JOBS FOR SOUTHERNERS.

Southern Statesmen May Land Some Good Jobs as Ambassadors and Ministers—Many After Pie—Outlook Bright for Newspaper Men.

Mr. Wade H. Harris, editor of The Charlotte Observer, sent his paper the following from Washington, where he was sojourning last week, under date of the 6th:

"How completely the personnel of the diplomatic service has been changed since the days of Grover Cleveland is evident from the fact that at this time there is not in that service a Southern man holding a job as Ambassador or Minister. Several hold secretaryships in embassies and legations, at salaries of $2,000 and $3,000, and there are a number of Southern Consuls at a little the rise of these salaries, but the Southerners have been swept out of the big jobs. The French Embassy, for which Major Hale has thrown out a line, pays $17,500. That, in fact, is the salary of all the Ambassadors. The salaries of the Ministers are $10,000 and $12,000. Cuba, Greece, Spain, Netherlands and the like, offer inviting jobs for Southern statesmen. There will be no scarcity of applications from the South, and the South is going to get a good portion. The Southern representation in Congress is hospitable to Southern applicants and it has the ear of the Administration.

The prospective candidacy of Mr. W. C. Dowd, publisher of The Charlotte News, for United States Marshall of the Charlotte district, will interest a number who are casting eyes in the same direction. Mr. Dowd is "figuring" on the job.

"The matter of restricting the congressional districts in our State seems to be more or less talked of. No very serious consideration, however, has been given it by the Congressmen. Those advocating a change in alignment, will have to show where it will be of positive benefit to party interests. There seems to be a well defined disposition to let well enough alone. Nor does the proposition to floor Congressman Claude Kitchin by a gerrymander of his district meet with favor.

"The Washington hotels and the railroads have begun a campaign against Mr. Wilson's proposition to change the inauguration date to April. They count on the greatest crowd at Wilson's inaugural that has ever been known in Washington, and do not want to see present plans upset.

"On the surface there does not appear to be much of a scramble for the fleshpots, but one has only to get a look at a Congressman's daily mail to get an idea of what is going on. Not only does the candidate himself write, but he gets friends all over the State to forward letters of indorsement. The next quarter's report of the Postoffice Department is going to show an immense increase in the sales of stamps.

"The number of newspaper men out for postoffice jobs is a matter of common talk. It may be an encouragement to 'the boys' to know that at least one Senator has expressed his satisfaction at this, saying that the newspaper men are good fellows and ought to have the postoffices. The candidacy of each individual whose name was mentioned was favorably spoken of. In truth, the outlook seems good for the men of the press."

MAY REDISTRIBUTE STATE.

Number of Changes Suggested to Next Legislature.

Washington Cor., 4th, Charlotte Observer.

The next North Carolina Legislature may redistribute the State so as to give a more equal distribution of population in the congressional districts.

Representative Stedman has more than 300,000 inhabitants in the fifth. Representatives Small, Kitchin and Faison have the smallest districts.

A number of changes could be made that would help the Democrats and at the same time make better districts.

It is suggested that the Legislature will give Union and, perhaps, Anson and Wilkes to Representative Doughton, and add Robeson and Forsyth to Mr. Page's district.

To Mr. Small's district Northampton and Bertie would be added, and to Mr. Faison's Greene and Lenoir.

To Mr. Kitchin's district would be added Vance, Granville, Person and Caswell.

In the shakeup Mr. Fou of the fourth district would get Lee.

If the plan suggested is carried out no one of the Congressmen now in would be redistributed out of his nomination next time unless the people decided to make a change. There are great possibilities in the proposed program.

—Mr. A. B. Barnes of Maxton was one of the 30 successful applicants, out of 63, before the board of examiners of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association in Raleigh last week for license to practice pharmacy in this State.

Drives Off a Terror.

BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION.

Meets Next Year in Shelby—Reports Show Great Growth and Advancement.

The Baptist State Convention, in session at Goldsboro last week, closed Friday. As was stated in Thursday's Robesonian, Rev. C. H. Durham, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lumberton, was re-elected president. The convention will be held next year in Shelby. The organization will be completed at the opening session next year before the opening sermon is preached, instead of following the custom of former years.

Reports submitted during the convention just closed showed growth and advancement. Statistics show that the Baptists of the State now number more than 237,000, an increase of 7,000 members during the year. The Sunday school enrollment is 180,000. The final report of the committee on enrollment showed 518 delegates present, an increase of 107 over last year.

A resolution was adopted asking the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention to prepare Sunday school lessons for this denomination as soon as possible. A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of establishing a summer encampment on the coast of North Carolina under the direction of the State Convention. A resolution, presented by Archibald Johnson, was adopted that a petition be presented to the next General Assembly of North Carolina that the public school system of the State be extended so that it will be in reach of every child in the State for at least six months of the year. The report of the committee on temperance was adopted recommending: That the next General Assembly be petitioned to pass the "search and seizure" law; that Representatives in Congress be requested to use their influence in securing the passage of the Webb bill prohibiting shipment of intoxicants into prohibition territory; that the Baptists of the State be urged to attend the temperance conference in Washington next March and the Anti-Saloon meeting in Raleigh in January; that the work of the Anti-Saloon League in North Carolina be commended.

The trustees problem of the Baptists of North Carolina seems satisfactorily settled. The resolutions of Rev. W. C. Barrett and Baylus Cade, looking to a recognition of the Convention by the boards which govern the Baptist educational institutions of the State were reported on this afternoon by the committee appointed to consider them, and the Convention accepted the solution offered.

The trustees are advised by the committee to so amend their charters that trustees shall be endorsed by the State Convention, thus offsetting the dangers suggested by the resolutions. The action has effectively stopped discussion of the matter.

The Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention proposes that Southern Baptists raise $1,250,000 as a memorial to Adoniram Judson, thus commemorating the 100th anniversary of his sailing as a missionary of the Church. This fund is to be used for educational and other equipment purposes in foreign lands, $200,000 to be spent in publishing Christian literature, $250,000 in building churches, missionaries' homes and hospitals and 800,000 in equipping mission schools.

The fund is to be distinct from the money for regular missionary enterprises, and it is proposed to raise it within three years' time, pledges being taken in three installments.

A resolution of marked importance adopted this afternoon was that advising the Baptists of the State to consult with the Board of Secondary Schools before establishing academies, and further, the present academies are advised not to increase their indebtedness without consulting the same board. The resolution urges prompt payment of endowment notes of Meredith and Wake Forest Colleges.

The report of secondary schools shows 13 schools under the board 2,493 pupils and 83 teachers enrolled. There is an indebtedness of $5,100, and during the past year the board raised $13,900 for payments on indebtedness and for improvements. Notes are held by the board for $16,612.

A resolution pledging $25,000 for a meeting house at Wake Forest was adopted, with the understanding that the Wake Forest people raise $15,000. President Durham was instructed to assist Pastor W. N. Johnson of Wake Forest to raise the money in the State, Wake Forest having already secured pledges for its part.

The report of the committee of The Biblical Recorder recommends an earnest effort for a larger circulation of this paper, and gives the total income for the past year, from subscriptions and advertisements, as $17,625.22 while the total expense was $19,256.12. The present circulation is around 15,000, and an effort will be made to raise it to 25,000.

The Baptist Ministers' Benevolent Association was organized this morning with W. H. Campbell, president; T. J. Taylor, vice president; W. R. Cullom, Wake Forest, secretary and treasurer and L. Johnston, auditor. The association will provide for mutual insurance for the aid of the ministers' families.

The report of the State Mission Board shows an advance over last year. The increase in offerings for State missions is $2,150.80; for foreign missions, $4,837.49; for home missions, $3,607.47. The balance in the treasury after paying all obligations will be $480.01. November 1912, led November of last year by $6,000 in receipts for State missions.

PEACE PROSPECTS BRIGHTER.

First Meeting of Peace Conference to Be Held This Week—An Important Assemblage of Diplomats.

London Dispatch, 7th. Prospects for a satisfactory and reasonably rapid settlement of the Balkan war and of the great European interests, depending upon it, seem brighter tonight than at any time since the allied armies took the field against Turkey. The envoys from the Balkan kingdoms, Greece—if Greece decides to participate—and the Ottoman Empire will hold the first meeting of the peace conference next Friday. At the same time ambassadors of the great powers at London, charged with the task of protecting the interests of their countries, will meet as a sort of court of appeals to watch, advise and admonish the peace delegates.

To reach even this complicated arrangement has strained all the resources of European diplomacy. There have been times in the past month when even the consent of all the governments to a friendly gathering appeared beyond the range of possibility. Austria consented yesterday to join the ambassadorial conference and Germany, which stood aside awaiting the decision of its ally, announced its acquiescence today.

This will be by far the most important assembly of diplomats since the Berlin conference after the Russo-Turkish war. Giants, like Bismarck, Beaconsfield, Salisbury and Gortchakoff to be sure, will not tread the stage, but their successors who do will have an equally important work to perform.

One question charged with the possibilities of disaster is Serbia's unquenchable determination for an Adriatic port and Austria's determination that she will not have it. Serbian official newspapers make it plain, however, that the little kingdom has made up its mind to take instructions from the powers so far as public opinion in Serbia will let it.

A second interesting struggle will take place over Turkey's endeavors to hold as much of the conquered territory as Oriental diplomacy and the help of friendly powers can save for her. The best bargain the Sultan can make probably will reduce his subjects in Europe from more than 6,000,000 to less than 2,000,000 and the Turk seems reconciled to this.

A third important factor will be the Greek attempt to gain Saloniki.

N. C. NEWS VIA WASHINGTON.

Under-the-Surface in North Carolina Politics Talked in Hotel Lobbies in the Nation's Capital—Major Hale of Fayetteville May Get a Foreign Post.

Washington Dispatch, 5th.

To get an idea what is going on under the surface in North Carolina politics one has only to stir about hotel corridors here and keep his ears open. Congressmen are only able to partially prevent leakage of letters, and many a fellow at home, thinking nobody will know what he has written is sleeping in false security. How they get hold of it here is one of the mysteries, but, anyway, this is the place to hear news from home.

Somebody has been writing to Washington that Congressman Claude Kitchin is planning to run for Governor. This, of course, Mr. Kitchin denies. He is a candidate for re-election, his determination only accentuated by efforts to defeat him. There is a plan to gerrymander his district to make his defeat doubly sure. Senator Simmons has been accused of being a party to it, and also of intention to hold up Kitchin's appointments of postmasters. Simmons is not only so inclined, but views Kitchin with the same good will as of old, and will have nothing to do with the redistributing scheme.

Maj. E. J. Hale is backing for a running jump for Ambassador to France, and it is possible he may land. The Observer learns, if he fails in that, he will get some other good foreign post. The North Carolina delegation seems agreed on that.

Indications are that the Senate will be inclined to temporize with House in matter revision of the tariff. On questions of controversy the Senate will ask to be allowed to make suggestions. The feeling here is one of much uncertainty as to what is going to grow out of tariff revision at the extra session, but belief is general that the hearings and action will be long drawn out.

It develops that Senator Gore has expressed satisfaction with Simmons. The Senate has conceded that he will be chairman of the Finance Committee, and has gone to discussing other matters.

Overman is also conceded one of the big chairmanships. Those two matters are regarded as absolutely settled.

GOVERNORS REPUDIATE BLEASE'S UTTERANCES.

Adopt Resolution Declaring Against Mob Violence—Blaise Taken to Task and Hotly Declends His Convictions.

Richmond, Va., Dispatch, 6th.

The Governors' Conference unanimously repudiated today the recent utterances of Governor Blaise of South Carolina concerning the lynching of negroes. By a vote of 14 to 1, it adopted a resolution declaring against mob violence and for the impartial enforcement of the law.

The four Governors who opposed the resolutions declared its purport, but voted no because they thought they had no right to reprimand a colleague. Governor Blaise hotly defended his convictions, snapped his fingers in the face of his colleagues, told them to "go to it," and declared he cared not a whit what the conference said, thought, did or did not do and announced that all the resolutions they might ever adopt would neither keep him from the Governor's chair nor from a seat in the United States Senate in 1915 or earlier. Four times within as many hours, he asserted, his life had been threatened because of his utterances, but this appealed to him as little as the resolution.

The four threatening letters Governor Blaise received were all anonymous. One was mailed in Richmond, another in Washington, the third in Louisville and the fourth in Pittsburg. The Washington writer told him he would pay the penalty if he ever came to that city; the Pittsburg writer said: "You will be taken to account on sight for your words," the Richmond and Louisville missives were unprintable.

Governor Blaise was taken to task by a dozen Governors. Governor Carey of Wyoming denounced him for "claiming a monopoly for South Carolina of the respect of the white men for women."

Governor Hardley of Missouri declared that the floor of the conference hall was not a "cleaning house for local and personal controversies."

To these declarations Governor Blaise replied that he had been quoted as saying "to hell with the Constitution" and that what he said yesterday he repeated today to "all the good Governors here; to all the Governors of all the States to all the people of the United States." Once when his voice was drowned in a storm of hisses he turned to the galleries and to his colleagues and laughed.

"What care I four your hisses?" he asked. Then shaking his clenched fist he shouted, "hiss of you must, only snakes and geese hiss."

Governor O'Neal unloosed the storm when he introduced the following resolution: "This Conference of Governors does not undertake to control the individual views of its members upon any questions of law or administration; it declares that this Government is based upon the fundamental principle of law and order; that the Constitution of each State imposes upon its Chief Executive the supreme duty of taking care that the laws shall be faithfully and equally enforced; that it advocates all proper methods for strengthening and simplifying our method of civil and criminal procedure."

"This conference protests against any disposition or utterances by those entrusted with the execution of the law in any of the States of this Union which tends or could be construed as tending to the encouragement or justification of mob violence, or interference with the orderly processes of the law."

To this Governor Mann of Virginia objected and offered the following substitute, which was accepted and adopted: "Resolved, that it is the sentiment of the Governors' Conference in session at Richmond, Va., today that the whole power of the several States should be used whenever necessary to protect persons accused of crime of every kind against the violence of mobs and to provide for speedy, orderly and impartial trials by courts of competent jurisdiction to the end that the law for the protection of life and property be duly enforced and respected by the people."

The conference adjourned this afternoon to meet informally tomorrow and discuss rural credits, and to meet formally next year at Colorado Springs at a date as yet undetermined. In its dying hours it adopted a resolution, which in the opinion of many delegates, sounds the knell of the time-honored mortgage on the farm and presages the advent of a new financial era for the farmers of the country.

Should the intent of this preliminary Governors believe that it will result in the establishment of the new system of State banks throughout the United States, governed by a uniform State law. These banks, under the resolution, would be financed by private capital and would operate under legislation sufficiently elastic to enable them to issue bonds for short or long terms upon American farms, in lieu of mortgages.

LUMBER RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

Major Howell of the War Department Will Meet Citizens of Robeson Who Are Interested in Improvement of Lumber River in Lumberton Thursday of This Week—An Important Meeting.

Major G. P. Howell, Corps of Engineers, War Department, Charleston, S. C., will be in Lumberton Thursday of this week for the purpose of meeting the citizens of Lumberton and Robeson county and discussing with them the proposed improvement of Lumber river contemplated in the bill passed by Congress last session at the instance of Senator Simmons and Congressman Godwin. President R. D. Caldwell, of the Industrial and Commercial Club has called a meeting of the members of that club and of business men of the county generally to meet in the club rooms at 11 o'clock a. m. Thursday for the purpose of hearing Major Howell.

This is a meeting that should be of great interest to every citizen of Robeson county. As stated some time ago when mention was first made of the fact that Major Howell, who has a corps of engineers at work now on a survey of Lumber river, wanted to meet at Lumberton citizens of the county interested in the proposed improvement of the river and obtain any information they may be able to furnish him that will enable him to make a report as to whether the proposed improvement of the river is worth the attention of the government, it ought to be possible to present the possibilities of Lumber river in such a way to Major Howell that he will recommend straightening its channel at once.

EFFECTS DRAINAGE BONDS.

Supreme Court Holds That Act Exempting Bonds of a Drainage Company From Taxation is Invalid.

Raleigh Dispatch, 4th.

An opinion of widespread interest in the list delivered today by the Supreme Court is that the Drainage Commissioners vs Webb, from Duplin county. In this the court holds that an act exempting the bonds of a drainage company from taxation is invalid.

The opinion states that the Constitution requires all property to be taxed ad valorem, except the property of the State, counties and municipalities, and a drainage company is not a municipality; besides, the bonds are not the property of the party that issues them.

It is pointed out by the court that State bonds are exempt from taxation as a matter of convenience, because the rate of interest is reduced by exactly the amount of the taxes which would have to be collected back from them. Also that the county and city bonds are not exempt from taxation, because if held by parties outside of the county and city the amount of the exemption would have to be made good by the citizens of such other county or city where the holders reside, while the county or town issuing the title of the State bond to 144-160, the lower rate of interest.

Superior Court Abruptly Brought to End by Illness of Judge Lane's Wife.

After a part of last Thursday's issue of The Robesonian had been printed and mailed Judge H. P. Lane, who was holding superior court here, received a message advising him of the serious illness of his wife, who was at the home of her parents at Timmonsville, S. C., and court was immediately adjourned until noon the following day, Judge Lane leaving at once for Timmonsville. As soon as it could be put in type this fact was mentioned and the further fact that no case other than In Re Will of S. A. Edmund would be tried during the term and that the jurors for this week need not come to court, and the majority of the papers sent out contained that information. Friday Judge Lane advised Clerk of Court Skipper that it would be impossible for him to return and to adjourn court for the term.

A suit in which effort was made to set aside the will of the late S. A. Edmund had engaged the attention of the court since Monday and it bade fair to hold the court all this week. There was a strong array of counsel on both sides and many out-of-town and all the local doctors were summoned as expert witnesses, as mentioned in Thursday's paper. When it was learned that Judge Lane could not return a juror was withdrawn and a mistrial ordered in this case. The only other case taken up was the old case of A. H. McLeod vs. Hope Mills Mfg. Co., which was compromised.

Fine Home-Grown Cabbage.

Mr. Gregory Lennon, who lives near Bellamy, was in town Friday marketing some cabbage. Think of it, selling home-grown cabbage on the local market and it almost Christmas! And these were fine cabbage, too, just as fine as this reporter ever saw—that is, for home-grown product. Mr. Lennon sold about 30 head and they weighed 119 pounds, averaging over 3 pounds each at 3 cents per pound. This is not the first time this reporter ever saw home-grown cabbage marketed here in the winter, but these are the finest; and could not the farmers do more of this kind of business profitably? Mr. Lennon grew 500 head and they only cover a very small piece of ground, about 10 by 25 yards.

More Than 20,000 Skilled Workers Placed Under Civil Service.

Washington Dispatch, 7th.

More than 20,000 skilled workers in the navy yards throughout the United States were today placed under the protection of civil service by order of President Taft. The President's order was issued with the approval of the civil service commission and in accordance with an opinion by Attorney General Wickham.

No navy yard employees below the grade of skilled mechanics will be affected by President Taft's order. A recent conference of navy yard commanders recommended that the men be placed in the classified service, and that was approved by Secretary Meyer.

Tool makers, electricians, stone cutters, mechanics, masons, moulders, ordnance men, plumbers and others will be affected by the order. Until eligible lists for the new classifications can be prepared new appointments to such positions will be made in the regular way.
