"I do not entertain a doubt of the election of Gov. Pickens. Mr. Owens is elected as our representative to Congress, by a majority in our district, I should think, of more than 3000 votes. The Crawford party here is an excellent representation of long faces, drawn to the life | and the adness of their countenances is the best index to the feelings of their hearts. #### Extracts from an editorial article in the Elizabeth City Star, of the 13th inst.

Not content with holding up Mr. Secretary Crawford to the citizens of our state as a pattern of excellence, and eminently qualified for Chief Magistrate of the United States. the Editor of the Raleigh Register comes out in round terms, and takes upon himself to assert that most or the whole population of the western and middle sections of the state are decidedly in favor of his election to the Pressuency ; and the eastern and other parts of the stare, that he has not heard from or knows nothing about, he presumes (we know not on what grounds but because it is his own opinion,) are likewise disposed to favor his election ; and that finally he entertains no doubt but the whole vote of this state will result in favor of his friend Secretary CRAWFORD.

Now we know the editor of the Regis ter is old and venerable in the editorial department, and in that capacity is entitled to our profound respect; but in this instance we must beg leave to differ with him in opinion ; not only as regards the man best qualified to take the beim of our national ship and steer her with judgment and precision, the next four or eight years, but also as regards the opinion of a respectable part, and we hope a majority of the good citizens of this state. We pronounce it to be our unqualified opinion, that JOHN C. CALHOUN, Esq. the unchanging Republican, the firm Patriot, and able Statesman; a friend to the Navy and Internal Improvement, is the man best Washington, as that of Mr. Calhoun .qualified to fill that high and exalted station, the Presidential chair of a great and magnanimous nation. And although we shall not presume to say (as our brother editor of the Register has done for the people of the west) that all the people of the east are in favor of our candidate ; we will say, that we know many respectable and influential men in this section of country; for whose sound judgment, and deep penetration of men and things, we have the most profound respect, are in favor of the election of Jour C. CALHOUN to the Presidency. And if we are not greatly mis- correct estimate of the state of public taken in our conjectures, there will be many more, previous to the day for the choice of electors; and some few, perhaps, even in the western part of the state, the opinion of the editor of the Register nevertheless.

This is strikingly illustrated in a column of editorial remarks in the last Rateigh have him hanged, beheaded, or to marry it can be shown, with a greater degree of want. As respects the Eastern soction of the State, I affirm upon the best authorigentleman, as well as Guy. Pickhos, are opposed ty, that he will not receive one third of the votes. With these facts, the editors to missionary purposes, states his objections to idency. The following is an extract of a letter of the Register may easily acquaint themselves. We are next informed that the Congressional Elections in this State have resulted in the choice of Representatives friendly to Mr. Crawford, and it is inferred that the people elected these men because they were Crawfordites. However applicable this may be to two or three of the Districts, it is well known that in the others, the elections were not determined on this principle-on the contrary, the question respecting the Presidency was not adverted to. I will admit that a majointy of our Representatives in Congress may prefer Mr. Crawford ; but is their preference to determine the choice of the people, the major part of whom are averse to the election of that gentleman? Cer tainly not-unless, indeed, as in 1801, to this city. They were from a package Congress shall be called upon to elect a President. And even in that event, (the recurrence of which every friend to his country should endeavor to prevent) ] shall expect to see the members of Con gress vote in conformity with the known wishes of their constituents. The Cincinnati Gazette, the leading press in Ohio, in discussing the merits of the Presidential candidates, has the fol lowing sentences under the editorial head " Is there on individual among the prominent candidates, the structure of whose moral feelings and sentiments, the elementary principles of whose character, form a striking resemblance to those of Washington ? We most confidently answer in the affirmative. If since the days of Washington, a star has appeared in our political firmament, whose rising effulgence has attracted the eyes of the American people, and inspired the real friends of their country with new and peculiar hopes and anticipations,-if an individual has risen among us who has checked in the bosom of patriotism the risings of unavailing regret, while it has mourned over 275 a 3 50 ; manufactured, 5 to 20 pr. cwt. the memory of WASHINGTON, that individual is Mr. Cathoun.

We make the following extract from the Ithaca Journal, a respectable paper published in the state of New-York, as containing the sentiments of the old republican party in that state.

"So far as we are acqualited with the character of Mr. Calhoun, he richig mer- and better appreciated. In particular, his its all the commendation passed upon him by Nestor." In fact, upon Mr. Calheun's reputation, put even an unworthy suspicion has rested. He has been an undevialing republican ; and has neither turned to the right hand nor to the left, when the rights and interests of his country were to be promoted or defended. He was the able champion of the late war, and on the foor of Congress originated many of the most efficient measures, and supported all, with an ardor and eloquence unrivalled.
