Weather to Order, Is Inventor's Plan

George Halkides Believes He Can Control Sunshine and Rain With His New Device.

Charles F. Marvin, chief of the United States weather bureau, would be out of a job. Washington would enjoy bright sunshiney weather the year round, and fur coats would be relegated to cedar chests and moth-balls should the claims of George Halkides, 925 E street northwest, be made good, for Halkides claims to have an invention that will absolutely control the weather.

Halkides says he is in Washington to perfect his drawings and model in order that he may obtain a patent, which he proposes to offer first to the United States government.

He figures that the ability to do away with the weather bureau and its attendant expense will save the government such an immense sum that the government can afford to make him rich beyond the dreams of avarice, and still make money.

Cannot Halt the Sun.
Snow, ice, blizzards and other necessary evils of winter will be things of the past, he avers, when his invention gets to working, for while he will not be able like Joshua, to make the sun stand still, he claims that he will be able to regulate the rainfall, and otherwise dominate the skies and clouds so that every day will be of even temperature.

Details of the invention, Halkides says, came to him in a wondrous dream, in which he saw the whole land a tropical Utopia with bathing and other outdoor sports continuous the year round, and beauties gambling on the beach during the winter months as well as in summer.

The self-styled inventor says he has written to officials in regard to his plans, but until he hears from them the details must remain locked within his own breast.

May Ask Balmey Day.
Plans are under way to bring the invention, as soon as details are announced, to the attention of the inaugural committee, for March 4 has been known to be stormy in the past, and the committee would undoubtedly welcome any invention that would insure a balmy, summer-like day, when President-elect Harding and Vice President-elect Coolidge assume their offices.

Merchants with large stocks of overcoats will be greatly worried at the announcement of the inventor, and will doubtless try to arrange for a little delay in his demonstration, in order that they may dispose of their stock. The stores handling fur coats for women will also be on the anxious seat.

Means Glee for Ice Man.
Coal dealers are expected to oppose the government's granting a patent on any such invention for without the cold months of winter their business would be practically ruined. Ice-men, on the contrary, are expected to back the inventor to a man, as ever-summer weather would increase the ice business by more than 100 per cent.

All Washington will be on the quiver for the expected demonstration. It is stated authoritatively, however, that the invention has never been demonstrated as yet, and that the present warm weather, which has prevailed during the winter months so far, is still due to the same natural causes that have always controlled weather in the United States.—Washington Post.

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Theford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficacy of Theford's Black-Draught, the genuine herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Theford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Theford's.

JUSTICE TO FARMERS IN ROAD BUILDING

Counties Need All the Money They Can Raise to Maintain the Secondary Roads.

(North Carolina Good Roads Association.)

Chapel Hill, Jan. 22.—Up to the present time the counties have been compelled to spend the major portion of their road funds on the main highways connecting the principal cities and towns which are used largely for commercial purposes. Even with their maximum expenditure of funds and energy on these main roads, they are kept in very poor condition. The great majority of our farming class do not receive any direct benefit from these main roads, although they are helping to pay for their construction and upkeep. The average farmer is very vitally interested in the county or secondary roads, which are perforce neglected by the county because it has not funds for both the main highways and the secondary roads. If the county roads were improved the farmers could reach the main highways with maximum loads and thus derive the fullest benefit from both county and main highways.

By the State's taking over these main highways (5,500 miles) for construction and maintenance, the counties will be relieved of this burden and can use their own road funds for building and maintaining the county roads leading out into the various farming sections and thus give the average farmer a chance at a better transportation system. There are about 47,000 miles of these county or secondary roads and the task of keeping these in good passable condition will require all the funds the counties can raise.

The plan offered by Governor Morrison in his inaugural address to force the counties to pay a portion of the cost of construction of the main highways and all the cost of maintenance, with divided authority as to expenditure, would result in unbusiness-like methods, dissatisfaction, and an even more chaotic state of road building than we have now. Even if the plan were feasible it would only serve to further discriminate against the farmer for the funds demanded by the State under this plan for construction and maintenance would not only take all funds that might otherwise be used on county roads but would be overburdensome to the rural counties, and any other which may happen to be heavily in debt.

It is therefore up to every farmer in North Carolina to see that the bill for a State system of highways, which provides for State control, State financial responsibility, and State protection, is enacted into law by the present General Assembly.

high school and college. Dr. H. G. Hill of Maxton made the principal address, speaking to the veterans and the Daughters on "The Functions of the U. D. O. I. Higon, Trinity M. E. church, Miss Jane D. Vardell, violinist, Rev. H. M. Dixon, and a special student chorus consisting of the Misses Dupuy, Foy, Irwin, Mandeville, McGirt, Poole, Wilder, Buchanan.

Following the exercises the veterans, speakers, and others taking part in the program were entertained at a luncheon in the conservatory hall. The officers of the local chapter are: Mrs. J. A. BUY THE LIFE OF A CHILD

You Have the Opportunity to Buy the Lives of as Many Children as You Desire at $10 Each.

Is a child's life worth ten dollars? If you think it is, you are given an opportunity to buy the lives of as many children as you desire at that price.

There are three million five hundred thousand (3,500,000) children in Europe who will die from hunger, cold and disease unless there is immediately raised in America $33,000,000.00.

$10.00 will insure life to one of these children until the next harvest. Remember that "All I can hold in my cold, dead hand is what I have given away."

If you desire to have a part in this glorious work of saving child lives, the opportunity is yours.

Would you not welcome the privilege of receiving into your home one, or five, or ten of these children as your "invisible guest" during this year? If so send your check ($10.00 for each guest desired) to Mr. Henry A. Page, Chairman, Aberdeen, N. C., with a request for an Invisible Guest Certificate certifying that you have received one (or more) of those children as your "invisible guest" during this year. The Certificate will immediately be mailed to you.

This "invisible guest" received into your comfortable home from the terrible desolation and misery and suffering of Europe will be an ambassador of that other child, who came into the World nearly two thousand years ago, whom no one would receive. Would you receive Him into your home? Then take in one of those hungry, cold and sick children, for did he not say, "Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones; for I say unto you—Who shall receive one such little child in my name, receiveth me."

Reply to Criticism of Raft Swamp School.

To the Editor of The Robesonian:

We are sorry to see Mrs. Townsend's piece about the bad conduct of our boys. We hope our teachers won't take any exceptions at it. We have two fine girls for our teachers this time. We hope they will remember that scripture which says, "wo unto him of whom all men speak well."

How many of us parents are trying help to make a school teacher's task hard or easy by the way we raise our children. The teacher can soon see how many of us parents are trying to raise our children in the way they should go, so if we don't do our duty by our children at home we may be dead certain the school teacher will catch the patching with them at school.

Then let us not lay any blame to the teachers if they can't get our children to do just as they ought to do unless we are putting forth all the effort we can in that direction ourselves.

Have we ever stopped for a moment and thought that our school teacher could tell to a great extent the condition of our homes by the conduct of our children while at school?

This being true, then let us try harder to do our part by our children and our teachers can do a better part by them for us.
