FARMERS' UNION LEADERS FOR THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

With sixty-five counties represented, from the mountains to the sea, the State meeting of Farmers' Union business agents in Raleigh, October 2, voted unanimously to endorse the proposed Constitutional Amendments. The president of the State Farmers' Union, Dr. H. Q. Alexander, Vice-President Templeton, Secretary Faires, Organizer Green, Educational Secretary Crosby and Messrs Gibson, Wright Moore and Poe of the Executive Committee also signed the following statement: "We, the undersigned officials of the North Carolina State Farmers' Union, without committing the organization, and recognizing fully the non-partisan character of the proposed Constitutional Amendments, do hereby state to the people of North Carolina that we have examined the aforesaid Amendments and it is our conviction that their adoption will make for progress in this State and for the advancement of our farming interests, and all other worthy interests in the State. We remind the people especially that the taxation amendment does not pledge the people to any plan, but simply sets free our people to work out necessary reforms in taxation, while leaving in force the present restriction on rates.

Lumberton Mill on Full Time—School Moving On Nicely—$100 Collection for Orphanage—Raising Hogs Beats Buying "Whitesides."
Correspondence of the Robesonian East Lumberton, Oct. 7.—The Lumberton cotton mill is on full time now. It did not run Saturday on account of power.
The mill people are buying lots of cotton now and the people are storing lots of cotton away.
The school at the auditorium is moving on nicely now.
The collection at the First Baptist church Sunday for the orphanage was $100.
Mr. Frank Britt is no better; he gradually grows worse.—Mr. R. A. Stone's family is sick with typhoid fever.—Miss Nora Britt, daughter of Oliver Britt, has been on the sick list this week.
There are two winding rooms at the Lumberton mill.
Some of the people who have been sick with typhoid fever are better.
Oliver Britt has purchased some fine pigs from C. M. Britt.—Hogs cost big money now, but think what you have to pay for "whitesides." Hogs are fine things to have in the fall of the year.
It seems that the price of cotton is on the standstill.
Cheer up, farmers, and be in good heart. We will live some way.
We do Job Printing.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?
Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour undigested fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.
A cascareset tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good — never gripe or sicken.

CHEER UP

Think How Much Worse Conditions Might Be and Thank God For President Wilson.
'Tis true that business conditions are not what they have been in good days that have passed, but are we not too serious over conditions as they are, and not thankful enough that they are not worse? Perhaps no nation in the world is in as good shape every way today as is the United States, and for this we should stop, think and thank God first, and then our great leader, Woodrow Wilson, for the peace we now enjoy.
The fact that we have the great big-hearted, peace-loving Wilson as our leader in the present crisis is enough to make us rejoice and be thankful. Had you thought about it? Suppose we had been wrapped up in war with Mexico when this European trouble came on! Ah, how much more able we are to stand it than we would be if this was the case. No man, no matter how great he may have been, is more worthy of our love and good will than is Woodrow Wilson, the prince who must have been sent by God to save our nation. The fact that he averted war with Mexico alone might have been worth more to our country—the greatest of them all—than any thing done by any preceding President we have had since Washington. It has been a "trying time" since he entered upon the duties of governing our country, one of the most trying in its history, and to say the least he has managed things well.
—HAPPY JACK.

WAR REVENUE MEASURE

Intoxicants Yield Most—Tax on Gasoline Cut Out.
Washington Dispatch, 7th.
Revision of the administration war revenue bill was completed by the caucus of Senate Democrats late today, and preparations were made to press the measure in the Senate. Senator Simmons in charge of the bill, said the finance committee would present it to the Senate tomorrow. He believed a week of debate would dispose of the bill and clear the way for adjournment.
As the bill was completed by the caucus, with its added levies on beer and rectified spirits, and minus the proposed taxes on gasoline and automobiles, Senator Simmons estimated it would yield annually about $105,000,000, unless a slump in beer production cuts down the estimated revenue from that source.

President Interested in Plan to Raise Money to Loan on Cotton.
Washington Special, 7th, to The Greensboro News.
President Wilson gave the North Carolina delegation who called on him today to see if he could suggest any way in which to relieve the cotton situation in the South, a sympathetic hearing. The President told the Tar Heels that he was much interested in the plan proposed by Festus J. Wade and other St. Louis financiers to raise a pool of $150,000,000 for the purpose of loaning it to the cotton people. The President also stated that he did not believe that it would be necessary to enact further legislation in behalf of the cotton crop except to pass the Lacey warehouse bill which he believed would work in conjunction with the plan to raise the cotton pool. The President indicated that he would lend his support to the warehouse plan, which in short is to have warehouses run under Federal supervision and money loaned on receipts from these institutions.

SUFFERED FOR HIS COUNTRY

First American Diplomat Illy Rewarded, and His Services Long Went Unrecognized.
The first diplomatic agent of the United States was Silas Deane, who was born at Groton, Conn. He became a merchant and was a delegate to the first continental congress. In the spring of 1776 he was sent to France as a secret diplomatic agent. He posed as a merchant from Bermuda and upon his arrival in Paris sought an interview with Count de Vergennes, the minister for foreign affairs, who refused to receive him. Deane was reduced to the direst poverty and was ejected by his landlady. Subsequent American ambassadors have complained of the lack of suitable embassies, but Deane was reduced to a point where he had to accept poor lodgings from a sympathetic Frenchman. Eventually he was given an audience with Vergennes and began the diplomatic relations which eventually resulted in the French alliance. In 1777 Deane was recalled. In the bitter controversy which followed his recall Thomas Paine revealed the fact that supplies furnished the colonies had been furnished by the French government—a diplomatic indiscretion which cost Paine his place as secretary of the committee on foreign affairs. Deane, driven into poverty and exile, died in England in 1789. Half a century later his claim for his services abroad was adjusted by congress and a large sum was paid to his heirs.

Napoleon as Pathfinder.

That Napoleon was as quick witted as any of those he commanded is evident from the well-known story of his cleverness in escaping from the Red Sea when crossing with his staff. The ford was lost, and, as it was dusk, there was no landmark to guide the party.
Gathering his officers in a circle, Napoleon made them all ride outward from himself as a center, as if they were following the spokes of a great wheel. So all the paths were tried and the right one was found.
In reading such stories as this is most important to see the idea in them, as the mere way of telling them differs with every author. In fact, the same stories are often told of different men. But whoever was clever enough to think of these things, it is well for us to remember the facts themselves.
The moral is: "Use your brains!"—From "The Men with Brains," by Tudor Jenks in St. Nicholas.
Leg-Generated Light.
A French inventor has devised a mechanism which, if he is to be believed, will conserve the health and pocketbook while adding appreciably to the joy of living. It is an exerciser made after the fashion of the bicycle, but connected with a dynamo of moderate power and a storage battery. One mounts the machine and by pedaling for an hour or so has sufficient exercise to develop his muscles properly, not to mention the pleasure of wheeling. He has also generated enough electricity to keep several lights burning for an entire evening. The inventor estimates that a family of ordinary size may keep health at high tide and live in a splendidly illuminated house at small cost.
