lenburg Superior Court, if not previously disposed of, the corner Lot, and House thereon, now occupied by Jonas Cohen, including the

This lot is one of the most eligible stands for business in the town of Charlotte. There are three tenements in the range of buildings, all of which are well calculated for store houses, with counting-rooms to each; and an attorney's office,

Improved Cotton Gins.

THE subscribers take this method to inform the citizens of Rowan county, and counties adjacent, that they have commenced making Cotton Saw Gins on an improved plan. Those wishing to purchase Cotton Gins, by applying to us in Salisbury, a few doors north of the Court House, can be supplied as cheap as at any shop

A Swindler.

A SHORT time since, a man by the name of George Cartwright, a journeyman shoemaker, commenced working with me, and after getting into my debt, absconded without paying.
He went off with a journeyman tailor, by the name of J. Evans. It is supposed he will make for Tennessee, by the way of Lincoln and Morganton. The object of this notice is to put the public on their guard, and let the character of the man keep pace with himself.
ASA TOMPSON,
Concord, July 29, 1822.—11 1/2

Blind Horses.....cured.

THE subscriber wishes to inform the citizens of the United States, that he has obtained a patent from the President of the United States for a new and useful discovery in the method of curing Blindness in Horses. The manner of treatment is simple, and very easily performed.
Numbers of people have given certificates of the great usefulness of this discovery, and others are willing to testify in the same way, should they be called on. The subscriber wishes it not to be understood, that horses whose eyes have become dead, can be brought to their sight again; but, in many cases, where they have been blind from one to seven years, by his method they have been restored to perfect sight, and ever after remained so.

Rights for States, or single counties, may be obtained by applying, either personally or by letter, to the subscriber, or his agent, in the town of Huntville, Surry county, N. Carolina.
A right for a single county will be sold at from 50 to 100 dollars, proportioned to the population thereof. JOSEPH KATYER, Surry county, N. C. Aug. 12, 1822. 3wt26 wishing to purchase will see the premises, which may be done by calling on the subscriber, living near the premises, who will at any time show the land, and make contract for the above heirs. Any person wishing to purchase land in this part of the country, will do well to come and view the above land, as few such tracts are now for sale on the river. Terms will be ac-

Notice to Jailors.

BY AN away from my plantation, in Lancaster District, South-Carolina, on the 5th of Sept. a negro fellow by the name of Peter. He is about 22 or 23 years of age, six feet 2 or 3 inches high, of a slender make, thin visage, throws his head back and speaks with considerable consequence when conversing, has a sore on the bottom of his right foot, which is at present small, but the surrounding scar is larger than a dollar—the toes are useless—but he wears a shoe on that foot. I purchased Peter from Mr.
John K. Vincent, who brought him from Orange county, N. C. near the Caswell line. In returning to that place, he will probably be lodged in some jail; and in that condition, I expect, will deny his name and owner. Any jailor who may have him in custody, will please direct a line to the subscriber, at Liberty Hill, Lancaster District, S. C.—for which satisfactory acknowledgments shall be rendered. JOHN GOOCH.

SILK WORMS.

From the Philadelphia Gazette.

The editors of the Gazette have been favored with a translation of some remarks on the Raising of Silk Worms, grounded upon the experiments of the writer.

From these experiments it appears that the raising of Silk Worms is not only very simple, but attended with little labor, and does not divert the hardy hands of men from the work of their fields, as women, girls and boys, may be advantageously employed in spreading the leaves of the White Mulberry Tree, which is all the nourishment the Silk Worm requires.

Shortly after the Declaration of Independence, many of the ladies of Philadelphia turned their attention to raising the silk worms at their own homes, and they wore gowns of silk of their own raising; and to this day, rows of the mulberry are still standing in the vicinity of that city. Numerous causes could be here enumerated why the good work was not persevered in. But the object of the writer is, to induce thousands, who cannot be more profitably employed, to re-commence, or start anew, in one of the most delightful pursuits—and for this purpose give the following experiment:

In the first week of May, when the leaves of the Mulberry began to expand, the writer, who resides about two miles from Philadelphia, took out of a China tureen, a paper upon which the butterflies of the preceding year had deposited their eggs. The tureen had remained untouched in a closet of an upper room on the north side of the house, where there had been no fire.
The paper of eggs were opened before an open window, in order to ascertain whether they would hatch by the simple action of the atmosphere, without the aid of artificial heat. Between the 5th and 8th of the month, more worms, not larger than ants, were hatched, than he could keep with the small quantity of Mulberry trees he had been able to collect.

In the piazza fronting the south, wainscoted, closed with ten windows, and Chinese blinds, a wire ten feet by four was prepared. The worms attached themselves to the branches of the Mulberry, laid on the paper where they had hatched, and then deposited on the wire frame. An extent of about 18 inches square was at first sufficient to contain the whole of the worms.— The fresh leaves were distributed to them with a free hand. Their growth was so rapid, that in less than a week they were too crowded. Signs of their coming to maturity were visible—small sticks and brush were arranged for them to climb and work upon. By the 3d of June, they had so far advanced in spinning, that a sample of silk was exhibited at the Cattle Show that day, which attracted the attention and admiration of the members of the Agricultural Society. A week after the crop was gathered, and thoroughly smoked in barrels with brimstone, which killed the larva of the worm, when it is metamorphosed into a butterfly, and perforates the ball in coming out. The balls were then preserved that the silk might be spun at leisure.

In cutting open a ball of the preceding year, the dead worm was found to be as dry as powder, and by rubbing it between the fingers, fell to dust, while the ball was free from stain. In five weeks a crop of 25 pounds of silk was gathered, as good in all respects as any ever raised in the South of France or Italy, from worms raised in a piazza, with no other check to the free operation of the air, than what was occasioned by the Chinese blinds, the sashes having been left open; which proves that the climate of our middle states is favorable to the raising of silk worms.

The writer on this subject supposes, that immense quantity of the cods or raw silk may be raised in this country, as well as cotton, and sent abroad to be spun; thereby producing no contemptible source of revenue.

He also offers the opinion, that better goods can be obtained from France and Italy, and at a cheaper rate, by sending them our native cods.
