ESCAPED WITH HANDCUFFS

Pink McNeill, a German of Color, Wearing Handcuffs, Jumped From Ford on Way to Jail and Disappeared in Woods—Officer Pittman Came Near Being Yanked Out of Car.

No jail for him. Pink McNeill, colored, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Rural Policeman A. R. Pittman. Mr. Pittman placed a chain handcuff upon McNeill and was riding in the rear of a Ford with the negro and holding to the chain. The Ford was running along at medium speed, wending its way to the jail house. When about a mile from the jail McNeill jumped out of the car. He is a negro of considerable weight and when he jumped the chain cut the officer's hands, removing quite a bit of flesh. Mr. Pittman held on to the chain as long as he could, but the weight of the negro caused him to let go and McNeill went into the woods "on high gear" and escaped. The officer fired a few shots at the fleeing negro, but judging from the manner in which the negro kept moving, none took effect. He was still wearing the handcuffs when last seen by the officer. McNeill was arrested on some minor charge.

This was the second successful get-away McNeill had made after leaving the jail. He was arrested last Thursday by Township Constable Ed Baxley of Burnt Swamp township. Mr. Baxley started to jail with Pink and when they were within a few hundred yards of the place of safekeeping Pink jumped from the auto in which they were making the trip and escaped.

SIX MEN KILLED IN BOILER EXPLOSION AT GIN

Terrific Explosion at Cotton Gin Near Rowland Friday Shattered Glass, Dood and Windows at Rowland, 3 Miles Away—Water Too Low or Defective Valve—No Evidences of Foul Play.

Five men—Messrs. Henry and Jesse S. Bracey and Robert Bridgers, white, Arren and Spearman Oxendine, Indians—were instantly killed and Mose Taylor, colored, died later as a result of injuries received, when the boiler at a cotton gin at Bracey, 3 miles from Rowland, exploded Friday morning about 8:30 o'clock. A mule and one horse belonging to Arren Oxendine were also killed by the explosion.

Glass Door and Windows Shattered 3 Miles Away.

The gin was owned jointly by Mr. Bridgers, one of the men killed, and Mr. C. T. Pate. The explosion demolished the engine room and tore away a part of the gin house. The noise of the explosion was heard for many miles away and a plate glass door and a number of glass windows in the town of Rowland, three miles away, were broken. People who live nearby the scene of the accident say the explosion caused the earth to tremble as if there had been an earthquake.

The exact cause of the explosion is undetermined. The boiler had been giving some trouble and some repair work was done on it the day before. Some think the water was allowed to get too low, while others advance the idea that an injection valve caused the trouble. When it was noticed that the boiler was not working as it should, a colored boy who was nearby became frightened and ran away. The men who were killed were all about the boiler, Mr. Bridgers having walked up just as the explosion occurred. Arren Oxendine drove up to the gin to get some cotton he had ginned. Mr. Bridgers was 35 years old and is survived by his widow and 7 children.

Mr. Jesse Bracey was 20 years old and is survived by his widow and three children.

Arren Oxendine was 45 years old and is survived by his wife.

Spearman Oxendine was 50 years old and is survived by his wife and one child.

Mr. Jesse Bracey was a brother of Mr. Arthur Bracey, who was killed by an automobile at Rowland just three months previous to the date of the explosion.

Mose Taylor, colored, died Friday night in a Fayetteville hospital, where he was rushed, soon after the accident.

The heads and faces of the five men who were instantly killed were badly mutilated and they were bruised otherwise. Messrs. J. L. Stephens and A. J. Smith of Lumberton, Mr. Howell of Fairmont and John Newton of Fayetteville, all undertakers, were called and examined the bodies of the dead men.

The funeral of the Messrs. Bracey and Bridgers was conducted from Ashpole Presbyterian church Saturday noon and interment was made in the church cemetery.

The Messrs. Bracey and Mr. Bridgers were all prominent men in their communities and their untimely deaths brought sorrow to many hearts.

The fact that a gin at Fayetteville had been warned day before to close until cotton should reach 40 cents of course caused people to wonder if this was the work of fanatics, but all indications point to its being purely an accident.

Crowds have been visiting the scene of the explosion and yesterday people flocked there from far and near.

The boiler was split open from end to end and flattened out. An arm of one of the men killed has not been found. One of the bodies was caught on a piece of wreckage and hung suspended with head down until taken down.

The desire of a negro visitor to the gin for breakfast saved his life. When he got to the gin with a load of cotton he found the negro fireman eating his breakfast. That made him long for his own breakfast and he started after it. When some 300 yards away he was knocked down by the explosion.

DAUGHTERS WANT MEMORIAL OF DAVIS PLACED IN CAPITOL.

At the closing session Friday of their convention in New Bern, the North Carolina division of the Daughters of the Confederacy adopted resolutions that a memorial of Jefferson Davis, first and only President of the Confederacy, be placed in the Hall of Fame in Washington along with statues of Gens. Lee and Sherman, and that the remains of Miss Anne Carter Lee, daughter of Gen. R. E. Lee, which are buried in North Carolina soil, be not distributed unless upon express demand of the Legislature of Virginia. Miss Lee died in 1862, while on a visit with her mother to the Jones family at Warrenton, and war conditions made it necessary to bury her body there. The grave has been cared for by the Jones family and Daughters of the Confederacy.

BIGGEST AND BEST FAIR EVER HELD IN ROBESON

Exhibits Were Splendid and Attendance Was Fine, All Surpassing Expectations of Management—Free Performance All to the Good—Manager Thompson and All Who Helped Make Fair a Success Are to Be Congratulated and Commended.

The final curtain fell upon the sixth annual Robeson county fair Friday at midnight. Thousands of Robesonians and many from other counties attended the fair, which was by far the "biggest and best" fair ever held in Robeson county. As has been stated in The Robesonian, the three large exhibition halls were filled to overflowing with agricultural and industrial exhibits—exhibits that revealed the agricultural possibilities of the great county.

Thursday was the red-letter day of the fair in attendance, the exhibition buildings and grounds being filled with visitors from early morning till late at night. The fair officials were much pleased with the number of exhibits brought in and the attendance. Both surpassed the expectations of the promoters.

Dufour & Tifford's shows, which made up the midway, were much cleaner than one will find at many fairs. There were no immoral shows in connection with the midway.

The big free trapeze act given by the flying Herberts—two ladies and three men in front of the grandstand twice daily, 2:30 and 8:30 p. m., was perhaps the most attractive exhibition on the midway. Thousands were thrilled every day by the clever actors—as good acting of the kind as one would see anywhere. Many were heard to remark that this free act alone was easily worth the price of admission.

Manager W. O. Thompson, secretary of the fair association, is to be commended for the success of the 1920 fair. Mr. Thompson spared no time or effort in making the fair worth while; and he met with success. The many farmers and business men who co-operated with the fair association are also to be commended. The success of a county fair depends upon the people of the county. The co-operation given the fair management resulted in a fair of which every citizen of the county should feel proud.

Begins now to plan for making the seventh annual Robeson county fair even a greater success than the sixth.

BANK CREDITS AVAILABLE

Federal Reserve Board Replies to Appeals for Further Extension of Agricultural Credits.

Bank credit "has been steadily available for the successive requirements of agriculture," according to a formal statement issued Saturday night by the Federal Reserve Board, designed as a reply to agricultural organizations, which appealed to the government last week for a further extension of agricultural credits.

"The disturbances in price and demand which have been manifest in agricultural markets, are 'inevitable and unavoidable consequences of the economic derangements occasioned by the World War,' the board's statement said.

It added, however, that the gradual and regular movement of the crops from producer to consumers was to be expected.

"In view of the representations which have recently been made to the board as to the unavailability of credit in agricultural sections," the statement said "the board requested information concerning credit conditions throughout the country from the chairmen and governors of Federal Reserve banks at their usual autumn conference here this week.

"The board is advised that credit has been steadily available for the successive seasonal requirements of agriculture, as well as for the needs of commerce and industry, and that there is no ground for expecting that its availability for the purposes will not continue.

"The present improved credit situation is due in part to the timely steps taken last spring, following conferences between the board and governors and directors of Federal Reserve banks, to provide credit for crop moving requirements, and in part to the tation reported from all districts except in a few localities.

"Between January 2 and October 1 of the present year about 800 leading member banks from all sections of the country, which report their condition to the board weekly and which represent approximately 70 per cent of member bank resources, have increased their loans for agricultural, industrial and commercial purposes by an amount exceeding $1,800,000,000. This great increase in the credit extended to their customers has in the main been made possible by the accommodation extended banks by the Federal Reserve banks.

"During the same period, the twelve Federal Reserve banks have increased their holding of agricultural paper by more than $500,000,000, and from January 23 to October 1, 1920, increased their issues of Federal Reserve notes by over $460,000,000. At the same time, Federal Reserve banks having surplus funds have extended accommodation to Federal Reserve banks in agricultural and live stock districts by means of discounts, aggregating on October 1, over $225,000,000.

HEALTH EXHIBITIONS AT COLORED FAIR

Government's Social Hygiene Exhibition Will Be Given at Colored Fair Wednesday—Free Open Air Showing at 8 P. M.—Special Showings Also May Be Given in the Afternoon—Special Exhibit.

Correspondence of The Robesonian.

Wednesday, October 20th had been set aside as a rest day for the U. S. government's social hygiene exhibition, in exchange for the exhibition to be given at St. Pauls cotton mill on Sunday, October 24th. The personnel, however, are desirous of doing something to show their appreciation of the courtesies extended in every town, hamlet, school house and church that they have visited in Robeson county in the past five weeks. They have, therefore, volunteered their service for exhibitions at the colored county fair on Wednesday, October 20. The entire personnel, including Dr. W. H. Gillette, U. S. P. H. S., lecturer to the white population, and Mr. E. A. Fitzgerald, mechanic, as well as Dr. W. J. Hughes, staff State Board of Health, colored physician in charge of the venereal disease control work in the State among the colored population, will be in service.

Dr. Charles V. Herdlika, U. S. P. H. S., in advance of the exhibition, is much pleased to be able to present this testimonial of appreciation on the part of the personnel, in the form of this extra meeting, to the county and the commissioners, and has arranged, weather permitting, for an open-air showing at the grand stand in the fair grounds at 8 o'clock in the evening. The moving picture to be shown will be a motion-picture drama entitled, "The End of The Road." To this marvelous picture, a beautiful moral story and a sermon in itself, fathers may bring their wives and children, and girls may bring their beaux. It is a wonderful story for men, women, boys and girls, so staged and pictured that it may be enjoyed by every member of the family. The showings will be entirely free. Everybody on the grounds is urged to come.

If a suitable tent dark enough can be obtained, Dr. Herdlika plans to give special showings for women only at 2:30 in the afternoon, and for men only at 4:30 in the afternoon. These showings will be announced by handbills distributed on the grounds.

Besides the free moving pictures above described, Dr. Hughes will conduct a special exhibit at the sign reading "U. S. Government's Social Hygiene Exhibition," where he will have a wonderful exhibition of pictures and card exhibits and where he will give away free books for men, women, boys, for girls, and for parents, every day of the fair. Every visitor to the fair is urged to stop at the U. S. Government's Social Hygiene booth on the Midway and get a book.

WHY DEMOCRATS SHOULD CONTRIBUTE

(By George White, Chairman Democratic National Committee.)

Do you believe in Democracy? Do you believe in the League of Nations? Are you a supporter of James M. Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt? Then you are the person whose help we need.

We are having it? Yes; and we appreciate your moral support and the vote you are going to cast for the ticket. While that is of first importance, it is not enough.

If you believe in the principles for which this fight is being made, you want those principles to prevail.

This is a tremendously big country. It is estimated that no fewer than 30,000,000 people will vote in the November election. They all are not in touch with the sources of information that are open to you. In many sections of the country there are virtually no Democratic newspapers. Many thousands of voters are able to know but one side of the campaign, unless special effort is made to present the other side to them.

What we need and must have is the money necessary for legitimate expenses, to counteract the misstatements, the misrepresentations and so we make this appeal for funds. If we send out speakers, if we send out literature, it costs money, and our only way to pay these expenses is for the people who love the things for which we fight to send us their checks. If a few thousand people among the millions who will support our cause with their vote would contribute to our campaign funds until they felt they had denied themselves, this spirit of sacrifice would show in certain victory. The only reason that the plain citizen may vote against us is because we haven't taken to him the message. We need your financial help to do it.
