"CASCARETS" BEST IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, SICK, CONSTIPATED

Best for liver and bowels, bad breath, bad colds, sour stomach

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet, and your liver and bowels regular for months.

NORTH CAROLINIANS AT INAUGURATION

Senator Overman Rode in Carriage With President—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McLean at White House Luncheon

Washington Cor., March 5, Wilmington Star. Senator Overman was the most conspicuous brave North Carolina man in connection with the inauguration of President Wilson today. It was the junior North Carolina Senator who prepared the plans and made the arrangements for the second inauguration of Mr. Wilson.

It was Mr. Overman who called at the White House promptly at 11 o'clock today and escorted the President to the Capitol, where he took the oath of office and made the inaugural address. It was Senator Overman who rode in the same carriage with the President from the Capitol to the White House and saw to it that he was given proper protection.

At White House Luncheon Senator Overman and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McLean of Lumberton were among those who were invited and participated in the luncheon given at the White House by the President and Mrs. Wilson immediately after the President's arrival at the White House from the Capitol.

North Carolina did not have as prominent a part in the great parade today as has been the case on former occasions. The absence of Governor Bickett and his staff was a disappointment to his many admirers here in Washington. The Governor wired R. H. McNeill, president of the North Carolina Society of Washington, that he could not come to the inauguration without neglecting his duties as Governor. He does not propose to do this at any time during his 4 years administration as Governor not even to see a Democrat inaugurated President of the greatest country in the world.

Wilmington Boys Here Wilmington sent a troop of militia and Gastonia her famous drum corps of some thirty-odd men. James R. Collier of Lenoir, assisted as one of the chief aids to Marshall Linekin of the Citizen division, and Edward Pou, of Smithfield, a son of Representative and Mrs. Edward W. Pou, rode with Company B of the District cavalry. Young Pou is a member of the troop and served with them on the Mexican border the best part of last year.

Aside from these and the very active part taken by Senator Overman and National Committeeman McLean, North Carolina was not represented except by the hundreds of visitors who came here to do honor to the man whom many believe will go down in history as one of the greatest presidents the country has ever had.

Much Dynamite Discovered With the knowledge that the Washington police had discovered several hundreds of pounds of dynamite stored along Pennsylvania avenue and had taken into custody a number of crooks whom they had suspected of having connection with a plot to do bodily harm to the President or prominent men connected with the government, every man, woman and child, who could appreciate the situation, breathed a sigh of relief when the President finally drove by the reviewing stands and entered the east gate of the White House grounds accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, Senator Overman and Representative Rucker of Missouri.

Every precaution was taken to safeguard the life of President Wilson on his perilous ride to and from the Capitol. Not only were all the secret service men of the entire United States stationed at every point along the route, but hundreds of policemen from practically every city in America had been brought here to protect the Nation's President against harm from purely ordinary cranks or some treacherous agent of the German government who might be induced to take the President's life.

The writer has been in Washington at every inauguration since McKinley's second term. At no time has there been such apprehension for the safety of the President as was today. At no time have newspaper men taken such precautions not only to assist the secret service men in protecting the life of the President but in making arrangements for any emergency that might arise.

Line of News Men To illustrate: One large press association had a newspaper man stationed on every square between the Capitol and the White House, each man having direct telephone connections with the central office of the association here. The White House is 22 squares from the Capitol.

HIGH COMPLIMENT TO LUMBERTON CITIZEN

A. W. McLean Given High Praise by National Chairman McCormick—Was Seated Next the President at Luncheon

Washington Special, March 6, to Wilmington Star. Vance McCormick, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and W. W. Marsh, treasurer of the committee, paid a high compliment to National Committeeman A. W. McLean in general at today's meeting of the committee, when he declared to the other members present that Mr. McLean deserved especial praise and that he desired the committee to go on record as expressing its appreciation of the work performed by the North Carolina committeeman and his assistants in organizing and collecting a large fund for the re-election of President Wilson.

Only four States, of which North Carolina was one, and the other national committeeman, Judge Moore of Ohio, reached the high degree of efficiency attained by Mr. McLean in the performance of his duties as national committeeman. Treasurer Marsh and Chairman McCormick made speeches to the committee complimenting this work and assured them both that their services were appreciated, not only by the party but by the entire country.

Mr. McLean thanked the committee for its praise but assured them that any success he had made in the campaign work in North Carolina must be shared by Hugh MacRae of Wilmington; Lawrence MacRae of Winston-Salem, and the other members of the committee in his State who worked with him day and night. After the committee meeting the members were the luncheon guests of President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson at the White House.

McLean Next to Wilson Mr. McLean was given a seat next to President Wilson and it is said by some of those present that the North Carolinian and the President were in earnest conversation for quite a time while the other members were discussing general matters. Later Mr. McLean reluctantly admitted that he had talked with the President about "many interesting subjects" and that he and the President discussed quite a number of important matters relating to North Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. McLean left for Lumberton tonight.

WAR RELIEF WORK PRACTICALLY UNINTERRUPTED

Channels Remain Open—Funds Conveyed by Cable and Wireless—Reports From War Relief Organizations

That the channels for the distribution of war relief funds are open as formerly, notwithstanding the break with Germany, and that they are expected to remain open, is the report made by the war relief organizations, according to a statement made by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, which, since the early part of the war, has conducted a campaign to stimulate war relief gifts, especially through the churches of the country, to the various relief committees. Inquiries from various relief committees, kaahETET all parts of the country, it is said, show that many are overlooking the fact that gifts for war relief are chiefly in the form of cash and that this is sent by cable and wireless.

The American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief reports that nearly all its aid is financial and is sent by cable and that funds are sent uninterruptedly to Armenians in and outside of Turkey. The American Red Cross continues its work without change in most of the warring countries. The B. F. B. permanent blind relief war fund says there is no slackening in work nor in receipt of funds, nor in remittances to the other side. The commission for relief in Belgium says that the latest cables confirm earlier reports that the work for Belgian relief is continuing and is expected to continue. The fund for starving children states that funds go as formerly to children in Poland, Belgium, Armenia and other countries. The joint distribution committee, representing three Jewish relief committees, reports that the work of collection and distribution is practically normal. The Polish victims' relief fund continues without interruption to send funds to Poland by way of Switzerland. The work of the Serbian relief committee proceeds without change. The same situation applies to the work of the American Huguenot committee which aids Protestant churches in France.

YOU CAN'T FIND ANY DANDRUFF, AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy, glossy and beautiful at once.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment. A 25-cent bottle will double the beauty of your hair.

If Your System Is Poisoned with acids, you cannot know what it is to be healthy. Acids poison the blood and are the source of many diseases affecting the heart and arteries, skin and mucous surfaces, joints and muscles, and the brain and general nervous system. Some of these diseases are Rheumatism in various forms, Catarrh, Eczema, Pimples, boils, rashes, and other skin diseases, Malaria, Scrofula and general blood troubles. In order to restore yourself to a healthy condition, you must drive these acids from your system and purify your blood. S. S. has been purifying and revitalizing the blood of thousands for fifty years. It is a purely vegetable remedy, and is the most efficient agent known for cleansing the blood and building up the system. Ask for it at your druggist's, and don't accept a substitute. A WORLD SCARCITY OF FOODSTUFFS AND THE LESSON FOR THE SOUTH

Manufacturers Record. Whether there be war or peace between this country and Germany, whether war be continued in Europe for another year or two, or whether peace should come, the demand for food stuffs will exceed the supply, both in this country and abroad. The shortage in the world's food crops last year, taken in connection with conditions created by the war, brings us nearer a famine situation in foodstuffs than the world has known in this generation. If the crops of this country should, by unfavorable weather conditions or by a lessened acreage, be short of a full acreage yield, we would have almost barren conditions, because we will go into the next crop practically barren of food supplies.

Nothing less than a bumper crop of grain will save us from exorbitantly high prices for wheat and corn next winter. It is important that the whole country should understand this situation, but it is doubly important that the farmers of the South should understand it and plant the largest acreage in grain which they have ever had in order to save themselves from having to pay the highest prices they have ever paid for their foodstuffs.

Every business man in the South should do all in his power to urge upon Southern farmers the planting of grain and the raising of foodstuffs of all kinds this spring and summer. It is hardly possible to predict what may happen to cotton. The price, judged by the world's demand, ought to be high, but in view of the uncertainties of conditions here and elsewhere, a large cotton crop might prove a misfortune by forcing prices below a fair profit.

The South might raise too big a cotton crop for its own prosperity, but it cannot raise too big a grain crop nor too much livestock. Every available acre should be put into the raising of foodstuffs, into grain, into vegetables, potatoes, and as much attention as possible should be given to livestock, and even to the raising of chickens and to dairying, for the purpose of meeting the home demand for foodstuffs.

It will be almost a crime for any Southern farmer not to provide, during the coming spring and summer, for all the foodstuffs which his family will need for the next twelve months. Anything short of that would be ignoring every condition which this country and the world confronts in the lack of foodstuffs, and in the certainty of high prices. Business men, State governments and the national government owe it to the farmers and to the welfare of the country to stress these points with all possible emphasis. The South can become independent for foodstuffs by quick and vigorous action this spring and summer by its farmers, and if it fails to do so, it will be drained of hundreds of millions of dollars for high-priced foodstuffs, which should have been raised at home, and there will be poverty in many homes where there should be abundance.
