News Notes and Personals From Or- rum.

Correspondence of The Robesonian.
Orrum, June 1—More rain, more rest, more rain, more grass.

A large crowd from here attended the quarterly meeting at Barnesville Sunday. All report a good time.

One of the greatest features of the quarterly meeting was the helpful address delivered by Mr. L. R. Varner of the Lumberton bar. Mr. Varner is an able and forceful orator.

Rev. J. J. Scott attended the Union Meeting at Barnesville Friday and Saturday of last week.

Miss Flora Frink of Bladenboro, who taught music here the past session of school, is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. Shepherd.

Mr. B. T. Frink of Bladenboro was in town yesterday.

We are sorry to report the death of the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Britt. The remains were buried near here yesterday.

Mrs. S. A. Johnson, who has been sick for some time with typhoid fever, is still unimproved.

Mr. "Soggy" Floyd of Fairmont was a pleasant visitor here Sunday p. m.

Mr. Willis Lawson reports that chickens have been leaving his home, but he caught the thief Sunday—a large weasel.

In a Mail Car 36 Years
Charlotte Observer.

The road-bed of the old Carolina Central was scarcely settled when Mr. H. T. Rollins began his career of postal clerk between Charlotte and Wilmington in one of its mail cars.

The 188 miles' journey between the two places was rather an uncertain proposition at that time. It was not unusual for the train to mire in the mud. On one occasion when this happened in the McAlpine Creek cut, not far from Charlotte, Capt. "Butt" Everitt, the conductor, made a brakeman feel down and see if the wheel was on the rail or in the mud.

When the brakeman announced that it was on the rail, the conductor signaled for the engineer to pull ahead and the train finally got out, but it left two of the biggest ruts in its wake ever seen in this country. Rollins has been riding on the mail car continuously for 36 years and he could write a fine chapter of Carolina Central history if he ever gets the time and has the inclination. It is probable that Captain Baskerville and Engineer Misenheimer are the only remaining original Carolina Central Railroad men in service. Rollins has anchored at Hamlet, but he left a string tied to Charlotte and is likely to come back for it is doubtful if the still life will agree with him.

Colored Public School at Shannon—
Movements for New House.

To the Editor of The Robesonian:
Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a word about the public school at Shannon. The public school of District No. 4, closed May 14. Prof. J. H. Isley, principal, returned to his home at Fairmont on the 15th. Ethel B. Smith, his assistant, returned to her home at Rennett. Prof. J. H. Isley and his assistant did a great work this year and all hope they will decide to return next year. The school celebrated George Washington's birthday and had a concert and collected money enough to repair the school property, such as windowpanes, pump, stove, and blackboards.

A movement is on foot to build a school house near Shannon and all desire to see the new house completed by next fall.

We thank the honorable board of education and Prof. J. R. Poole, superintendent, for their help in making the marvelous success for the school.

The enrollment of children was about 130 and there was not a single case of smallpox, diphtheria, measles, whoopingcough or any other disease to hinder—only the panic.

Cumberland County Lawyer Sentenced to Roads.

Fayetteville Dispatch, May 29.
James H. Johnson, lawyer, farmer and former Republican member from Cumberland of the State Legislature, on appeal from the recorder's court was found guilty in Superior Court here today of violating the prohibition law by selling less than the legal quantity of wine and sentenced to three months on the roads, which is the same sentence imposed in the recorder's court in February last.

In May, 1914, Johnson was found guilty in another case of retailing and Judge Rountree released him under a bond of $500 with the promise that he would appear in court twice a year for two years and report good behavior. Johnson failed to appear at any time of court and at the January, 1915, term a capias was issued for him and process served for this present May term.

He having been called at the January term and failed, on motion of Solicitor McLean it was adjudged that court recover $500 on the bond and the costs of the suit. After this proceeding the solicitor moved that Johnson be dishbarred and the motion was continued.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil. Fine for cuts, burns, bruises. Should be kept in every home. 25c and 50c.

FAIRMONT DEPARTMENT

News Notes, Personal Mention and Comment—Movement to Start a New Paper.

Correspondence of The Robesonian.

Fairmont, May 31—Rev. H. M. Dixon, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, is preaching a few days, beginning on Friday night last.

Messrs. Edgar Thompson and Bruce Baker are at home from their alma mater. Doubtless it seems good to be free from the study of books to enjoy the companionship of family and friends.

Miss Fannie Thompson came home Saturday p. m. She, too, will enjoy a rest from books and hard study.

Mr. Fred Pittman, of Birmingham, Ala., is here on a visit to relatives and friends. He expects to remain in the "Old North State" about a week or ten days, so we are informed.

Movement for New Paper
We understand that there is a movement on foot to start another paper in our city, using the Wilson press and fixtures. The first issue may be expected in the early part of June.

Owl Returns Steel Trap
Mr. James Inman who lives out two miles from here, is the happy possessor of a returned steel trap which took unto itself wings and flew away. Some time ago, a chicken was killed by a nightly invader. Mr. Inman set the trap hoping to apprehend the thing, whatever it might be, and when he returned to investigate results, he found the trap gone and "nothing doing". One week later a large owl returned with the trap properly adjusted to one foot. The owl was shot and killed and measured four feet four inches from tip to tip of wings. That was a gentleman of the feathered tribe. He made restitution; but some folks don't like to do that. Perhaps, he deserves no credit for returning the trap but the act looks good, anyway.

On Restitution
Now, that local are scarce, will the readers of this allow us to suggest, that in referring to the owl—his restitution, etc.—we have a lesson of great importance when we come to consider "Restitution" in its proper light. What is restitution? It means to replace anything removed, also, the undoing of what has been done, so that perfect amends have been made for the act performed, or the word spoken. Some things can be set right by restitution while others can not. Zacheous the publican was made willing to restore fourfold to those whom he had fleeced when he came under the saving power of the Christ. Not until then did the Lord say "This day is salvation come unto this house for so much as he also is a son of Abraham." Talk about repentance and complete salvation, if you please, but none are saved without the spirit of restitution first taking possession of the soul so that the subject of grace is made willing to undo the wrong done, whether he is fully able of himself to do this or not. The word spoken, if wrong, is without restitution. "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." When done the word cannot be recalled. "Thou shalt not kill." A man can take life but can not give back life. "Thou shalt not steal." Here restitution can be made by returning the stolen goods. "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." When this is done, it is like Pilate's inscription, "What I have written I have written." In the absence of restitution, where the word or act cannot be recalled or undone comes pardon to the penitent soul who would if he could. But pardon for a crime does not remove the ill effects produced by the crime. Profanity is pardonable but since the day Peter denied his Lord with an oath, men have continued to swear, feeling sure that sometime, pardon would be granted when they would become anxious, to receive it, because Peter was forgiven.

But many who have taken the risk have passed away too suddenly to make amends.

ELROD ECHOES

Store Broken Into and Robbed—
Bloodhounds Lead to Home of Negro—Personal.

Correspondence of The Robesonian.
Elrod, June 1—Mrs. Jim Clark and children are spending some time with Mr. Clark at Shannon.

Mrs. Mary Hubbard spent Monday with her niece Mrs. John McCall.

Mrs. Anna McCall, who has been sick, is improving.

Rev. Mr. Porter and wife from near Whiteville passed through Elrod Saturday evening en route home from Houston, Texas, and other points.

Mr. D. A. McCall and daughter, Miss Ruby, were in Maxton shopping Thursday.

Among the Confederate veterans who left here to attend the reunion in Richmond were Mr. Mack Pitterson, Mr. Walter Bridgers, Mr. Pittman Miller and Mr. John Bridgers.

The store of Mr. R. H. Poole was broken into and robbed here Sunday night. The robber or robbers carried off several pairs of shoes, overalls, dry goods and canned goods.

It was hard to ascertain the amount of the loss as the goods were strewn from one end of the store to the other. Bloodhounds were secured and as soon as placed on the scent trailed to a colored man's house not far from Elrod. The man, John Lyons, Jr., by name, was placed under arrest and taken to Rowland for a preliminary hearing. If there are others implicated in the case it is hoped that they will be brought to justice and by so doing avert some of the robbery going on in this community.

Dell School Notes—New Faculty.
Correspondence of The Robesonian.

Delway, May 29—The outlook for Dell school is gratifying. Plans for the coming year are practically settled.

The faculty, with the exception of the music teacher, Miss Floyd, is altogether new. The principal, Prof. L. B. Olive of St. Paul, N. C., is a man of excellent training and striking personality. A graduate of Wake Forest college with high ideals and three years of successful experience, he is wide awake to the situation.

Mr. Owen F. Herring, another graduate of Wake Forest, with successful experience, is business manager. He is a former teacher here, and has already won the confidence of the students.

Miss Ruby Catherine Johnson, an A. B. graduate of Meredith College and formerly teacher of English in the Riedville high school, has the English department.

Miss Lillie Howard, teacher of the primary department an assistant in some of the other grades, comes to the community highly recommended. She is a student of Meredith College who has attained excellent success as a teacher.

The central dining hall, known as the Altzman dining hall, is an added feature that meets a long-felt need. In this hall all of the students, the teachers and mothers will dine together.

Correspondence of The Robesonian.
Boardman, R. F. D., June 1—Rain! Rain! the heaviest rain of the season fell today about noon. It rained nearly two hours.

The Sunday school quarterly held at Lennon's X Roads Sunday was a great success. The day was an ideal one. The music and recitations were good, beyond everyone's expectations. There were many visitors from different sections—Marietta, Fairmont, Chadbourn and Bladenboro. Mr. Frank Koonee of Chadbourn made a fine address, also Rev. A. H. Porter, who returned from Houston, Texas, Saturday evening, where he attended the Southern Baptist Convention. Mr. Porter did not stay as long as he anticipated in Texas. He reported good crops.

Miss Sallie Brown, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Luther Edwards, returned to her home at Hallsboro Saturday morning.

Mrs. J. G. Kelly was called to the bedside of her aunt, who is very ill, at Tabor.

Mrs. Ashley Kelly of Fairmont is spending this week with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Davis.

It is an ideal time to put out sweet potatoes and they are a very valuable crop to grow—good to eat, good for feed and valuable for the market.

Outlook Good for Corn Crop in Bladen.
The outlook is promising for the biggest corn crop ever produced in Bladen and we feel safe in predicting that our county will for the first time since the days of our Indian citizens produce as much corn as it will consume.
