Correspondence of The Robesonian. Mt. Eliam, (Orrum, R. 1), July 20 -The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Stone was the scene of much merriment last evening from 8:30 to 11 o'clock when their daughters, Misses Katie and Sarah, entertained a large number of friends in honor of Misses Nannie and Henry Lloyd of Darlington, S. C. A number of interesting games was played and refreshments were served. Those present from Lumberton were Messrs, H. T. Hux, W. J. Sansbury, T. Williams, H. N. Ward and Rossie B. Britt. Quite a number of young people from Orrum and Proctorville were present and as a whole it was a most enjoyable occasion. The Misses Lloyd are spending some time in this section visiting relatives and friends.

VAST DAMAGE TO MILLS

It Will Reach Several Millions of Dollars-Southern Power Co. Cuts Off More Than 1,000,000 Spindles at One Time

Charlotte Observer. July 18. Not a cotton mill within the flooded district of the Catawba, Broad or Yadkin rivers is in operation today and the damage to the buildings. proper, equipment, raw and finished material in hand. mill, villages and property generally will doubtless reach the total of several million dolars. While the Catawba valley suffered the heaviest, the damage to the plants on the Broad and Yadkin rivers was great, swelling the total to the point where it reached the greatest aggregate ever known the history of the textile trade in the Southeast. Some slight conception of the effect of the flood waters on the textile situation in this territory may the Southern Power Company annulled service on all secondary power contracts vestreday for all mills, not only in the floodest district throughout the general territory as well. This cut off a total more than 1,000,000 spindles at one time.

At the Pastime

On account of demoralized railroad connections the Pastime theatre is having its share of trouble in securing pictures on time, but today offers the 17th chapter of "The Iron Claw" and the closing chapter of "The Strange Case of Mary Page". This will be a program of unusual interest. "The Iron Claw" should have been shown last night but was flood-bound and could not get here until this morning.
