The United States vs. the Vice-President.

NEW-YORK, JUNE 7 .--- The U. States' District Court met yesterday morning pursuant to adjournment, for the purpose of concluding the above cause. Robert summed up, on the part of the prosecu-tion, in a long and elaborate speech. After which, (about two o'clock) Judge Van Ness delivered a short but impressive charge to the Jury, in which he commented upon the fact of the Vice President having been held up to the world as a public defaulter ; which, said he, is not considwant of moral rectitude. He then adverted to the circumstance of his having been acquainted with the defendant in the morning of his life, when all was sunshine, but ly changed. He then proceeded to instruct the jury on several points in the case, and concluded by observing, that if they should decide on a verdict in favor of he (the Vice President) had produced evidence of claims equal to the balance alleged tobe due by him to the United States, their verdict should be to that effect. He at the same time observed that if the jury were of opinion that Government was indebted to him in a larger amount, they might, as individuals, sign a certificate to that effect, which would not, however, be try, since the recollection of the oldest inhabrecorded, but might, at some future day, itants now living. It passed through this counbe of service to the Vice President.

The Jury came into Court at a quarter past five o'clock and rendered a general verdict in favor of the defendant. They at the same time gave a certificate for a due from the Government to the Vice President, of $156,799 97 cts .- [Gaz.

DESTRUCTIVE HAIL STORM.

A hail storm, unusually destructive passed through a part of this county on Tuesday evening last. Its path was marked with desolation. It came like the pestilence ; and wheat, corn, and cot-Tillotson, Esq. U. S. District Attorney, ton, and the abundant products of the orchards, fell prostrate before it,-and with them the hopes and expectations of the husbandman. We have not heard how far the storm extended, nor the names of but two or three of the sufferers. Joseph Kerr, Esq. we are told, lost ered as a common debtor, but implies a his entire crop. A gentleman of this place passed by his plantation but a short time before the storm, when every thing wore an animating and cheering aspect ; he now knew him in the evening of that the yellow harvest was waving in the wind, life, when his circumstances had material- and the tender cotton seemed dressed in smiles :, when he returned, the spoiler had passed along ; the beauty of the scene was marred ; and destruction sat revelling the Vice President, it should be a general on the hopes of the farmer. For the folverdict ; that is, if it appeared to them that lowing more particular account of this desolating storm, we are indebted to a friend 1

> Mesers. Editors : On Tuesday, the 18th inst. the country west of Salisbury, was visited by one of the most tremendous storms of hail and rain that has happened in any part of this county about 12 miles west of Salisbury, and in its course totally destroyed every crop of wheat, rye, oats, corn, and cotton ;-in short, every kind of crop standing and growing in the field, was completely demolished under its dreadful balance, which they considered as justly fury. Its course was from north-west to southeast, and extended altogether about 3 miles in width, but was not so destructive more than half that distance; but in the distance of at least a mile and a half, its violence was so tremendous that nothing which was subject to injury from it, escaped unhurt. The size of the hail-stones was generally about that of a full grown plum, and some considerably larger; and so violent was the torrent of hail and rain, that into a golden harvest. But alas! how changed the scene ! and with that how blasted that pleasing hope. Where, in the morning of that fatal day, there stood, waving in the full beauty of maturity, the luxurious and golden crop, ere sunset there remained nothing but the awful signs of the most terrible and afflictive dispensation of Divine Providence. But it best becomes those whose lot it has been to be visited by this calamity, to remember that it was from the hand of him who giveth, and of him who, at his own time, and in his own way, taketh away ; and let clock, in Mr. Skinner's field, at the top of the them still bless his name, remembering that what hill, above the l'avern-and much valuable stock, they still possess, is his gift; and let mortals hence learn, that we are at all times dependent on bountiful heaven, for every thing we are and

ANOTHER WARNING !!

Died, in Concord, on Friday evening, the Fist inst. Henry Allemong, of that places The deceased was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun. He had, but a few minutes before, taken the gun from its. place for the purpose, as he said, of shooting another man, by whom he considered himself insulted, and being too much intoxicated, to use the necessary precaution, the gun went off while he was leaning on its muzzle, and the whole of its contents entered his side, and lodged in his body. He lived after the accident nearly 24 hours, in great misery.

SALISBURY ACADEMY.

The semi-annual examination of the male and female students of this institution commenced on Tuesday, the 11th inst. and closed on Friday, the 14th. In the female department it was, as usual, interesting and satisfactory, in both the literary and ornamental branches. In the male, a large number of students were examined on reading, writing, arithmetic, English grammar, geography, the Latin and Greek languages, mathematics, &c. &c. Their accuracy and proficiency were unexampled in this institution. Miss Mitchell and Miss Slater being about to return to the north, both departments will here-after come under the immediate management of the Rev. Dr. Freeman, aided by a suitable usher.

In taking leave of these ladies, the Trustees return them their warmest thanks for the assid-uous attention they have bestowed upon the in-terests of the pupils entrusted to their carc, and acknowledge the high estimation in which they held their coulifications and union the states of the pupils hold their qualifications and uniformly correct and exemplary deportment. It would be superfluous, at this period, to speak of the establish-ed reputation of Dr. Freeman, as a scholar and a gentleman.

The next Session will commence on the 2d Monday in July.

FROM THE CRARLESTON COURSES. - LITERATURE.

We have always regarded our sister state of Connecticut as the Parnassus of America, and she daily affords us proof that we have not over-rated her. We have read, with great delight, a poem entitled " The Age of Benevolence," by CAR-Los WILCOX, of New-Haven. This auit swept every thing before it, leaving the coun- thor combines, we think, the fire and imry through which it passed literally covered agination of Milton, with the beauty and with desolation. Its effect on crops of wheat sweetness of Thomson. In his versificawas peculiarly distressing, as it happened at a tion there are faults, which attention and time when this crop presented to the farmer, experience will correct ; but the beauties full of anxious expectation, the most cheering of his poem so far preponderate, as wholprospect, in its full maturity, and just ripening by to disarm the power of criticism. There is a tale most beautifully interwoven in the subject, an extract from which will at once delight our readers, and justify our own good opinion. It is entitled " Charlotte and Orville," and the passage we select describes the return of Orville to his desolate mansion, after having buried the mother of his children-the wife. of his bosom. When from the burial to his home return'd The broken-hearted Orville, and beheld Around all still, all desolate within-A feeling of his utter loneliness Rush'd on his soul with overwhelming power. Entering his door ungreeted-and unmet-Missing her face, that always brightened quick At his approach-her voice that sweeter grew-On the first seat presented, down at once, As if all strength were in a moment gone, He sunk, dissolving in a flood of tears. When, at his table, in her wonted scat, He first beheld another when he saw Her needle, pen, and pencil-at his wish Untouch'd, remaining just as left by her ; And when he cast an eye upon her plants Perennial, and her aromatic shrubs, or perhaps the anniversary of an event Bropping untimely leaves, and blighted buds, in remembrance a day, which the history He wandered, or through alleys weedy grown The sylvan walks of her accustom'd choice ; At every step some object call'd to mind

ESCULAPIAN SOCIETY.

Charlone, Mecklenburg, N. C. MONG the various sciences and literary pursuits of life, there is none more pre-cini ly important than that which is emphatically styled the healing urt; which brings health and joy to mankind; which counterpoises the frail con-dition of our nature, and meliorates or remedies the miseries which result from the indulgence of our vicious propensities. Several hundred dan-gerous diseases have been known to exist, for centuries past, (and the catalogue is annually increasing,) under a thousand variegated shades and modifications, so as frequently to embarrass the most learned physicians and require the utmost exertion of genius to keep paoe with the progress of disease. This at once shews the importance of the profession, and the necessity of using all possible means to acquire a knowl-edge of all the discoveries that are made in Surgery and Physic. And inasmuch as our State Legislature has hitherto neglected to cherish or support this useful science in any way whatever, a number of Physicians from various western counties of this state, together with some from the adjacent districts of South-Carolina, met by previous appointment, in Charlotte, on the 15th day of May last, and unanimously agreed to associate themselves in the form of a Society, to be known by the name of the ESCULAPIAN SOCIETY, the objects of which are, to incite a spirit of investigation and research ; to diffuse information among the members; to establish such rules as may promote an harmonious intercourse; and to advance the character and forward the interest of the profession, &c. The constitution provides that the Society shall be composed of those who subscrihed at the time of its adoption, and others who shall be admitted under the following regulations, viz : "When any one, who has been regularly educated as a physician, wishes to become a member, he shall make his intentions known to one of the managers, and at the next me ting shall be halloted for, in which case a majority of the members present shall elect or reject; and in case any shall offer for membership woo have not been formerly examined, he or vicy shall be privately examined by the managers,

AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

BALTIMORE, MAY 31 .- Yesterday, the fair was very numerously attended and the show in gencral, such as to reflect credit upon the Farmers. of this State. At this time, we are not able to go into particulars, and shall avail ourselves, as soon as made out, of the official reports of the various exhibitions.

"To many the proceedings of this day will prove yet more interesting than those of yesterday. The reports of the committee will be handed in and the premiums will be delivered to the fortunate competitors.

"The Ploughing Match commenced at 11 o'horses, milch cows, sheep, implements, &c. will be sold at auction in the course of the day."

Among the other interesting events, which on bot conduced to the satisfaction and harmony of the have. scene, it is reported to us, that in a pugilistic, " rough-and-tumble" rencontre, a gentleman said to be from the South, very adroitly bit the nose of his antagonist short of ; and has been honored with a birth in one of our public edifices, in reward for his chivalric exploit .- [B. GEN. LONG.

Extract of a letter, received at Boston, from an American Gentleman, dated at the City of Mexico, April 9.

"1 believe the columns of our newspapers have occasionally given some details of the operations of Gen. Long, who conducted an expedition into this country in favor of the Patriots. Since the adoption of the present government. which is decidedly Monarchical, and intolerant in religion, this gentleman with his officers and solliers, has declined further service-and admitting the undoubted right of the people to frame their Government, have demanded remuncration for their services, and permission to leave the muntry. I found Gen. Long in this city, with a tew of his officers, engaged in settling their claims. The General had brought them, with great perseverance, nearly to a close, and a favorable issue-when yesterday morning, about 8, he proceeded to the quarters of Col. O'Riley, (which are in the Inquisition) to consult with him on the subject. The general was alone. and as he entered the gate, a Cadet on sentry but if there be the disposition, the times shot him through the lungs, and he expired immediately. A veil of mystery hangs over this black transaction which time alone can unmask."

Providential Escape .- During a severe thunder storm, on the evening of Wednesday, 29th ult. Major James Pelot was prostrated to the floor, at his residence about six miles from this city, by lightuing, and remained insensible of his sitnation for nearly fifteen minutes. He was sitting, at the time, at a window at the north end of the house, with the sash hoisted, and writing. There were present nine other persons, who escaped unhurt, as also the building sustained no injury. We are happy to say Maj. P. has a port in Andalusia, in Spain, with about entirely recovered .- Darien Gazette.

FOURTH OF JULY.

We observe that suitable preparations are making in all parts of the Union for noticing, in a proper manner, that day so The last, unfinish'd, labors of her handdear to all Americans,-the anniversary of their independence. No arrangements, in the extreme. To illustrate the powers as yet, which we have heard of, have been of fancy with which the author is gifted, made for celebrating the day in Salisbury; though short, will permit something to be done.

The Hon. John Rhea, member of Congress from Tennessee, commences a circular to his constituents with the following important information : "On the third of August, Anno Domini one thousand four hundred and ninety-two, Columbus. inspired to discover a continent, as he believed, west of Europe and Africa, sailed about one hour before sun-rise, from Palos, a port in Andalusia, in Spain, with about On Monday morning, the 10th of June, in ninety seamen, and some adventurers, in Mecklenburg county, Miss Cecilia G. The above extract is tender and pathetic we select the following simile :

"In his grief he seem'd Like the young tree bow'd low, as from its top Some strong hand tears away the clinging vine, Breaks by degrees the innumerable ties-Of branches and soft tendrils intertwin'd ; But, when quite parted, rising, and despoiled of all its own, with all its borrowed bloom, Standing in naked loneliness sublime."
