TOO EARLY TO DECIDE.

Mr. McLean More Interested in National Affairs Than in State Politics —Is Not Giving Serious Thought to Mention of His Name in Connection With Governorship.

Charlotte Observer, 14th.

Mr. A. W. McLean, of Lumberton, spent yesterday in the city en route to Kanuga, where his family is spending a portion of the summer. In view of the fact that there have been frequent references in the State papers to Mr. McLean's possible candidacy for the governorship, he was asked about the matter yesterday.

"That," replied Mr. McLean smiling, "is too far in the future for any serious consideration at this time. Our people are much more interested in National affairs just now anyhow. So far as the gubernatorial issue is concerned it is entirely too early for me to give the matter serious thought. A number of the leading Democrats in the different sections of the State, have been kind enough to suggest it but it is too early to decide. And besides I am more interested in national politics now anyway. We ought to lay aside our own interests and strive to uphold the hands of President Wilson and our leaders in Washington in order that the rule of the Democratic party may be perpetuated. With proper support President Wilson will go down in history as one of the greatest Presidents our country has ever produced."

Questioned about National affairs, Mr. McLean said:

"My chief interest now is in the success of the National administration. The Democratic party has many difficult problems to solve and so far every great problem has been admirably handled by President Wilson and the Democrats in Congress. Some few of our Democratic friends in the South have from time to time expressed some apprehension as to the probable effects of the tariff and currency measures upon business conditions.

"In this they are taking counsel of their fears. The very fact that the tariff agitation and debate has been in progress for several months has caused so little disturbance to business is positive evidence that no real unfavorable results will follow the enactment of the Democratic measures.

"The cotton mills are doing very well and the prospects in that line for the coming season are good. The only actual depression in some lines of business, such as lumber, has been due to high rates and scarcity of funds for investment purposes. The new currency bill as approved by the administration as finally recommended, ought to be acceptable to all legitimate interests. It would be difficult to conceive a more acceptable measure than this new currency bill, taking into consideration the difficulties to be met in reforming the present abominable system. The 1 serious defect in the bill is failure to provide a more adequate means of lending money to the farmers for permanent improvement of farm property. This can and perhaps should be passed later on.

"The action of the Secretary of the Treasury in using the resources of his Department in the interest of the agricultural classes of the South and West is one of the greatest benefits ever conferred upon these classes.

"Speaking of national politics, there is another thing worthy of our consideration just now. Heretofore the National Democratic Committee has ceased active work at the close of each election. This year it has been decided by the party leaders to carry on active organization and publicity work, without cessation and to this end the National Committee maintains headquarters in Washington and will not only keep up an organization throughout the country, but will keep before the people in a true light the work of the party. In order to do this work properly, it will be necessary to raise some funds by voluntary subscription. A certain amount has been apportioned to each State on the basis of the electoral vote. I have been appointed by the National Committee to take charge of this work in North Carolina and later on we will call on those who are interested in Democratic success to aid in the work.

Nance's Mother Thinks Jury Will Not Convict Son of Crime.

Confident that no jury will ever vote to execute her son, George S. Nance, on a charge of wife murder, his mother, Mrs. Ellen Nance of 34 Seaton Place, Northwest, Washington, sits today watching for a mail carrier or messenger boy to bring her word from Rockingham, where Nance is confined.

"They'll never take his life," said the aged mother today. "I don't fear that at all, for he's not in his right mind. All they'd think of doing would be to send him to the sanitarium."

Helen Keller, World's Most Wonderful Woman.

Great interest has been awakened in the South in the coming visit of Helen Keller, deaf, dumb and blind from infancy, to Knoxville on September 20. On that day Miss Keller and her teacher, Mrs. Elbert Macy, will be the guests of the National Conservation Exposition. Helen Keller was born in Alabama and now she is coming back for the first time since she was taken from her home to begin her most wonderful career. For this young woman, who was without three of her five senses from infancy, has been graduated with the highest honors from Radcliffe College and what is more wonderful still has been taught to speak. She will deliver an address at the exposition and one of the largest crowds ever gathered in the South is expected to hear her. Her speaking voice, say all who have heard her, is clear and distinct and her lecture is described as wonderful. At Knoxville, too, Mrs. Macy, her devoted companion, will tell of difficulties under which this prodigy worked in obtaining her education.

Holden Impeachment Record Loaned to New York.

At the request of the State Librarian of New York M. O. Sherrill, State Librarian of North Carolina, has shipped to the New York Library the proceedings of the impeachment trial of Governor W. W. Holden in 1870-71.

The tangle of the administration of the government of New York is so unique and without precedent, that the proper solution of a quarrel in which 2 men claim to be the chief executive of the State is so mystifying, that the State Library is trying to get all possible information as to precedents in impeachment trials. Hence the librarian has sent to North Carolina to get the proceedings of a notable case among the few cases of impeachment of State chief executives.
