DEATH OF HENRY LOCKLEY

Formerly of Pembroke, Died in Portsmouth, Va. To the Editor of The Robesonian.

Please allow me space in your paper to give a brief account of the death and funeral of a Robeson county boy who was formerly of Pembroke, but was living in Portsmouth, Va., when death came.

This boy, or young man, was Mr. Henry Lockley. He was reared to young manhood in that section of our county known generally as Saddle-tree. He was the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Lockley, now of Pembroke. He moved with his parents from this section to Pembroke some three years ago, and spent part of his time at home and part away working at his trade.

Mr. Lockley was very widely known as he had traveled over very much of his native State as well as other States, in practicing his trade, which was that of barber.

His death was very shocking indeed to his family and friends. He had been away from home for several months, and last week his folks received a message that he was dead. He was apparently well one day and the next morning he was found in his sleeping apartment dead. The doctor alleged the cause to be heart failure.

His father and only brother, Mr. Purcell Lockley of Lumber Bridge, went at once to Portsmouth to look after the remains of the deceased, which were brought to Pembroke Saturday, Sept. 29.

The funeral was conducted in the grove near the family burying grounds yesterday, the Rev. F. A. Prevatt officiating. The theme of the funeral sermon was preparation to meet God. Brother Prevatt brought out very forcibly the importance of making this preparation and the necessity of being ready when called from this to an unknown world. At the close of the sermon an invitation was given to those who desired prayer that they might make this preparation to meet God in peace, and quite a number of young folks went forward and gave their hands, indicating that they desired the peace of God in their lives. The father of the deceased also asked by preacher to speak a word of warning to the young people, warning them not to stray away from home and friends and have to be hunted up, after death by their parents.

The deceased is survived by his father and mother, one brother and two sisters, all of whom live in Robeson county except one sister, who lives in Scotland county.

Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to the bereaved family. May we take this as one of God's plans to show to us that though we are in the bloom of youth, as this young man was who had just about reached his 31st birthday that He calls us as He sees wise in His own good way, whether we are prepared or unprepared.

May God help us all to make the preparation and consecrate our lives anew to His cause.

J. W. SMITH, Lumberton, N. C. R. 1. Oct. 1, 1917.

Great War Tax Bill Will Be Enacted Into Law This Week.

Washington Dispatch, Sept. 30. Enactment into law this week of the great war tax bill, upon which conferees agreed last night, was regarded as certain today by members of both houses. The report will be presented to the House tomorrow and to the Senate probably on Tuesday and by Thursday at the latest the bill should be ready for the President's signature.

Opposition to certain sections of the bill is expected, but the leaders are determined not to permit any amendments. To open the door, they say, would draw a flood of new amendments and invite delay.

WILL INSPECT FOOD AND SUPPLY HOUSES

ORGANIZATION IS PERFECTED BY INSURANCE MEN IN NORTH CAROLINA.

STATE DEPARTMENTS HELP

All Buildings Where Food and Supplies Are Stored Will Be Guarded Against Destruction By Fire or Waste.

Organization of one of the most effective patriotic bodies in the state has recently been perfected by special agents, inspectors and field men of virtually all fire insurance companies doing business in North Carolina. It is the purpose of the organization to make inspection of all buildings where food supplies or clothing supplies may be concentrated to guard against possible loss by fire of any goods which are needed in the prosecution of the war.

The organization was perfected recently at a conference of insurance men in the office of State Insurance Commissioner James R. Young in Raleigh. Present at the meeting were Governor Bickett, Commissioner Young, S. Y. Tupper, of Atlanta, Southern manager of the Queen Insurance Company, Milton Dargan of Atlanta, Southern manager of the Royal Insurance Company and A. M. Schoen, engineer for the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The conference was also attended by J. M. Broughton, Jr. and A. T. Bowler, president and secretary respectively of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and Prof. W. A. Withers, president of the Raleigh Rotary Club.

Co-operation of all the machinery of the State Executive and administrative departments was pledged by Governor Bickett and Commissioner Young. A committee of insurance men was appointed to arrange the details of the campaign and the plan to be carried out contemplates the districting of the entire state, each district to be under the supervision of one of the insurance men who will make frequent inspections of all wholesale houses or food depots, grocery stores or other places where food-stuffs are concentrated. Other inspectors will look after cotton gins and cotton warehouses and all kinds of depots.

The work thus done is under the supervision of experts who will give without cost their trained experience to aid in the National campaign against unnecessary fire waste in the stringent war period. While these men are representatives of insurance companies, the work thus undertaken is under the direction of the National Government and the direct supervision of the Council of National Defense.

Recommendations will be made and instructions in fire prevention given to citizens and property owners and where it is necessary property owners may be compelled to follow these instructions given by these inspectors as war measures.

The campaign is part of the nationwide plan adopted by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Similar organizations have been made or are being made in every state. Representatives of the National Board at the meeting held in Raleigh stated that the work was better understood by the insurance men in North Carolina and the campaign gives better promise of accomplishment here than in any state they had visited. Commissioner Young has been urging work of this sort—that is the adoption of measures to prevent fires and the subsequent unnecessary waste of food and supplies—since the war started and through a continuous series of appeals to the citizens of the state, city and county officials, a considerable amount of success has been accomplished and it is the belief of the commissioner that the people are familiar enough with the situation to carry the plan on to a great success and in this manner to add to the campaign North Carolina's "bit" in a valuable work.

PREPAREDNESS.

The man or woman in the United States who is not aroused to the necessity of preparedness for what the men must bear and do for the country and civilization in this war does not realize the seriousness of the situation.

We should, we must think. We must act. Take in the situation and then as true North Carolinians, true Americans, measure up to the occasion.

We must give, we must invest in bonds of our country. We must raise foodstuffs and all that is necessary to feed and clothe ourselves and our soldiers, our allies and their soldiers. Make it, save it, protect it from fire.

A bill has been introduced in the New Jersey Legislature to make property owners on whose premises a fire starts through carelessness liable for damage done to adjacent property and also for the cost of extinguishing the fire. The spread of the fire to adjoining property is made prima facie evidence of carelessness and the burden of proof is placed on the property owner.—Monitor.
