PRESIDENT WILSON'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Address Delivered Before Houses of Congress Tuesday—Doctrine of Pan-Americanism—Proclamation of Necessity of Preparedness of United States Clearly Stated—Disloyal Hyphenated Americans Governed in Unmeasured Terms—Government-Owned Merchant Ships and Rural Credit Law Among Subjects Treated in Strong State Paper.

Washington Dispatch, Dec. 7.

A doctrine of Pan-Americanism—of full partnership between the nations of the Western Hemisphere in world affairs—was proclaimed by President Wilson today in his third annual address to Congress, the theme of which was prepared not only by the United States to defend not only the rights of those with whom it has made common cause. The message was read by the President to the Senate and House assembled in joint session in the chamber of the House.

Every recommendation embodied in the document had to do with comprehensive plans for strengthening the national defenses. The program included the army and navy plans already made public by Secretaries Garrison and Daniels; legislation for government owned merchant ships; a rural credit law; the Philippine and Porto Rico bills which failed of final passage at the last session; conservation legislation; a law giving Federal aid to industrial and vocational education; and the creation of a commission to inquire into the transportation problem.

Naturalized and native born Americans, who, sympathizing with belligerents abroad, have plotted and conspired to violate their own country's neutrality were scathingly denounced by the President, and Congress was urged to provide adequate Federal laws to deal with such offenders.

Internal taxation was proposed as the means of providing the money necessary to add to the naval and military establishments. Sources of taxation suggested were incomes, gasoline, naphtha, automobiles, and internal explosion engines, fabricated iron and steel, and a stamp tax on bank checks. Extension of the war revenue bill and continuance of the present tariff on sugar were recommended, and the sale of bonds opposed.

This message was the longest Mr. Wilson has ever delivered to Congress. He began with a statement that since he last addressed Congress:

"The European war has extended its threatening and sinister scope until it has swept into its flame some portion of every quarter of the globe, not excepting our own hemisphere, has altered the whole face of international affairs, and now presents a prospect of re-organization and reconstruction such as statesmen and peoples have never been called upon to attempt before.

The United States has remained neutral, he said, because it had no interest in the causes and because it was the duty of the nations of the Western Hemisphere to prevent collective economic ruin.

The President pointed to the attitude of the United States towards Mexico as proof that this country has no selfish motives in its interest in countries in Central and South America. There was at the same time, he said, when the United States looked upon itself as a sort of guardian of the republics to the south as against the control from Europe.

"But," he added, "it was always difficult to maintain such a role without offense to the pride of the peoples whose freedom of action we sought to protect, and every thoughtful man of affairs must welcome the altered circumstances of the new day in whose light we now stand, when there is no claim of guardianship or thought of wards, but, instead, a full and honorable association of partners between ourselves and our neighbors in the interests of all America, North and South.

"Our concern for the independence and the prosperity of the States of Central and South America is not altered. We retain unabated the spirit that has inspired us throughout the whole life of our government and which was so frankly put into words by President Monroe. We still mean always to make a common cause of national independence and of political liberty in America. But that purpose is now better understood so far as it concerns ourselves. It is known not to be a selfish purpose. It is known to have in it no thought of taking advantage of any government in this hemisphere or playing its political fortunes for our own benefit. All the governments of America stand, so far as we are concerned, upon a footing of genuine equality and unquestioned independence.

"We have been put to the test in the case of Mexico, and we have stood the test," declared the President. He added that it remains to be seen whether Mexico had been benefited by the course taken by the administration, but that "we have at least proved that we will not take advantage of her in her distress and undertake to impose upon her an order and government of our own choosing.

"The moral is," continued the President, "that the States of America are not hostile rivals but cooperating friends and that their growing sense of community interest, alike in matters political and in matters economic, is likely to give them a new significance as factors in international affairs and in the political history of the world.

A STRANGE CASE

One L. J. Lowrie Submits to an Offense That the Man He Claims Was His Victim Says He Did Not Commit

A trial which the recorder himself says he does not quite understand was given a man who gave his name as L. J. Lowrie before Recorder E. M. Bight Monday night. Lowrie went before the recorder and through his attorney, Mr. T. L. Johnson, submitted to cursing and abusing Prof. J. F. Love, principal of the graded school, on the streets one night recently. Prof. Love was called in and declared that he never saw the man Lowrie before, but insisted that Chief of Police H. H. Redfearn did meet him on the streets one night recently and curse and abuse him. Mr. Love refused to take any part in the prosecution of the man Lowrie and left court. Lowrie was allowed to go upon payment of the cost. To many this case seems stranger than fiction and is causing quite a bit of comment.

Prof. Love states most positively that the man who cursed him on the street was the chief of police; Chief Redfearn says it was not he; and now this stranger shows up and says he was it. And there you are.

This comes as an aftermath of a school row that has been agitating the public hereabout more or less for the past several weeks. What more is to follow doth not yet appear; but interesting developments are expected.

Marked improvements in business is reflected in the November revenue of the 50 largest postoffices of the country, producing approximately 10% of all the postal receipts. Postmaster General Robeson announced this on the 5th in a statement showing an increase of $2,033,128 or 17.9% per cent for those offices over November a year ago.

Messrs. Owen Ward and Von Walters of route 1 from Barnesville were among the visitors in town yesterday.

PARKTON PARAGRAPHS

Praise for the County Exhibit in Lumberton—A Visit to Philadelphia—Good Roads Movement—Sunbeam Rally—Bazaar and Entertainment Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening—Singing at Green Springs—Personal

Correspondence of The Robesonian.

Parkton, Dec. 7.—Prof. H. W. Doubt and three of the other teachers—Misses Ruferton, Davis, Jackson—attended the teachers meeting in Lumberton Saturday. They motored over with Mr. P. H. Fisher, returned Saturday evening, and report a most excellent time. They took in the fair and report most favorably of the many exhibits, paying a splendid tribute to the Farm Life School and its excellent exhibit. They also said they never did see so many nice-looking fowls in one day.

On last Sabbath morn at 10 o'clock, my friend Mr. F. C. Yarboro and son Julian drove up in their car to our home and offered to scribe a ride over to Philadelphia. No insisting necessary, for I never had to be persuaded to visit the garden spot of the earth. So just at 11 we found ourselves on the scene, and only time for a minute's warm at the dormitory and thence over to the Presbyterian church to hear the pastor, Rev. H. M. Dixon, preach an able sermon, as he usually does. After preaching this one of the company was found enjoying the splendid hospitality of his friend Mr. D. P. Buie, who lives near by. This was not our first visit nor we trust not the last one, for we never fare better anywhere. This is hog-killing time and it is useless to say just what in all we did enjoy, but everything that could be desired. The others claim they were equally well taken care of elsewhere. Only wish we had time and space to speak our opinion of the school building. We have heard much of this splendid building, but one will never know until he has been shown, as I was. It is one of the most convenient and up-to-date school buildings I ever saw. There is not a single objection can be found to the building and its furnishings. The farm life and domestic science departments are commendable.

We were much impressed with the good roads movement also, as there are already two or three roads leading up to the school that are perfectly straight for 3 1/2 miles and the road leading to Parkton is a fine one, and we were advised that while the distance was 15 1/2 yet they were only 27 minutes away as this is the automobile schedule. We say this in an inspiration.

Prof. McLeod and Prof. Blanchard were both present Sunday and we learn that everything is running smoothly and everybody in line for effectual service. Our mind was forced to run back, say ten years, and we beheld marvelous improvements in educational facilities.

We hear much comment on the Sunbeam rally which was observed at the Baptist church here Sunday afternoon. The societies of Red Springs, Lumber Bridge and Parkton were represented and a very interesting program was enjoyed by a large congregation.

The ladies of the Eastern Star will serve something good to eat—a big dinner will be enjoyed at the J. D. Gillis store building next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The public is invited to attend and all will get something good and have a good time.

At the auditorium Friday night we will all have opportunity of attending an entertainment given by the St. Paul's school. We have been advised that this is quite entertaining and the public should come out to hear them.

So you see there is something doing all the time. If it is not a marriage it is something else.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Lancaster are the happy parents of a fine boy. Honor roll.—Rev. H. B. Porter returned home last night from Wilmington, where he attended Connerence, and he reports a great conference, one of the largest and best of all, and said that Bishop Kilgo preached the biggest sermon Sunday he ever heard. We are glad to report that Rev. H. B. Porter was returned to Parkton charge for another year. This statement is unanimous not only by his congregation, but by the other denominations.—Mrs. Collier Cobb and daughter are spending this week in Charlotte visiting friends and attending the Baptist Convention.

Rev. J. L. Jenkins is also spending the week in Charlotte at the Convention.—Mr. M. B. Haywood left today for the sanatorium at Montrose. We trust he may find relief and be restored to his wonted health.—Mr. J. F. Ferguson, who has been the proprietor of the Parkton hotel, and family, moved last week to Saint Paul's and are now opening the hotel at that place. We regret losing them very much.—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. D. McNatt, owners of the Parkton hotel, will move here and operate the hotel at an early date.

If it is singing you want to hear, go to Greensprings next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, as the Blaud-Union choir will occupy half-time and something very interesting will occur. Greensprings has one of the strongest choirs in this section as Mr. R. L. Braxton is leader. A record-breaking crowd is expected. It will be worth a trip over to hear them.

Parkton the High Diver.

Dr. D. C. Currie of Parkton is among the visitors in town today.

Planting Mill Running Night and Day

The planing mill of the Kingsdale Lumber Corporation has been operated at night for some time in order to be able to fill orders. That sounds like business might be getting better, judging from the fact that a number of lumber plants were closed down during the past year. However, this mill has kept busy all the while.

The late Mr. Fred T. Skipper, who died suddenly Saturday night in Wilmington at the home of his sister Mrs. D. McEachern, was a cousin of Mr. W. I. Linkhaw of Lumberton.

BRIEF ITEMS OF LOCAL NEWS

License has been issued for the marriage of Arnsford Singletary and Mollie Wilson; F. S. Williamson and Janie Grice.

"Within The Law" was played at local opera house Monday evening by a fairly good company and was enjoyed by a small house.

Mr. Arch Morrison has opened up a grocery store in the Linkhaw building, Water street, near the old wooden bridge at the foot of Third street.

Christmas 1914 came all wrapped up in the blues, but times have changed to the extent that the one now approaching promises some thing different.

The Colored Teachers' Association of Robeson met in Lumberton last Saturday. A report of this meeting was received so late that it must be held over for the next issue.

Only four more issues of The Robesonian before Christmas. If you want to talk to the Christmas trade, now is the time and the advertising columns of The Robesonian is the place.

The Robesonian comes right next to the Bible in my home" said a Robeson county Indian one day recently. To be without it means a man doesn't know what is going on in Robeson county.

Messrs. V. L. Byrd and H. M. Bass of route 1 from Fairmont were among the callers at The Robesonian office Tuesday. They live in one of the best tobacco growing sections of the county and of course were wearing prosperity smiles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Boone have moved from the house they occupied on Cedar street to the eastern edge of town, near the Lumberton cotton mills. Mr. Vance Skipper and family have moved into the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Boone.

It would be hard to find a more beautiful Christmas goods display than can be seen at the store of Messrs. R. D. Caldwell & Son. The windows are most beautiful and a Christmas tree bedecked with many beautiful gifts greets the eye upon entering the building.

Mr. J. P. Townsend, chief of the fire department, and Mr. G. T. Page, town clerk and treasurer, under authority invested in them as a committee appointed for that purpose, gave an order yesterday to Mr. C. B. Payne, a representative of the Eureka Fire Hose Co. of Atlanta, for $500 worth of hose.

Mr. Eugene Berry of the Carolina Fire Insurance Co. of Wilmington came up this morning and settled an insurance policy which John Blackwood held with that company on a house which was burned early last Monday morning. This was quick settling a fire insurance claim.

Q. T. Williams is the local agent for this company.

Register of Deeds M. W. Floyd sold 50 marriage licenses during the month of November. However, two of these were returned for some cause, which left Mr. Floyd $144 from these of marriage license during the month, which amount he turned over to the board of county commissioners Monday. The folks are working and getting together in Robeson.

It has been many moons since this reporter remembers seeing a more happy meeting than took place at the Seaboard station this morning when an old lady unexpectedly ran across an old slave darkey of the "ante bellum" type, whom she had known in days past. Both the white lady and the colored man were, seemingly, exceedingly happy to see each other and talk over the days of yore.

Wilmington Star, 6th: Rev. Dr. W. B. North drew a beautiful lesson from Christ's gentleness even at his own crucifixion yesterday morning at Winter Park Presbyterian church. He told of how the sin-hardened thief was touched with Christ's prayer for those who were crucifying him, and made the much talked of prayer and was then and there forgiven, and given a promise of meeting Christ in Paradise.

In Monday's Robesonian it was stated that Mr. Henry Haar of Wilmington had accepted a position as salesman in the Lumberton Bargain House. Mr. Haar asks The Robesonian to say that he is just here for a short time as a special man in the clothing and shoe department and will return after Christmas to Wilmington, where he has a position in the store of Mr. J. W. H. Fuchs, proprietor of the Lumberton Bargain House.

Rev. C. L. Greaves, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lumberton, was among the seven men placed in nomination at the Baptist State Convention in Charlotte yesterday for the high office of corresponding secretary. And today's Charlotte Observer carries a 2-column picture of Greaves on its first page, referring to him as "one of the leading ministers here in attendance upon the sessions of the Baptist State Convention."
