CHIEF JUSTICE CLARK.

The life and works of Chief Justice Walter Clark, who fell on sleep at his home in Raleigh yesterday, afford a striking example of what a man can accomplish if work is his passion and pastime.

"During the last 25 years, though a very busy man on the state and supreme benches, Judge Clark labored incessantly as a student and author, having produced legal and historic work which have given him a national reputation.

Don't fail to see to it that you are properly registered so that you may vote for the candidates of your choice on June 7th.

"Don't spend $3,000 for an automobile and give fifty cents to the orphanage," said Rev. George Stephens at the union tabernacle Sunday morning in commenting upon the fine appearance of children from the Methodist orphanage at Raleigh.

the downpour of rain last night, there was a fair-sized house to enjoy the Tar Heel negro minstrel at the school auditorium.

Wives were unable to recognize their own husbands, and if I were to say soap advanced 25 per cent. today in our town some one would make inquiry; but don't doubt. And yet we are not all cleansed yet.

Were I to state any star actor of the cast would not give the other fellow justice, but we must say Mr. Brown, the middle man, was all dressed up and on the job, while the three McMillan brothers were real artists.

it's an all-round show. We are sorry to state that little Miss Eva Campbell, who has been quite sick for several weeks, or since Easter, is no better, but gradually growing weaker.

The rain of yesterday and last night has held up farm work, only picking and shipping strawberries. The strawberry crop is fine, but the prices are off, this season to what they were a year ago.

Mr. Claud Jenrigan, who has been sick since today week, is able to be out some today.

Mrs. A. M. Stubbs, who has been sick a week or more, remains about the same. We trust she may soon be well again. Mrs. Ang Jenrigan of Fayetteville has been with her mother, Mrs. Stubbs, since Tuesday.
