredell Meares of New Hanover presided.

A full Roosevelt and Johnson electoral ticket was named. Iredell Meares of New Hanover, J. F. Newell of Mecklenburg are electors at large. The elector for the sixth district is D. L. Gore of New Hanover.

The National Progressive platform was endorsed, and electors pledged to vote for Roosevelt and Johnson. The platform committee reported a long State platform, embracing 18 separate and distinct reforms, including the Torrens land title law, compulsory education, liberal appropriations for health purposes, modernizing the tax system, honest primary law for all parties, free school books and election of county superintendents of education by the people.

A Senator of Whom North Carolinians Should be Proud.

At the historic camp-meeting ground at Weaverville, 10 miles from Asheville, last Saturday, 2,000 people gathered to do honor to Locke Craig, the next Governor. The speaker who presented Mr. Craig to the audience was Dr. Geo. T. Winston, formerly president of the State University. In his speech Dr. Winston had this to say of the senior Senator from North Carolina, according to the report of the great occasion written for the Charlotte Observer by Mr. T. W. Chambliss:

"The address of Dr. Winston was a masterpiece. He reminded the people that the character of the people could be judged by its public men. He suggested that North Carolinians should be proud that they have in the Senate of the United States a man who is looked upon as being worthy of being adjudged the leader. He said that when it became necessary for some Democrat to be selected in the Senate to take the front place it was Senator Simmons, the senior Senator from North Carolina, who was chosen and chosen because of his recognized ability. It takes a big man to lead in the Senate of the United States, and a little man would be pushed to one side, laughed at and ignored, but in the case of Senator Simmons he was so big that he is placed in the front.

"He also spoke highly of work of Senator Overman and suggested that, with two such men in the United States Senate, North Carolina had the right to be proud of its standing. He also remarked that it behooved the Democracy and citizenship of the State to keep them in the Senate."

Antoine Deloria, Postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "From my own experience I recommend Foley Kidney Pills, as a great remedy for kidney trouble. My father was cured of kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Foley Kidney Pills." For sale by all dealers.

HOMEWARD BOUND.

Robesonians Leave the Mountains on Return Trip by Auto—Flowers, Sweet Flowers.

To the Editor of The Robesonian:

Our last walk in Waynesville was to view Eagle's Nest and on the way to the hills we stopped to admire Mr. Satterthwait's magnificent dahlias and asters, such grand ones as we never see in the east. He has the largest collection of yard flowers I have ever seen and one of our party was a florist from New Orleans, so we learned the names of many new ones.

Thursday morning, and we bid a sad goodbye to our friends and mountain coolness and begin our downward journey. The railroad and county road both follow the valley of the creeks and their banks are gorgeous with purple and yellow bloom, the last flowers of the summer.

We had intended stopping at Asheville over night but the boys heads being turned homeward they became at once "buth-headed," if you'll excuse the expression, so we only spent a few hours with Mrs. Keeves and dear little Miss Mary and away we went again.

Saluda is over with no difficulty and a refreshing little shower while on the top helped our feelings. From Greenville the roads are fearfully dusty but real good and the ride to Spartanburg is much enjoyed. When sunset came we took a long lingering look backward towards our beloved mountains, rising a smoky feathery blue cloud in the west, and wished we had a gifted pen to tell you all of their beauty and grandeur, but it must be seen to be known. The greenest trees and grass of the east do not compare with the deep green up there and it even seems that the sunshine has a different sheen.

When I was a little girl I read "The Land of the Sky" by our talented but little known author of North Carolina, Christian Reid, and today I compared the trials of her trip over the mountains in a two-horse wagon with ours. Such narrow escapes as they had and rough climbs up the steep, roads only trails, and now we go in almost Pullman luxury with fine roads, comfortable stopping places, kind and friendly people to help us along and every comfort needed.

It is hot, so hot, here in Spartanburg and we think of the cool veranda of the Maples with regret. The boys are out at their beloved moving pictures but I am rather tired and will bid you good night. Not knocked out, you understand—my trip has made me younger for the pleasure of it—but I am sorry not to have seen more interesting places of which to tell. Friday afternoon. All is well. We are now in the bustling city of Monroe taking a little rest while enquiring the best way to Cheraw.

Our first bad buck befell us this morning, a puncture which delayed us a while. All these towns look prosperous and the people happy, and we hope they are.

WHITAKER-SNEAD.

Miss Daisy Snead Becomes the Bride of Prof. Walter Whitaker of Newberry, S. C.—A Pretty Church Wedding.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock Miss Daisy Holman Snead of Union Fork, Va., who had been spending some time in town a guest at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Varser, was united in marriage to Prof. Walker Sligh Whitaker of Newberry, S. C. The wedding took place in the First Baptist church and the ceremony was performed by Rev. C. H. Durham, pastor of the church. The event was one of unusual interest and a large crowd was present.

Mr. Wightman Whitaker of Newberry, a brother of the groom, was to have been best man but on account of illness failed to arrive and in his absence Mr. W. K. Bethune of Lumberton played the part. Misses Mildred McIntyre and Amanda McDiarmid were the other attendants and Messrs. Lawrence Parker and Rexford Stephens were ushers. The bride was given away by Mr. Varser. Miss Ethel Williams presided at the organ, Mr. Woodberry Lennon played violin and Mrs. Varser sang a solo.

The music started at 5 o'clock, Miss Williams playing three selections, "The Rosary," "Flower Song" and "Traumerei." Mr. Lennon playing violin accompaniment. Mrs. Varser sang "All For You." The bridal party then entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. Mr. Durham came in to the left of the altar. The ushers then entered at the main entrance, one passing down each aisle and crossing in front of the altar. The lady attendants followed, one down each aisle, and also crossed in front of the altar. The bride passed down the right aisle leaning on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Varser, the groom with best man coming in to the right of the altar at a side entrance. The ring ceremony was used and during the ceremony "Angels Serenade" was rendered softly by Mr. Lennon with violin. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used as a recessional. From the church the bridal party went immediately to the station, where the happy couple boarded the west-bound Seaboard train for Lake Toxaway and other points in the western part of the State. They will be at home at McColl, S. C., after the 15th.

The bride wore a beautiful traveling suit of blue and tan effect and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and maidenhair fern. The lady attendants were beautifully attired in white lingerie, wearing yellow satin sashes and white lace picture hats trimmed with yellow satin ribbon, and carried shower bouquets of goldenrod and ferns.

The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants and ferns. The decorations were in charge of Mesdames S. McIntyre and R. D. Caldwell.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket and chain.

Mr. and Mrs. Varser entertained the bridal party Tuesday evening at a reception at their home, Walnut and Sixth streets. Refreshments were served and the wedding cake was cut. Tokens of the occasion were given, the ladies receiving gold bar pins with the date engraved on them and the gentlemen scarf pins.

The bride during her short stay in Lumberton has won a host of friends that wish for her a long and happy life. Numerous beautiful and valuable presents were received.

A Matter of Interest to Teachers.

Prof. J. R. Poole, county superintendent of public instruction, has received a letter from State Superintendent Joyner explaining that delay in sending out new registers is due to delay of the printers and that he has taken steps to enforce penalty under contract with State printers unless the registers are delivered by the end of this week. They will be shipped by first express after day they are delivered.
