Every Intelligent Man Should Read His County Paper.

Did you ever stop to think what a good live newspaper meant to your children? In many instances children learn to read from looking at papers. You say you don't have time to read your county paper, perhaps you are a very busy man and don't have much time to spend in reading, but your children should be supplied with good reading matter. The Robesonian has correspondents all over the great county of Robeson, and your child will be pleased to read the home news at least. Every intelligent man should read his county paper, and should at least take it for his children's sake.

FISHING AND FISHERMEN

Now is the Time and the Waters Hereabouts Are the Places to Catch Fish—Some Catch 'Em and Some Don't—Fishes Seem to Doat on Mr. A. T. McLean, But There Are Others.

Fishing is, to use an entirely new expression, "the order of the day" hereabouts. Fishermen say they never before in all their days saw the like of the way fish bite these days. To hear some of these fishermen talk you'd think that the festive fish are unhappy except when fishermen are giving them a chance to get caught. Any way, the fishes—little fishes, big fishes, medium-sized fishes—are calling, calling, calling; and there are not a few hereabout who cannot resist the call.

Out at McMillan's pond, about three miles from town, where a club of 25 Lumberton men have hunting and fishing preserves, some tall fishing has been done. Mr. A. T. McLean claims to be the fishingest man at all. He says the fishes just simply wait for him and take his hook when they will not notice anybody else's. The other day Mr. McLean arrived late at the fishing place. Mr. J. Dixon McLean and Mr. Gus McLean had been doing their possible for hours and had not got a bite. Hope had fled their bosoms and they were sad and weary and dejected. Then Mr. A. T. came up and threw his hook over right between the hooks of the other two Scotchmen and began to pull fishes out as fast as he could throw in his hook. It looked like all the finny tribe in the river had been patiently waiting for him and had passed the word that "Alex. has come." Since the fishes were so doggone fond of him, J. Dixon and Gus threatened to throw A. T. in and let him associate with 'em in their native element.

But Mr. A. T. is not the whole works, and there are other places where the fishes bite. Mr. Albert Boylin and Mr. Frank Morrison heard the call Friday morning and went down the river to High Hills, about 3 miles from town in the other direction from the pond, and they came back a few hours later with a huge string of 31 fishes.

Everybody does not have that sort of luck, however. Messrs. Frank Gough, John French and C. L. Boddy and The Robesonian man went last Tuesday to a big pond in Howellsville township, about 9 miles from town, on a tract of land owned by Mr. Gough and Mr. A. E. White. Mr. Gough said that there were fish that were fish out there, so there were great expectations. But there was nothing doing. Maybe it was too soon in the afternoon. Anyway that bunch fished all over the place for several hours and nobody got a bite except Mr. Gough, who caught two measly ones; and the only reason he caught them was he had one of these here fancy green poles and the fishes had a curiosity to know what kind of a pole that was. They knew all about the old red poles the others were using. Mr. J. E. Smith, who runs the grist mill at this place for Messrs. White & Gough, said he had been catching a right smart of fish in the pond and thought if we'd go up the pond we'd find plenty, but there was not time to go. Several women and men from nearby were trying their luck also, but they were not catching any fish either. Mr. Boddy said that was the first time he ever went fishing and did not get a bite; and he said he'd agree to eat all the fish as wide as his hand in the old pond.

That's the way it is. You can't always sometimes tell. Men who go fishing every little while catch fish to beat the band, and men who don't get the chance one in a blue moon don't get a bite.

Mr. Gough went down the river a few miles to High Hills the next morning and caught a pretty good string, so maybe his luck the day before was not altogether due to his fancy green pole after all, for he left the pole at the pond for future use.

If you know where to go and when to go and how to fish when you get there, you stand a pretty good chance of getting a bait of fish in the waters hereabouts at this good time.

Congressman Webb will be made chairman of the House judiciary committee, according to a Washington dispatch of today. He asked that Clayton's resignation be staved over until the House disposes of the administration anti-trust bill, which Clayton has had in charge.

Mr. Clayton has been appointed to a Federal judgeship in Alabama, hence the vacancy to which Mr. Webb now holds claim by seniority.

Mr. Webb will be one of the youngest men in Congress to hold such an important chairmanship.

It is generally understood that Congressman Claude Kitchin, one of the most brilliant members of Congress, will succeed Oscar Underwood as chairman of the important House ways and means committee.

Senator Simmons is chairman of the powerful Senate finance committee, while Senator Overman is chairman of the Senate judiciary committee.

Other Carolina representatives hold important committee posts, while still other noted Carolinians now represent the Nation in high offices in this and foreign countries.

The highest office held by a North Carolinian is that to which Editor Daniels was appointed as Secretary of the Navy.

That the Old North State's representatives are representatives of national importance is a matter of pride to the whole State.

Verily, North Carolina is in the saddle.

"THE GREATEST KIDNEY REMEDY ON EARTH," SAYS A GRATEFUL WOMAN.

I want to tell you how much good your Swamp-Root did me. About four years ago, I suffered from what the doctors called fistula and for two years of that time I endured what no tongue can tell. I also had inflammation of the bladder and I tried doctor's medicines without receiving any help. Someone told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

After giving it a thorough trial I received relief, so kept on using it and today I am a strong and well woman. If I ever feel badly or out of sorts, I take Swamp-Root and it always straightens me out. I honestly believe that this medicine would cure all troubles that you recommend it for and it is a pleasure for me to send my testimony and photograph to you. I think Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is one of the greatest medicines on earth.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. JOHN BAILY,
