STIRRING MELODIES OF LONG AGO TO BE HEARD

Stonewall Jackson Brass Band Will Furnish Music at the Confederate Reunion - Confederates Requested to Bring Blankets

Washington Cor. Greensboro Daily News.
Civil war musicians will play the stirring melodies of long ago at the annual reunion of the United States veterans, to be held here the week of June 4. An historic feature of the great parade will be the original Stonewall Jackson brass band of Staunton, Va. The gray-clad, gray-haired players of this rapidly dwindling organization furnished martial music in the sixties for the famous Stonewall brigade. These venerable bandsmen also will give free open-air concerts at Camp Harper on the plaza fronting the Union railroad station during the reunion.

Col. Robert N. Harper, chairman of the citizens' reunion committee, announces that the parade, Thursday, June 7, will be formed in three grand divisions. The first will be composed of Confederate veterans and sons and daughters of veterans and will be headed by the Stonewall Jackson brigade band. The second division, comprising military organizations, regulars and national guardsmen and cadets. The third grand division will comprise civic associations and marching bodies. The parade will be reviewed in the court of honor fronting the White House by President Wilson, members of Congress, diplomats and government officials. Chairman Harper has received from a noted educator a letter stating that the reunion should prove to be a great event from both educational and patriotic viewpoints. He said it would probably be the last time such a spectacle would be witnessed. The writer gave it as his opinion that the assembly at Washington of the thousands of soldiers in gray should be invaluable in this time of war as an incentive to patriotic service to the country, and be a stimulus to the youth who will then be in training for participation in the greatest war of all history.

In this connection Secretary of War Baker said visitors will find Washington one of the most striking and beautiful cities in the whole world. He added that "there is no building in the world that has so thrilling effect upon the people as the capital." It is Secretary Baker's opinion that the capital city in war times is a good place to visit.

General Joffre, marshal of France, who was here with the commissioners from that republic, was much interested when told of the approaching reunion at Washington. He said that brave soldiers always honor a brave and honorable enemy, and commended the American spirit to be illustrated at Washington in June, when thousands of former Confederates with joyous acclaim will rededicate themselves to their happily reunited country and its flag.

The visiting Confederates have been requested by Chairman Harper to bring their blankets with them, while General Harrison, commanding the Southern veterans, has directed those who have their old wartime uniforms of gray and buff to wear them to the reunion. These features will give the occasion a touch of realism and bring to memory the great military experience of more than half a century ago when their wearers battled under the leadership of Lee and Jackson and other military leaders of Dixie.

The hundreds of Boy Scouts of this city and vicinity will render invaluable service to the veterans and other visitors.

MAKE ECONOMY FASHIONABLE

How Every Woman Can Render Important Service to the Nation in its Present Emergency - Washington Dispatch

In an appeal "to the women of the United States," Secretary Houston declares that they can do their "bit" most effectively in the national emergency by practicing thrift in their households.

"Every woman can render important service to the nation in its present emergency," says the appeal. "She need not leave her home or abandon her home duties to help the armed forces. She can help to feed and clothe our armies and help to supply food to those beyond the seas by practicing effective thrift on her own household."

"Every ounce of food the housewife saves from being wasted in her home—all food which she or her children produce in the garden and can or preserve—every garment which care and skillful repair makes it unnecessary to replace—all lessen the household's draft on the already insufficient world supplies."

"To save food the housewife must learn to plan economical and properly balanced meals which, while nourishing each member of the family properly, do not encourage over-eating or offer excessive and wasteful variety. It is her duty to use all effective methods to protect food from spoilage by heat, dirt, mice or insects."

"Demonstrate thrift in your homes and encourage thrift among your neighbors."

"Make saving rather than spending your social standard."

"Make economy fashionable lest it become obligatory."

Commissioner of Insurance Jas. R. Young cancelled Saturday the license of the Pittsburg Life Insurance Co., of Pittsburg, Pa., the company being thrown into the hands of a receiver and one of the most gigantic insurance frauds of modern times being, according to the statement of the commissioner, in process of exposition. He says certain promoters got control of the corporation and looted it of something like $4,000,000 assets. The company has $1,393,449 insurance in force in this State and $115,000,000 in force the country over.

A Chadburn dispatch states that the strawberry season reached its height last week, berries going forward daily by the train load to the Northern markets. Prices are high and growers are in fine spirits. It is estimated that $15,000 were placed in circulation for berries at Chadburn in one day recently.

Charlotte dispatch, May 5: Mark Rudisell was killed, his throat being cut, and his brother, Lester, is at the point of death as the result of a fight between them and two brothers named King and Horace Davis at school closing exercises at Ridge Academy, at Lincolnton, today. The fight started when one of the Rudisells loudly declared he "was the best on the hill." Blockade whiskey is said to have been responsible. The King brothers and Davis are in jail.

How a Duke Earned Sixpence

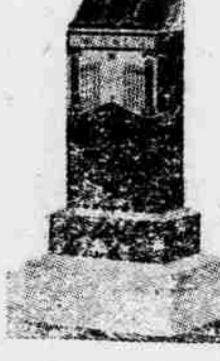

Harper's Bazar for May contains several good stories about the Duke of Norfolk, who died the other day. Although the premier duke of England, he was always very shabby in dress. One day when in Rome, an American tourist caught him by the sleeve and said, "I have noticed you loafing about all the stations. Just make yourself useful and put these bags on my bag."

The Duke did the work, and pocketed a tip of sixpence with the words: "Thank you, madam, it's the first money I've ever earned in my life."

HAD A VERY BAD COUGH

This letter should interest every reader: "Last winter I had a very bad cough. I used medicines, but they did me no good. I took one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it cured. (Signed) V. DeKeuster, Amberg, Wis." No substitute is as good as Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Sold
