WOULD you possess a phonograph that will harmonize in appearance with the most beautiful furnishings?

The lines of the Vocalion were planned to fit gracefully with "master creations" in furniture styles.

And its owners are not confined to records of one or two makes. The Universal Tone Arm, with which all Vocalions are equipped, plays every standard make of record.

STATEMENT BY PRESIDENT WILSON TO SENATORS

Conference With Senators Opened With Statement on Peace Treaty and League of Nations.

President Wilson began his conference with the foreign relations committee at the White House Tuesday with an opening statement on the peace treaty and the league of nations. Following are some of the "high lights" of that statement:

"Practically the whole task of bringing the country back to a normal conditions of life and industry waits upon the decision of the Senate with regard to the terms of the peace treaty."

Urging prompt action, the President pointed out a few of the matters which "cannot be handled with intelligence until the country knows the character of the peace it is to have." Copper mines of Montana and Alaska, zinc mines of Missouri, Tennessee and Wisconsin, lead mines of Idaho, Illinois and Missouri are operating at less than full capacity "because the channels of trade are barred by war when there is no war." "The same is true of raw cotton, of which the Central empire alone formerly purchased nearly 4,000,000 bales." "Our full, normal profitable production waits on peace."

"The Monroe doctrine is expressly mentioned as an understanding which is in no way to be impaired or interfered with by anything contained in the covenant."

The president made it clear that Article 16 of the covenant expressly provides for leaving purely domestic questions for settlement by the country concerned.

The right of any nation to withdraw from the league is provided for and whether a withdrawing nation had fulfilled "all its international obligations and all its obligations under the covenant" is left for the withdrawing nation to determine for itself.

"I am sure," the President says, "backbone of the whole covenant." "The council of the league can only 'advise' upon the means by which the obligations of that great article are to be given effect. Unless the United States is a party to the policy or action in question, her own affirmative vote in the council is necessary before any advice can be given, for a unanimous vote of the council is required. If she is a party, the trouble is here anyhow. Each government is free to reject it if it pleases. Nothing could have been made more clear than the right of Congress under our constitution to exercise its independent judgment in all matters of peace and war. No attempt was made to question or limit that right."

The President offers no objections to "interpretations" if they merely accompany the act of ratification and are not made a part of it. If made a part of it every other nation would offer interpretations, and there would be no end to it. And the assent of the German assembly at Weimar would have to be obtained, and Mr. Wilson is frank to say that he would not relish approaching that assembly "for permission to read the treaty as we understand it and as those who framed it quite certainly understood it."

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health

Ellensburg, Wash.—"After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time was not able to go about. Our greatest desire was to have a child in our home and one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and wanted me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles. I improved in health so I could do my housework; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. S. JOHNSON, R.
