PROTRACTED MEETING

you. For John came unto you in the way of righteousness, and ye believed him not; but the publicans and the Pharisees believed him; and ye, when ye had seen it, repented not afterward, that ye might believe him.—Matthew 21, verses 28-32.

It was on Thursday of passion week that Jesus stood in the temple and uttered the language of the text. The scribes and pharisees were displeased with Jesus and sought to bring charges against Him. They propounded to Him hard questions, but He was always master of the situation. The Church is the vineyard. God assigns to each his task. The noblest men are those who work. The religion of the Lord Jesus is a religion of GO. "Go work today in my vineyard." There are millions who will not come to us to hear the Gospel, hence we must go to them. The preacher must not stand back, the Church must not be at ease. We must not stand and ask why certain ones do not go to church and Sunday school and prayermeeting. That is not the question. We must go to them. Time is important, as well as the sphere of duty. TODAY. Tomorrow the one you ought to go to may be beyond your reach. Now is God's time; His spirit is moving the hearts of sinners now. Our minds have been clouded about so many things, and it may be that we are also wrong about our conception of the judgment, which may be tomorrow. Many are like one or the other of the two sons. Sometimes sinners are convicted by their own stern refusal. There are those who make profession, start to serve God, but postpone. The sinner may repent of his sin and God is willing to save him. If you have refused to perform your Christian duty there is still a chance for you to go into the vineyard and work. How many have promised, made the sacred vows, and have forgotten! How many are not willing to do the work they have obligated to do! How many families in which the Bible is not read, in which no prayer is offered! How many professing Christians who are not willing to act as teachers or superintendents of Sunday school or perform any service that is asked of them!

Gospel Tabernacle Young People's Meeting

Correspondence of The Robesonian. An interesting program has been prepared for the regular young people's prayermeeting held every Sunday evening at 6:30 in the Gospel Tabernacle church. The president, Mr. Kelly Barnes will lead as usual. Mr. Van Skipper will be the speaker. A young ladies' quartet will sing the song "God Will Take Care of Me," and immediately following this selection, a male quartet composed of four of the young men will sing the companion song, "God Will Take Care of You." Miss Gertrude McConaughy will recite a piece which was composed by one of our young people. There will be a duet by Misses Letha Page and Lacy Johnson. The words and music of this song were composed by Miss Johnson. Miss Janie Carlyle will play a violin solo. There will be a Bible exercise conducted by Mr. Millard Ross and assisted by ten of the young people. Special music will be rendered by the orchestra of the young people's meeting. This church has a young people's society of which the members are justly proud. It has been organized about a year and a half. The young people are supporting a native missionary in Central China. Visitors are always welcome to attend these services.

Epworth League

The Chestnut Street Epworth League has a most interesting program for Sunday evening at 6:30. Subject, "The Prophet's Great Promise to Youth"; leader, Miss Vashiti White. A Bloodhound That Does the Work. Sheriff Edgar Hall of Hoke county and Chief of Police L. B. Cockman of Reelford passed through town this morning en route home from Bladenboro, where yesterday a bloodhound belonging to Mr. Cockman caught a negro who broke into the store of Bridger Co. at Bladenboro Tuesday night. The dog trailed the negro right to his home near town. While not any of the things stolen from the store were found in the negro's home, the cap which the robber left in the store was identified by many as being the same cap that the negro spotted by the dog had been wearing. Mr. Cockman says he has landed the five last fugitives he has tried to catch with this dog.

Republican Candidate for Congress in the Sixth

Fayetteville Observer, Nov. 3. Mr. A. L. McCaskill, ex-postmaster of this city, announced publicly on the streets today to friends that he has decided to become a candidate for Congress in the sixth congressional district in opposition to the Democratic candidates whose names are now before the people, and will meet all or any of his opponents on the stump.

Entertainment at Orrum on Evening of Nov. 10

On Wednesday evening, November 10, at 8 o'clock, an entertainment will be given in the school auditorium at Orrum by the Philathea class of Big Branch Baptist Sunday school. Admission fee will be a penny for each year a person is old.

At the Movies

The Pastime theatre is offering an exceptionally good bill today, one that will send visitors away well pleased. The pictures for today will be "The Conflict," a two-reel Essany, featuring Richard C. Travers and Ruth Stonehouse; "The Diamond Broker," a two-reel Kalem, of the Girl Detective Series, featuring Cleo Ridgeley; and "When Dumbleigh Saw the Joke," featuring Sidney Drew, a one-reel Vitagraph. Sidney Drew is a blues remover. Tomorrow is Paramount day, and "Fritzi" Scheff in "Pretty Mrs. Smith" in a Bosworth 5-reeler will delight everyone, showing the predicament of a woman with three living husbands, thinking they are all dead. In addition to these high-class pictures, Miss Esther Merkel will put the music right where it belongs at the right time and in the right tone. Miss Merkel is spending a few days here and will play at the Pastime while in town. She is recognized as one of the finest picture players that has ever visited the South. The prices will be 5 and 10 cents.

The Star theatre re-opened Monday and has been showing the best pictures to good crowds every evening. The vaudeville attractions expected for the first three days this week disappointed the management in failing to show up, but extra pictures were put on to make up for the failure of this part of the program. Tomorrow a special 7-reel show will be given, as shown in the program published elsewhere in this paper, the prices remaining 5 and 10 cents.

Pressing Clothes is as Much an Art as Making Them

We claim that to properly and thoroughly press any kind of garment it must be done on a Hoffman sanitary steam clothes pressing machine. This method produces the natural body shape in clothes of every description, raises the nap, brings out the color, gives the garment an appearance of newness and causes it to last much longer. Let us convince you.

Shower for Clarkton Girl

Clarkton Dispatch, 2d.

On Thursday afternoon at the hospitable home of Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Clark, their daughters, Mesdames Frank Harrington and Bob Craven, Misses Amanda and Kittie Clark entertained. The occasion was a miscellaneous shower, given in honor of Miss Annie Neal Clark, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Clark, whose marriage to Mr. Langill Joslyn will occur in December.

The guests were received at the door by Mrs. G. L. Clark and Miss Amanda Clark and were led to the punch bowl, where Misses Fay Ritchie and Margaret Clark presided. The front parlor was beautifully decorated in yellow chrysanthemums and golden-rod. Here Mrs. Harrington brought in an attractively bound hand-painted "bride's book," which was passed around and each guest was asked to register. Several piano selections were given by Miss Grace Walton, after which the guests were invited into the dining-room, where a color scheme of red and white was carried out. The decorations were red dahlias, and tiny red hearts were seen everywhere. The gifts had been placed on red ribbon tied to the chandelier corners of the room. Just as the bride reached the center, the ribbons were cut at all corners, thus letting the gifts fall around her. On a table in the center the larger gifts were placed these being handsome cut glass pieces, linens, etc.

In a contest then with lighted candles, Miss Isabel Cromartie was selected for the next bride. A delicious ice course was served. The out of town guests were Mrs. Ed. Craven and Mrs. Hector Clark of Abbottsburg; Misses Sallie Smith and Julia Jordan of Whiteville; Misses Katherine Lapsley of Harrisburg; Grace Walton of Baltimore; Mary Smith of Davidson and Mrs. R. B. Cromartie of Elizabethtown.

SUCCESSFUL MEN

JOHN ROACH. John Roach was born in Ireland of poor parents, and at the age of fifteen was sent to America, and landed in New York without money, friends or trade. He worked his way over into New Jersey, and secured a job with the Howell Iron Works. Ten years went by and he had become an Iron Worker. His first business venture was made with some other workmen of the foundry. They started a small foundry and called it the Asta Iron Works, which for several years prospered remarkably. But one day the boiler in the engine room exploded, and in one moment Roach was made a poor man again. Nothing daunted him, however. He obtained credit and reorganized the company which speedily grew. In 1860 he was the lowest bidder and obtained a contract to build the great iron draw-bridge, piers and all, over the Harlem River. Smaller swinging bridges had been built, but nothing like this one had ever been attempted. He went to work and when he finished the bridge it was said there never was a more complete success in iron work, masonry, and engineering. The foundation of Roach's success was hard work and thorough knowledge of anything he undertook.
