Poultry Club
Work in Robeson

Allen G. Oliver, State Poultry Specialist, Tells of Progress in Raising Pure-Bred Poultry in Robeson—Wide-Awake Organization at Lumberton and Lumber Bridge.
(By Allen G. Oliver, Poultry Clubs
For North Carolina, West Raleigh, N. C.)
With the hearty support and cooperation of the home demonstration and county agents working in teams, poultry club work has been followed up closely in the East and the efforts put forth have been most satisfactory.

Leaving Raleigh on May 14th for an intensive follow-up campaign for better and more poultry, the week of May 15-20 was spent in Robeson county. The work here has gone ahead very fast and is going to continue to do so as Miss Flax Andrews, the home demonstration agent, has worked it very intensively ever since we had a campaign early in the spring and has followed up the work very earnestly.

At every meeting held with her clubs, both women and boys and girls, she has stressed some part of the proper methods of caring for farm poultry. This office furnished models of home made brood coops, water founts, feed hoppers, and feeding racks and these were used to a finish at every meeting in the early winter and spring. She stated that by having these models her county people could see exactly how to make same at home and that fully 300 brood coops alone had been made. Then wherever possible getting farmers to get some pure-bred eggs of the breed they liked and succeeded in getting a very great number of these, most of which were bought from the boys' and girls' poultry clubs from other counties. Early hatching was put across and proper feeding methods used to grow the birds out, to maturity in the shortest possible time.

Team Work The Thing
This was followed up by a campaign for the marketing of the cockerels, but under no circumstances any pullets hatched in February, March or April, explaining that these pullets could be fully matured by November first and if properly housed and fed would be the layers of fall and winter's eggs or when eggs bring the highest price. O. O. Duker, the county agent, has given his hearty support in the work and it is team work that makes it possible to put a project across and keep it before the public. This I could easily see had been the case and the work as above mentioned had been carried out very successfully. I found flock after flock of early birds under good methods of feeding.

They have two live, wide-awake poultry organizations of some one hundred members, one at Lumberton, where we held a rousing meeting in the court house with some 150 farmers present. The members brought in old and young birds in Barred and Partridge, Plymouth Rocks, Dark Cornish, White Leghorns and Anconas, some of the young birds shown weighing 2 1/4 pounds each at nine weeks of age. Also a very fine exhibit of home made feed hoppers, water founts, brood coops. It was strictly a home made exhibit from start to finish. Mr. Duker made a large-sized model of a farm poultry house to accommodate about one hundred hens. He also had a very fine display of various green foods and pasture crops of all kinds including beef scrap, tankage and fish meal.
This was truly a great exhibit and every one present carefully looked over the display and we had some questions to answer.

The other organization is at Lumber Bridge with a good large membership and many fine flocks were visited, most of which were White Leghorns. Some of the flocks are being run on a large scale. Mrs. R. W.
Bledsoe of St. Pauls has White Leghorns and has been marketing regularly from 40 to 50 dozen eggs a week since early last fall. M. F. Caldwell of Lumberton had about 800 fine large White Leghorn pullets which will go into a new home about November first. He is preparing to keep about one thousand head.
The Lumber Bridge organization is buying poultry and shipping birds cooperatively and has been for some time.
We had a busy week in Robeson holding meetings and visiting from flock to flock, travelling about 250 miles over the country.

Proposed Bond Issue in Pembroke School District.
To the Editor of The Robesonian: In regard to a bond issue in Pembroke school district, I wish to make some remarks. In the first place we need no bond issue because it can not be used to any advantage to the tax-payers outside of Pembroke. It would increase the value of the town property, and make a great show, but it would be of no value to the majority of the tax-payers. If Pembroke continues to grow in the future as she has in the past, it will be at least 100 years before she can use a $20,- 000 school building to any advantage.
It doesn't look like a business proposition with the boll weevil staring us in the face, while the majority of the people are already burdened to death with debts and taxes.

We have sufficient funds to run the two very good schools which we now have, without placing any burden on any one. The proper thing to do is to get the money that we already have into the school. This district voted a special tax of 20 cents some years ago, under which we can collect only about $4,760.00 while we pay 40 cents on about $1.00 worth of property to the general fund. The district pays about $13,000 to the school fund, while we get only about one third of that amount back for teachers. After considering the matter, I believe that the school bond should be called off or voted down.

The Pembroke district has only twenty-five pupils in the school age.
It looks unjust to move Glenwood with her forty-five pupils, out of a white community, to Pembroke to help to support things.
If we keep still and let Pembroke take advantage of our ignorance it will be our own misfortune and Pembroke's gain. Every man has the right to vote and work for his own interest, but he should not demand more of his fellow-men than he himself would be willing to sacrifice. Always apply the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." I will also say to the Indian people that it is very doubtful that you will get one dollar out of the bond issue in case it is put through. The only sure thing for you to do is to vote it down.

Draft Deserter Sentenced to Prison.
Harry Lee Baucom, of Raleigh, will serve five months and twenty days confinement for draft desertion and is dishonorably discharged from the army with which he never served, according to information reaching Fayetteville, states a dispatch from that place, of confirmation by Fourth Corps Area headquarters of Baucom's sentence at the hands of a court martial at Camp Bragg.

From the findings of the court martial, which was held on May 11, Baucom was sentenced to six months confinement and dishonorable discharge. The latter verdict was approved by the corps area authorities at Fort McPherson, when the case was sent there for review, but the period of the prisoner's confinement was reduced to 5 months and 20 days. This time is subject to a reduction of 25 days for good conduct.

Baucom's sentence is to begin with the date of his conviction on May 11 and will therefore expire on October 31.
The young man, who is said to be a member of a prominent Wake county family, was charged with failure to report to his local draft board in Raleigh when ordered to do so.

The truth is that men have
