

Salisbury Academy.

THE subscriber having made an arrangement with the proprietors of this institution, the management of it, with its affairs, has become his individual concern. To his friends and the public, he looks with confidence for a portion of their patronage. In this interesting and important employment, he ventures to promise the industrious application of more than twenty years' experience, assisted with a zeal, excited by a conviction of its importance, and strengthened by habit. To parents and guardians, who may be disposed to place their children and wards under his care, he would remark, that his object has ever been, with the languages and higher branches of education, to unite thorough knowledge of reading, writing, English grammar, arithmetic and geography. In addition to these things, the useful and practical parts of Mathematics, Natural and Moral Philosophy, Astronomy, Logic, Rhetoric, History and Chemistry, when required, will be attended to. In the instruction of females, a regular system will be adopted. The object will be, to render them rational and interesting companions; and in their education, as well as that of the other sex, those branches, which are of the greatest utility in the progress of life, will receive a superior degree of attention. The object will ever be kept in view—to impart his pupils with a due degree of self-respect, to establish correct moral and religious views and habits, and, with parental solicitude, to correct immorality, indecorous, and licentious habits, both sexes, and in pupils of every age, attention will be paid to spelling, reading, writing, composition. In fine, to prepare those committed to his care, in the best possible manner, for their future destination in life, will be his object; and the same attention will be paid to prepare English scholars, as to those who are desirous of higher institutions. Justice to himself, he feels him to state, that, in teaching the Latin and Greek languages, the thorough and critical method recommended by the Messrs. de Porcia, and so admirably pursued at our University, has been, for a long time, adopted. To enable him to effect this, an extensive collection of the most approved grammars and lexicons, among which are the Thesaurus of Ainsworth, the Lexicon of Hedericus, Parkhurst, &c. and the grammars of the Messrs. de Port Royal, Lichtenburg, Goodrich, Moore, Valpy, &c. have been procured; to which his pupils have liberty to refer. To facilitate the study of Geography, an excellent set of Globes, with Lavouze's other Atlases, and an extensive collection of maps, have been provided. The grades of tuition will be five, six, and seven dollars, paid in advance, into the hands of Thomas L. Covey, Esq. who has kindly consented to act as agent for the subscriber.

Valuable Lands for Sale.

By order of the Court of Equity of Rowan County, made in the petition of William Chambers, George Miller and wife, and John Newman and wife, the following valuable Lands will be exposed to public sale, at the Court House in Salisbury, on Tuesday the 24th day of June next, viz.

One tract containing six hundred and forty acres, lying on both sides of Crane Creek, called the Spring Hill tract. This body of Land lies about two miles from Salisbury, and has upon it an excellent dwelling house, where the late Maxwell Chambers resided, and after him John Chambers. It has all the necessary out-houses, stables, &c. Convenient to the dwelling is a house for carrying on the distilling business. There is also fine and productive meadow in excellent order. But the most valuable establishment situated on this tract is the Tannery. This tannery unit, as many advantages as any in the state. It has a large number of vats, in excellent order; all the houses necessary for carrying and finishing the leather, and for preserving the bark; a house for carrying on the shoe-making business, &c.; barrels always obtained at this establishment in quantities, and on very reasonable terms; and there is always ready sale for the leather.

One tract, of about forty acres, lying on the north side of Crane creek, adjoining the Spring Hill tract.

One tract, containing about twenty acres, lying on the main road leading from Salisbury to the Trading Ford, about one mile from Salisbury.

One tract, containing one hundred and thirty-five acres, lying about three miles from Salisbury, adjoining the hands of Wm. Smith, Henry Kern, and others. This land is covered with valuable timber of all sorts; it particularly abounds with fine pine and oak timber, which is valuable on account of its vicinity to several saw-mills. The soil itself is of a very good quality.

One tract of six-tenths of an acre, which will be sold with the last above mentioned tract; it is valuable for an excellent spring on it.

One other tract, of one hundred three and a half acres, lying on the waters of Furd Creek adjoining the mill lands lately owned by Martin Henderman; the timber on this tract is valuable, being so convenient to the said mills.

The conditions of the sale is, a credit of twelve months for one half of the purchase money, and of eighteen months for the other half. Bonds with approved securities will be required.

Sign, Coach, and House PAINTING.

GEO. W. GRIMES begs leave to inform the citizens of Salisbury, and the surrounding country, that he still continues to execute all kinds of house, sign, coach, and ornamental painting. Having procured an ample supply of materials, and having, for a number of years past, devoted almost his whole attention to acquire a competent knowledge of this branch of business, he feels confident of being able to give satisfaction to those who may be pleased to favor him with orders in the above line. Gilding and Glazing will also be executed in a neat manner, and on reasonable terms. He also keeps on hand, for sale, copal and Japan Varnish.

Wanted, as an apprentice to the above business, one or two lads, from 15 to 16 years of age, of steady and industrious habits; to whom, if they prove themselves deserving of it, a good chance will be given.

The thorough bred Horse DION.

WILL stand this season at my stable in Salisbury, and be let to mares at the price of eight dollars the season; five dollars the leap, to be paid when the mare takes the horse, with liberty to turn to the season beyond the mare not prove with foal.

Dion is now nine years old. His dam was by the imported horse Charriot; his sire, the old imported Dion, whose pedigree almost every person is well acquainted with.

Dion certainly ranks with the best horses ever trained on the Salisbury turf, having been a running horse since three years old. During this time, he has won six races—three two-mile, and three one-mile heats; also, the best three in five.

Dion is a beautiful bay, riding fifteen hands high. For muscular power, and elegance of action, he cannot be excelled.

There are a few colts from Dion; and though they are the produce of common mares, they are uncommon in point of size, form and beauty.

The season has already commenced, and will terminate the 1st of August.

DOLON.

THE subscriber having purchased this much admired horse from his former owner, Mr. Hukler, by, will continue him at the stands already announced in the Western Carolinian, and in bills. As a reduction in price seems to be called for by the general pressure of the times, Dolon will hereafter stand at seven dollars the season, four dollars the single leap, and twelve dollars to insure. Any gentleman putting five dollars or more, shall have a deduction of one dollar each, from the above prices. The subscriber hopes, from this deduction in price, that Dolon will meet with such an encouragement as a horse of his qualities merits.

FROM THE NEW-YORK STATISTIAN.

The following stanzas, from the pen of John Quincy Adams, Esq. show the versatility of the author's talent, and prove him to be as skillful at turning elegant verses on infants, as at drafting protocols and diplomatic letters, or writing the iron pen of satire and polemic. The sentiments are both philosophical and classical.

LINES.

Addressed to a Mother, on the Death of two Infants.

Sure to the mansions of the blest,
When infant innocence ascends,
Some angel brighter than the rest,
The spotless spirit's flight attends.

On wings of ecstasy they rise
Beyond where worlds material roll,
Till some fair sister of the skies
Receives the unpolluted soul.

There at th' Almighty Father's hand,
Nearest the throne of living light,
The choic of infant scraps stand,
And quizzing shine, where all are bright.

Chain'd for a dreary length of years
Down to these elements below,
Some stain the sky-born spirit bears,
Extracted from this world of woe.

That unextinguishable beam,
With dust united at our birth,
Shed's more dim discolor'd gleam,
The more it lingers on this earth.

Clos'd in this dark abode of clay,
The stream of glory faintly burns:
Nor unobscur'd the lucid ray,
To its own native fount returns.

But when the Lord of mortal breath
Decreases his bounty to resume,
And points the silent shaft of death,
Which speeds an infant to the tomb;

No passion fierce, no low desire,
Has quenched the radiance of the flame:
Back to its God the living fire
Reverts, unclouded as it came.

Oh Mary! be that solace thine;
Let hope her healing charm impart,
And soothe with melodies divine
The anguish of a mother's heart.

Oh! think the darlings of thy love,
Divest of this earthly clod,
Blank in the bosom of their God.

Of their short pilgrimage on earth
Still tender images remain;
Still they bless thee for their birth,
Still filial gratitude retain.

The days of pain, the nights of care,
The bosom's agonizing strife,
The pangs which thou for them didst bear,
No! they forget them not with life.

Scarce could their germinating thought conceive,
While in this vale of tears they dwelt,
Scarce their fond sympathy relieve
The suffrance thou for them hast felt.

But there the soul's perennial flower
Expands in never fading bloom;
Spurns at the grave's poor transient hour,
And shoots immortal from the tomb.

No weak uniform'd idea there
Toils, the mere promise of a mind;
The tide of intellect flows clear,
Each sense and organ of the mind.

That wrung for them the parent's breast,
Dwells on remembrances in the sky,
Amid the raptures of the blest.

O'er thee with looks of love they bend,
For thee the Lord of life implore;
And oft from sainted bliss descend,
Thy wounded quiet to restore.

Oft in the stillness of the night,
They smooth the pillow for thy bed;
Oft till the morn's returning light
Still watchful hover o'er thy head.

Hark! in such strains as saints employ
Thy whisper to thy bosom, Peace;
Calm the perturbed heart to joy,
And bid the streaming sorrow cease.

Then dry henceforth the bitter tear,
Their part and thine inverted see!
Thou wert their guardian angel here,
They guardian angels now to thee.

Dexterous Punning.—The following anecdote was sent by a young lady to her love, whose name was Nott, a few weeks before their marriage.—The nuptial knot was tied soon after the discerning love decyphered its import.

Why urge, dear sir, a bashful maid
To change a single lot?
When well you know I've often said,
In truth, I love you, Nott.

For all your pain, I do, Nott, care,
And trust me, on my life,
Though you have millions, I declare
I would, Nott, be your wife.

"The HOLY" League.

Who is Alexander of Russia? Who is Frederic of Prussia? Who is Francis of Austria? Why, three men, and men—two of very ordinary calibre. Now, what right have Alexander, Frederic, and Francis, three men of shallow pates, to traverse countries, and to meet and determine, and all this without being requested to do it, the fate and condition of millions?—The upstarts have no right, ideas having hands of raggamuffins at their heels constitutes such right the declaration of which would sanction kicking them off the stage on which they are acting so flagitious a part.

Four Priests, the first a Roman Catholic, the second an Episcopalian, the third a Presbyterian and the fourth a Baptist, met to dine upon a fish. Without ceremony the Roman Catholic helped himself to one third of the fish, comprehending the head, and gravely exclaimed, Papeet caput coclesie [The Pope is the head of the church.] The Episcopalian next took another third of the fish, comprehending the tail, observing Finis coro nat oppus [The end crowns the work.] The Presbyterian next helped himself to the remainder, exclaiming, In medio est veri tas [Truth lies between extremes.] The modest Baptist being left without any thing to eat, took up a dish of drawn butter, and splashed it over his companions, vociferating, Ego baptizo vos! [I baptize you.]

Ancient Manuscripts.—A few of the Manuscripts recently found at Detroit, having been forwarded to Washington City, and on examination by the Professors of the College in Georgetown, are ascertained to be written in Irish, truly classical, with the exception of some fault in the orthography. The subject is chiefly ecclesiastical, and the manuscripts are supposed to have

OIL OF BALSAM OF GILEAD, NOW OBTAINED.

This excellent family oil, which should be kept in every house, is made in the following simple manner. Peel loosely into a bottle of any size, a many balsms of gilead flowers as will reach to about one third part of its height, then nearly fill up the bottle with good sweet oil; and after shaking it a little occasionally, and letting it infuse a day or two, it is fit for use. It must be very closely stopp'd, and will then not only keep for years, but be the better for keeping. When it is about half used, the bottle may again be filled up with oil, and well shaken; and in two or three days, it will be as good as the first. The most alarming eruptions and eruptions of the skin, which are cured in a few hours, by this incomparable oil.—New England Farmer.

ARDENT SPIRITS.

An association has been formed in Upper Freehold, Monmouth county, N. J. to check, "by precept and example," the immoderate use of ardent liquors. This is a most praiseworthy attempt to suppress a growing and blasting evil, and it is trusted, will in a good degree succeed.

Another Victim!

A young man by the name of HENRY FRAZIER, aged about 22 years, a native of Baltimore, jumped overboard from a boat at the wharf, on the 30th ult. in a fit of intoxication, and was drowned.

Mobile Reg. 5th inst.

"LET 'EM ALONE!"

On the 1st inst. a man of temperate habits, in Queensbury, Warren county, N. Y. took his gun, and deliberately shot at and killed one of his neighbors, who had shortly before interfered in some quarrel between him and his wife.

BOSTON, MAY 13.

It is said some snow still remained in the interior of New-Hampshire a few days since.

A vessel that was off Cape Cod on Monday, last week, had her deck covered with snow to the depth of three inches.—Pallad.
