MR. FRANK McLEAN

One of Robeson's Oldest and Grandest Men, Loved by All, Claimed By Death.

Correspondence of The Robesonian, Rowland, Oct. 7.—Friends and neighbors of Mr. Frank McLean were shocked and saddened Saturday morning when the news was received that he had been claimed by the hand of death. But we had the consolation of knowing that he is not dead, but just asleep in Jesus; and is with us in spirit, though not in body. He was one of Robeson's oldest and grandest men, and loved by everyone, white or black. His most honorable possessions were Christianity and love of Jesus and his fellow-men. To know him was to love him, and to gaze on his radiant face certified that he was always happy, for he always wore a smile. Never was a man more generous, kind-hearted, and true; with that good nature of doing for others. He was a loyal and faithful member of Ashpole church. His life was spent storing up riches in heaven, and what a beautiful example he set for us, if we only follow it.

In early life he was married to Miss Aginora Bullock, who has been an ever-faithful, tender helpmate, in joy and in sorrow.

Besides a number of grandchildren, children, namely: Madames J. A. Bracey, D. A. Bracey, G. W. McIntyre, Lorene Bridgers, W. M. Andrews and T. W. Holiday, and Messrs. Evans, Charlie, and Lester McLean.

He was laid to rest in the cemetery at Ashpole church Sunday morning, to await the happy day when his circle will be complete once more. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

"There was an angel band in Heaven,
That was not quite complete"

So Jesus chose our precious father,
To fill the vacant seat."

Gail Reddick, a boy, riding on a load of fodder near Thomasville Friday, was brushed by an overhanging limb and bitten on an ear by a pilot snake which became disentangled from the bush in contact with the boy.

Mr. John M. Brown of R. 2 from Red Springs was among the visitors in town yesterday.
Mr. Jerome Stephens of St. Paul was a Lumberton visitor Tuesday.
