Oldest Established Business in Lumberton Lumberton Cor. Wilmington Star. While meditating over the past, the thought came into our mind, "what is the oldest established business in Lumberton?" The answer is "The Robesonian," which was established in February, 1870, and while not in the same building is still on the same block where it was founded. The Robesonian was here 3 1-4 years before the Western Union Telegraph Company came in at first using one wire. People now residing in Lumberton who were here when The Robesonian first came out are very few.
