

FULTON

THE AUTO HOOD — SOMETHING NEW IN COLLAPSIBLE GO-CARTS.

THIS Auto-hood is exceptionally well made, in imitation black leather, and is securely supported by strong braces.

It can be opened to almost any extension desired—or left compactly closed at back of cart. In small quarters this style of Go-cart is especially desirable, for while roomy and comfortable, it does not require much floor space. It can be folded up when not in use and put away. The Fulton collapses in a moment. It is easy to do. There is no mechanism to get out of order—it just folds up.

Now think of this—12-inch rubber-tired wheels with brake; rigid frame is made of hollow steel tubing; resilient springs; adjustable back; comfortable padded seat, are reasons for the complete satisfaction this Go-cart gives in every instance.

There is no Go-cart made that is as easy to run as the Fulton collapsible. A frail woman can wheel it over curbs, adjust its top or fold it up unassisted.

It is handsomely designed, well tailored and serviceable. And at this price, $... is unquestionably better value than any other collapsible Go-cart on the market. You will admit this when you see them. Will you let us show you?

PECULIAR AFTER EFFECTS OF GRIPPE THIS YEAR.

Leaves Kidneys in Weakened Condition.

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are often very distressing, and leave the system in a run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles. Druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y., offer to send a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root, on receipt of ten cents, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Regular size bottles 50cts. and $1.00. For sale by all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.

South Carolina Labor Law Null and Void.

Magistrate Powers and Justice Gary have played havoc with the South Carolina labor contract law, according to a dispatch from Bennettsville. A case in Marlboro county was tried by Magistrate Powers at Bennettsville in which Rant Nichols was charged with violating the labor contract law, found guilty, was sentenced to pay a fine of $40 or serve 30 days on the county contract last November, obligating to cultivate a share crop, but did not move on the prosecutor's plantation, never performed any work under the contract and the landlord had not advanced 1 cent in money or supplies.

The magistrate held that the defendant was guilty, the defendant could not pay the heavy fine and the defendant's attorney took the case under habeas corpus proceedings before Chief Justice Gary. The Chief Justice's decision renders null and void the labor contract law in South Carolina creating great confusion in this county.

WILSON'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

President Wilson's Sketch in Congressional Directory at Opposite Extreme from Sketches of Certain Statesmen Who Have Been at Pains to Belaud Themselves.

Charlotte Observer.

The brief autobiographical sketches of Congressmen and other worthies in public life at Washington are always a study. No issue of the Congressional Directory appears but that some statesmen have taken advantage of the third person to belaud themselves; some never realize that the authorship of the sketches is perfectly well known, while others become wiser and trim down their pretentiousness in proportion as their real achievements grow. In The Directory for the Second Session of the Sixty-third Congress, now out, Senator Henry Algeron du Pont of Delaware consumes nearly a whole page to tell what a wonderful hero he approved himself during the Civil War. At the opposite extreme, the eminence of his office and public personality considered, is President Wilson's sketch. Mr. Wilson is nearly as brief as the average Directory autobiographer, and briefer also than most other Presidents have been. Because for these columns no less than for The Directory it has an interest of all proportion to its length, we reproduce it here:

Woodrow Wilson, President, was born at Staunton, Va., December 28, 1856, and is a son of the Rev. Joseph R. Wilson and Jessie Woodrow Wilson, the former a distinguished scholar and clergyman of the Presbyterian Church of the South. His father was a native of Ohio and his mother of Scotland, and his ancestry on both sides is Scotch-Irish. His boyhood days were spent at Augusta, Ga., at Columbia, S. C., and Wilmington, N. C., where he prepared for college with private tutors and at the schools of these places. His real educator, however, was his father, a scholar of high order, for some years professor of the Columbia (S. C.) Theological Seminary, and who closed his career as professor in the Southwestern Theological Seminary, at Clarksville, Tenn. In 1874 he entered Davidson College, North Carolina, remained one year and in the fall of 1875 went to Princeton College, from which he was graduated in the class of 1879. Following his graduation he entered the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va., as a law student, and was graduated in 1881. For two years he practiced law at Atlanta, Ga. In 1883 to 1885 did graduate work at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., in political economy and history; 1885 to 1888, professor of history and political economy at Byrn Mawr College, Pennsylvania; 1888 to 1890, professor in the same branches of science at Wesleyan University. In June, 1890, he was selected professor of jurisprudence and political economy at Princeton University. In 1895 the department was divided and he was assigned to the chair of jurisprudence. In 1897 he was promoted to the McCormick professorship of jurisprudence and politics. In 1902 he was elected president of the University, resigning both that office and his professorship in October, 1910, immediately after his nomination for Governor of New Jersey, to which office he was elected November 8, 1910, by a plurality of 49,056 votes. He was married June 24, 1885, to Miss Ellen Louise Axsen, of a distinguished family of Savannah, Ga. They have three daughters, Misses Margaret Woodrow Wilson, Jessie Woodrow Wilson, and Eleanor Randolph Wilson. He is the author of the following works: 'Congressional Government,' in 1885; 'The State-Elements of Historical and Practical Politics,' in 1889; 'Division and Reunion,' in 1893; 'An Old Master and other Poetical Essays,' in 1893; 'Mere Literature and Other Essays,' in 1896; 'Life of George Washington,' in 1896; 'History of the American People,' in 1902; and 'Constitutional Government in the United States,' in 1908.

The top line in parentheses which precedes the sketches of all executive officials informs us that Mr. Wilson lives at the White House, on Pennsylvania avenue, between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets. His phone is 4141, but no one who may feel inclined to call him up for a chat need suppose that he can answer it in person each time.

SCOTTISH SOCIETY OF AMERICA

Annual Meeting Will Be Held in Fayetteville, May 28.

The Fayetteville Observer says that a meeting of the executive committee of the Scottish Society of America there Wednesday of last week it was decided to hold the annual meeting of the society this year in Fayetteville May 28. The president, Dr. J. A. McDonald of Toronto, Canada, editor of The Toronto Globe, who delivered the annual address before the society at its annual meeting at Red Springs last year, will be present and preside. Steps are being taken to procure another good speaker for the reunion this year. The Observer says that Dr. J. V. McGoogan is taking steps to secure a Scotch band to furnish music during the meeting. Mr. A. W. McLean of Lumberton is a member of the executive committee of the association.

Jas. L. Bolejack an aged man who shot and killed his wife in Charlotte several weeks ago, was convicted of murder in the first degree by a Mecklenburg county jury Thursday. The penalty is death in the electric chair. It was the first verdict of first degree murder recorded against a white man in Mecklenburg county in many years.

SIGNATURES FORGERIES

Renowned Handwriting Expert Testifies in Newton-McArthur Case—Analyze Differences Between Real and "Spurious" McArthur Handwriting.

Raleigh Cor., 20th, Wilmington Star.

David N. Carvalho, of New York, the renowned handwriting expert, who testified in the famous Dreyfus case, was on the stand much of the session of the Federal Court today in the trial of Citizens Bank of Norfolk against J. Sprunt Newton, Mrs. Newton, Adam McArthur and others, and testified that in his opinion the Adam McArthur signature on the $25,000 note being sued for is not genuine.

Mr. Carvalho undertook to show by enlarged photographs and magnifying glasses that in the "A" for Adam there are nine pauses of the pen while the letter was being formed. He said the letter "R" in the admittedly genuine signatures of Adam McArthur, have a vertical tendency with slight slants to the left, while the letter slants to the right in the disputed signature. He pointed out that there is a definite base line for the admittedly genuine signatures and a noticeable irregularity and downward or oval tendency in the disputed signature. He pointed out an upward stroke in the finish of the admittedly genuine signatures and a long downward stroke on the one in dispute. He also held that the crossing of the "T" in the disputed signature is different through a slant downward instead of upwards.

The note bearing the disputed signature was placed in the hands of the jurors along with powerful magnifying glasses and there was a lengthy informal recess during which time the jurors made individual studies of the signatures in the light of the testimony of Mr. Carvalho.

Carvalho also testified as to the signature of Mrs. M. E. McArthur, holding that hers on the note in question is forgery. This he held to be indicated by differences in the letter "R" in "Mrs." and "McArthur" as well, the forgery being more of a loop in construction. There was difference, too, in the manner of crossing the "T."

Under sharp cross-examination, he admitted that there were genuine signatures of Mrs. McArthur with the "loop" "R," but he stuck to his opinion that the signature on the note is not genuine. The cross-examination was sharp and was by Judge R. W. Winston, Judge J. Crawford Biggs and former Governor Kitchin. The court house was thronged with business men, including numbers of interested bankers. The judges of the Supreme Court spent a large part of the afternoon in the court room listening to the cross-examination of Carvalho.

There are banks in Raleigh, Fayetteville, Richmond, Norfolk and elsewhere vitally interested in the outcome, as there is something like $300,000 on outstanding notes similarly endorsed by Mrs. Newton and the McArthurs that must stand or fall by the decision in this case as to the genuineness of the signatures on the $25,000 note.

It is believed now that the trial will require practically all of next week to reach final disposition.

The March Woman's Home Companion.

The March Woman's Home Companion contains a review of the work already done by that publication in the great campaign for Better Babies, which it has been carrying on for a year and which its Better Babies Bureau under the direction of Anna Steese Richardson is to carry on during the coming year. One hundred thousand babies have already been examined at contests and hundreds of thousands of mothers have been helped by scientific suggestions as to how to take care of their children. The Companion has put the movement on a sound basis and attracted to its support the most influential body of medical men in the country, the American Medical Association. It has standardized the Better Babies movement by providing free of charge, the most thoroughly scientific score-cards, wall charts, books of detailed instruction, and all other needful literature that could be devised by experts, and insisting that these be used in all contests. In other words, the Better Babies Bureau has accomplished in a year what a generation of scattered endeavor could not have brought about. And the movement is still young!

Other valuable articles in the Companion are: 'Why Fifty Women Go to Church,' by Bruce Barton, author of last month's article entitled 'Why Fifty Women Do Not Go to Church'; 'The Importance of Play,' by Mary Heaton Vorse, another contribution by Mrs. Vorse, in her series descriptive of the Montessori method of education; and 'Our Struggles for a Home and How it Brought Happiness as a By-Product,' by an anonymous contributor.

Grace Margaret Gould, fashion editor, devotes 14 pages to a highly entertaining and beautifully illustrated report of spring fashions. The department includes a dozen or more separate contributions on a variety of subjects. Miss Gould's underlying idea is that women can and should be fashionable without going in for the extravagances and extremes of style, and she shows practically and successfully just how women can attain this end.

Fiction is contributed by Mollie Elliot Seawell, Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, Katharine Holland Brown, Zona Gale, Mabel Martin Dill, and Sophie Kerr Underwood. Special art and music features are included, and the regular Young People's, Cooking and House-keeping Departments are up to their usual high standard.
