

SALISBURY:

TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 20, 1824.

PARTIES.

When, at the close of the late war, the old parties began to amalgamate, and unite in the support of Mr. Monroe's administration, there were not wanting politicians who piously regretted the same, declaring that parties were necessary in our government. For ourselves, we freely confess we were glad of it. We were tired of the effects of party rage and noise, and sincerely longed to see peace and harmony once more restored to our country.

Mr. White: The General Post Office being aptly called the brains of the United States, the inhabitants of the little village of Salem were glad to find, in a late Western Carolinian, that part of the brains are to be diffused twice a week to the metropolis of the western part of North Carolina.

[We readily perceive the drift of the above note, from a friend in Salem; and most fully appreciate the feeling under the influence of which it was indited. In penning the short article in one of our late papers, relative to the arrangements of the mail, between this town and Raleigh, via Salem, we were certainly actuated by as kindly feelings as nature has endowed us with; and we verily thought, at the time, we were faithfully transcribing our sentiments into the paper.

MARKETS.

CHARLESTON, JAN. 5. Cotton.—Notwithstanding the general stagnation of business, occasioned by the holy day, some pretty large sales of Upland Cotton were made early in the week, at 14 cents for good fair qualities—but since the arrival of the Fama, from Liverpool, few sales have been made, and they at the former rates—purchasers have been looking for a decline, but holders continue very firm in support of their prices.

CHERAW, JAN. 6. Cotton.—The depreciation in the price of this article, together with the Christmas holidays, have prevented the planters from coming to market; consequently but little has been purchased within a fortnight past. Superior lots 12 to 13 cents.

Just entered the career of professional life, his amiable and interesting young man gave flattering promises of eminence and usefulness. His purity of disposition, his simplicity of manners, and probity of heart, endeared him greatly to his relatives, and secured the friendship and esteem of his acquaintances. Embalmed in the hearts of his friends, his name and his virtues will be cherished with fond remembrance. In his bereaved parents and immediate relatives, it is a source of the sweetest consolation, to feel as if he still lived in the hearts of his friends, and in the hearts of his friends, his name and his virtues will be cherished with fond remembrance. On Jordan's stormy banks I stand, And cast a wishful eye To Canaan's fair and happy land, Where my possessions lie. Oh! the transporting, rapturous scene, That rises to my sight! Sweet fields array'd in living green, And rivers of delight. There generous fruits that never fail, On trees immortal grow: There rocks and hills, and brooks and vales, With milk and honey flow. All o'er those wide extended plains Shines one eternal day: There God the Son forever reigns, And scatters night away. No chilling winds, or poisonous breath, Can reach that healthful shore: Sickness and sorrow, pain and death, Are felt and feared no more. When shall I reach that happy place, And be forever blest? When shall I see my father's face, And in his bosom rest? Fill'd with delight, my raptur'd soul Can here no longer stay: The Jordan's waves around me roll, Fearless I'd launch away.

THE Maid of Orleans (having been detained for repairs more than a month longer than the time specified by written contract) has commenced her regular trips to this place, and arrived this day with a valuable cargo of at least 130 tons Merchandize. She is to be a regular trader between this place and Charleston, touching for freight and passengers at Georgetown, and will stop on the river for any important freights. They will execute any orders at Charleston, Baltimore, Philadelphia, or New-York, in each of which places they have established houses; and they solicit the public patronage for this Boat and their Wholesale Store at this place, only so far as they can make it their interest to use the one, and buy from the other. Connected with the above Boat, the subscribers have established a Wholesale Store, and assure their customers a liberal course of dealing and fair prices,—very low, because their goods have been and will be selected from the principal markets in the United States, and under all possible advantages for buying low; and their profit shall be charged with a light hand, so light as to make it the interest of country dealers and others to get many of their supplies from this establishment. By the Maid of Orleans, they have this day received one-fourth to one-third of their purchases, (which have been made in New-York, Boston, Philadelphia, and at some of the principal manufactories;) the residue of which will be received by the next trip of the Boat, say about the 6th to the 8th of January. A bond advertised. THE public are hereby cautioned against trading for a bond entered into by myself and Williamson Harris, who was my security, payable to Elizabeth Murphy, twelve months after date, and dated the 1st day of January, 1824, for five hundred and sixty dollars. The said bond being given for certain slaves warranted sound and healthy, and believed by me at the time to be so, but which slaves have since been found to have been unsound and unhealthy at the time of sale. POSTSCRIPT.

By Saturday Evening's Mail.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A numerous and respectable meeting of the citizens of Beaufort county, was held in the town of Washington, on the 8th inst. relative to the nomination of candidates for Electors of President and Vice President of the U. S. in opposition to the caucus ticket; John G. Blount, Esq. was called to the chair, and Mr. Joseph Potts appointed secretary—when the following proceedings took place: 1. On motion of John B. Hinton, Esq. it was unanimously resolved, that the tried patriotism, superior talents, unquestionable republicanism, and pre-eminent services of JOHN CALDWELL CALHOUN, fully merit, and in the opinion of this meeting entitle him to the general and undivided support of the freemen of these United States, as the successor of the venerable Monroe.

2. On motion of Jonathan Havens, Esq. it was unanimously resolved, that a Committee of Correspondence, consisting of five persons, be appointed to correspond with our fellow-citizens throughout the State, and to devise measures to promote the success of the People's Ticket. 3. On motion of Jonathan Havens, Esq. it was unanimously resolved, that said Committee consist of the following persons: Wm. R. Swift, Dr. Thomas Telfair, Joseph B. Hinton, Allen Grist, and Wm. V. Rodman. 4. On motion of Wm. R. Swift, Esq. it was unanimously resolved, that propositions be made by this Committee to such persons in other counties of this district, as they may deem proper, and who are known to be favorable to the election of John C. Calhoun, that they recommend to them the appointment of Committees in their respective Counties, to cooperate with the Committee of this County, in promoting the success of the People's Ticket, in opposition to the CAUCUS ticket.

On motion of Wm. R. Swift, Esq. it was resolved, that we recommend to our fellow citizens to support Gen. William Augustus Floyd, as Elector for this District, of President and Vice President of the United States. J. G. BLOUNT, Ch'n. JOSEPH POTTS, Secretary.

Gen. Blount is now one of the people's candidates for Electors; his sterling republican principles, and his faithful devotion to his country, in her most trying times, must endear him to his fellow-citizens, and secure their suffrages. The caucuses now have a foretaste, a slight smack, of what a free people will do, when a set of designing men insidiously attempt to deprive them of their rights. The people will very soon designate candidates in this, and every district in the State, to be voted for in opposition to the caucus ticket.

CAUCUS. The members of the Virginia Legislature congressional caucus be held to hold that a President and Vice-President of the United States. 175 members attended this caucus; the whole number in the Legislature is 236; so that it appears a majority of the Legislature of the "ancient dominion" was mustered on the caucus roll. No one ever disputed that Virginia was in favor of the caucus system; but the majority is lean, to what was expected.

CONGRESS.

IN SENATE.

Jan. 7.—Mr. Rives submitted the following resolution for consideration: "Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to lay before the Senate, if, in his opinion, it can be done without injury to the public interest, such information as will show the state of the relations between Spain and the United States, from the ratification of the Florida Treaty up to the present time—and the effect produced on those relations, by the United States having established diplomatic intercourse with the governments of South and North-America."

The bill for the relief of Francis Henderson, jun. the grandson of the late Lieut. Colonel John Laurens, of South Carolina, was ordered to lie on the table. The debate on this bill was highly interesting, touching upon the distinguished merits of Colonel Laurens in the service of his country, both as a soldier and statesman, and showing the chivalrous character and Roman valor which animated him in the cause of liberty.
