Share of Taxation "Under our present and past systems of taxation in North Carolina," says Editor Clarence Poe, of The Progressive Farmer, "the farmer, and especially the struggling small farmer, has borne too large a share of the burdens of taxation. So has the small home-owner in town.

"That is a great reason why I favor the income tax amend-ment. It will take the tax for state governmeit off of land and personal property and put it on the income of the wealthy. "If you have been feeling that the farmer and small home-owner amendment is a vote to keep this nor-mai property tax at 66 2-3 cents each $100 instead of reducing it to 15 cents.

A vote against the income tax amendment is a vote to keep the bur-den of taxation on the farmers, la-borers, and less wealthy classes of the state instead of throwing more of that burden on those most able to bear it.

Be not deceived and let not your neighbors be deceived. If the wealthy and powerful interests now fighting the income tax amendment succeed in beating it, they will laugh at the voters of North Carolina as the big-gest set of chumps and fools on earth. Watch the polls and see that all your neighbors vote a ballot reading "FOR Amendment to Limit State and Coun-ty Taxes, and Amount of Poll Tax ty Taxes, and Amount of Poll Tax, and to Authorize Income Tax."-The Progressive Farmers.
