

THE MUSE.

MY FRIEND.

Yes—Friends are false; and beauty's brow Can show the gathering storm; And love can break its youthful vow, And vice wear virtue's form.

THE SCOLDING WIFE.

Noise thunder howls, blue lightning flashes, Against the stars veal ocean dashes, Forth, sky and sea, fire, water, air, Like tipsy Irish, at a Fair,

MISCELLANEOUS.

Graphic Kaleidoscope.—An invention of great importance in the arts, and particularly in bank note engraving, has lately been perfected by Mr. WILLIAM J. STONE, of Washington, by which an endless variety of figures can be produced, in a manner that we believe to be imitable.

THE WIFE.

A writer thus describes her tenderness, "I was a young child when every thing displeased me; when my sufferings had destroyed all the energy and vigor of my soul; when grief had shut from my streaming eyes the beauties of nature, and rendered the whole universe a dreary tomb; the kind attentions of a wife were capable of conveying a secret charm, a silent consolation to my mind. Oh! nothing can render the bowers of retirement so serene and comfortable, or can so sweetly soften all our woes, as a conviction that woman is not indifferent to our fate."

From the National Journal.

A PRETENDER.

Charles X.—A Memorial was presented by the speaker, to the House of Representatives, on Monday, 4th, purporting to be from Louis Charles Duc de Navarre, Dauphin of France, &c. representing himself as the legitimate heir to the French throne, and praying the friendly interference of the government of the United States in his behalf.

As we have not seen this petition, we do not know what proofs he advances in support of his claim as "legitimate heir to the French throne." We infer, however, they were not conclusive, as his memorial was laid upon the table.

As the doctrine of Legitimacy is not so well understood in this country, as on the other side of the Atlantic, some think it would have been more to his advantage, if the memorialist had made application to a Congress of the Allied Sovereigns, instead of the Congress of the American Republic.

FROM THE LOUISIANA ADVERTISER.

Mr. Editor: The following sketches are from the pen of a gentleman, who recently passed several weeks in Washington. They delineate with accuracy to cabinet candidates, and will prove interesting to the mass of your readers.

Secretary Adams is a man of short stature, but pleasing countenance; plain and remarkably mild in his manners, and soft voice. Some think him awkward. I don't think so. I think that he is; if he certainly has nothing of the coxier in his appearance or manners. Others say he is of a cold, phlegmatic disposition. He is not; look at his writings; every thought breathes, an every word burns. He is grave and reserved from habit, not from feigning; no man has a warmer heart.

Those who have seen him in these moments, say he is the most charming and eloquent man they ever listened to. All agree in considering him the most profound scholar, able diplomatist and accomplished statesman that the country possesses.

You cannot imagine how much I am delighted with Mr. Calhoun. He is the most brilliant and fascinating man in manners and conversation that I ever met with. He is slim, rather tall, with an animated countenance, and black flashing eyes. His talents are of the first order. He is now forty two years of age, and has filled his present office six years with unrivalled ability.

My Crawford is a man of gigantic stature, rather coarse appearance, and ordinary but modest deportment. I was not much interested in him. My opinion, as to his capacity as a statesman, has been long in a state of vacillation, and it is by no means settled yet. He may have merits, and doubtless has his faults; but he is conspicuous for neither. In a word, I take him for an ordinary man. His admirers, however, are many and ardent.

FROM THE SWEDISH.

A CHAPTER OF QUESTIONS.

By a Young Lady.

1. How ought a young lady to act when a gentleman, whose visits are not disagreeable, pays strict attention to her, but refrains, for an unreasonable length of time, from making her an offer. And what should be considered an unreasonable time?

2. When the affections of a young lady are engaged,.....are fixed unalterably; under what circumstances, if under any, may she marry the object of her attachment, contrary to the will of her parents?

1. If I find myself prone, constantly, to fall in love with every pretty face I meet, will it be safe for me ever to marry?

2. If my affections lead me to prefer one young lady, and my interest points out another, which shall I choose?

3. If I engage myself, and afterwards find the young lady to be not what I expected, and that my happiness will be endangered by the match, would I be right in breaking the engagement?

A Good Conscience.—How sweet the slumbers of him who can lie down on his pillow and review the transactions of every day without condemning himself. A good conscience is the truest opiate. The Materia Medica cannot supply one half so efficacious and pleasant; and all the nabobs together if they were to unite their fortunes one general contribution could not purchase a similar one.

To prevent the mischief arising from the Bite of a Mad Dog.

Where the excision of the part bitten can be immediately performed, it is the best preventative of danger, or when the part can be burnt out by the application of a red hot iron, little danger is likely to happen. Nothing else is at all to be depended upon.

American Farmer.

To perfume Linen. Rose leaves dried in the shade, cloves beat to a powder, and mace scraped; mix them together, and put the composition into little bags.

English fisher.

Martin F. Revell, Tailor,

ADOPTS this plan of informing the citizens of Salisbury, and its vicinity, in general, that he has commenced the Tailoring Business, in part of John Utzman's house, situated in Market Street, a few doors from the East corner of the Court-House; where he is prepared and will be happy to accommodate any gentlemen who are disposed to patronize him in his line of business, in the neatest and most fashionable style, or to please fancy. He flatters himself, from his long experience, that there are but few, if any, in the country, that can give him the reputation of his work. A fair trial is all in the expectation of his work. The changes of fashion shall be strictly attended to, as he has left a correspondent in the District of Columbia, (where he is last from) who will send him the fashions on, in their regular seasons. He hopes by strict attention to business, to receive a liberal share of public patronage, as he is determined nothing shall be left undone to render general satisfaction.

Salisbury, May 5, 1824. 206

Mansion Hotel,

SALISBURY, NORTH-CAROLINA, BY EDWARD YARBROUGH:

WHO respectfully informs the public, and his friends, that he has taken the extensive and elegant establishment, situated at the north corner of the Court-House, (lately occupied by Mr. James Huie.) The convenience of this situation for business, is equal to any in the place. The House contains a number of private rooms, well calculated for the accommodation of Travellers and Boarders; the Stables are equal, if not superior, to any in the place, and attended to by obliging and attentive Hostlers; his table and bar, will be supplied with the best market affords; and the regulations of his House, such as he hopes will give entire satisfaction to those who may think proper to call on him; and he assures them, that no pains shall be spared to render their stay comfortable and pleasing.

EDWARD CRESS. Salisbury, Aug. 16, 1823. 70

Coppersmithing.

The Coppersmithing, and Tin Plate business, heretofore transacted by D. Cress, sen. will in future be conducted by me, at the same place. Those who favor me with their custom, may depend on having their work done with neatness, durability and despatch.

EDWD. CRESS.

Dissolution.

I HAVE declined acting as a partner with John Murphy, in the mercantile business in Concord, with his consent, and have relinquished all claims to any part or portion of the profits of the concern of Murphy & Sutton.

March 22, 1824. NATH'L SUTTON.

New Store, in Concord.

THE subscriber has formed a Copartnership with William Brown, in the mercantile business, at Concord, Cabarrus county, North-Carolina, under the firm of Murphy & Brown; where they are opening a fresh assortment of Dry Goods, Cutlery and Hardware, selected with much care, in Philadelphia and New-York, and bought on the best terms. They design to continue the business at Concord for some years; and as Mr. Murphy will visit the northern cities annually, to procure supplies, their assortment will be general; and will be disposed of at fair prices for cash, or on credit, to punctual customers. Their friends and the public generally, are respectfully invited to call, examine qualities, hear prices, and judge for themselves.

JOHN MURPHY.

John Murphy,

Has a store, at his store in Salisbury, a large assortment of GOODS, to suit citizens, town and country people; to be disposed of unusually low, for cash, or country produce.

State of North-Carolina,

ASHE COUNTY.

MORRIS BAKER, vs. Alexander Johnson, and James Baker, Sen. et alias: Original bill in Equity. Whereas, it appears to the satisfaction of this court, that Polly Baker, relict of Jeremiah Baker, dec'd. James Baker, Reuben Baker, Lucy Ann Baker, Seeberry Baker, Nanette Baker, &c. &c. infants and heirs are inhabitants of another state, it is therefore ordered, that publication be made in the Southern Carolinian, published in Salisbury, for six weeks, for the aforesaid parties to appear and answer, plead or demur, or judgment, pro confesso, will be taken against them, and the cause heard ex parte. Witness James Hathorn, clerk of the court of Equity, for the county and state aforesaid, March term, 1824.

JAMES HATHORN, c. & c. s. Price adv. $2 50. 1113

House and Lot, in Charlotte.

FOR sale, on accommodating terms, the house and lot in the town of Charlotte, which adjoins Mr. John Irwin's store, on the north corner. Apply to JAMES TORRENCE. Charlotte, May 7, 1824. 76

Store-House at Mocksville,

TO LEASE.

THE subscriber wishes to rent the following property, during one year, or for a term of years, to wit: A lot at Mocksville, Rowan county, on which a spacious store-house, with a good cellar, and a large two-story house, divided into convenient and useful apartments, are erected. Mocksville is near about in the centre of that section of Rowan, known as the Forks. As that part of country, both as to fertility of soil and population, is not inferior to any, a profitable result might be anticipated from the establishment of a trading & shipping, are invited to call and view the premises, and judge for themselves. ELIZABETH M. FEANSON, Mocksville, May 22, 1824. 78

South Yakin Bridge.

THE Commissioners appointed by Rowan County Court, to build a Bridge over the South Yakin river, between the mouth of Second Creek and the Point, will receive proposals for building said Bridge. Persons disposed to contract for the same, will specify to either of the Commissioners the terms on which they can do the job. Contractors will understand that there is to be a good stone abutment at each end of the Bridge, a stone pier in the centre; the whole to be well shingled and weatherboarded. The bridge will require to be two hundred feet long.

LANDERS.

Coach Making.

THE subscriber begs leave to return his grateful acknowledgments to his friends and the public, for the very liberal patronage he has received in his line of business; and informs them, that he has procured a number of workmen from Philadelphia and Newark, which enables him to finish work in a style rarely seen in the western part of the state. He also has a continual supply of materials, of the best quality and most fashionable patterns. He intends keeping constantly on hand, at reduced prices, for cash only, Sulfets, Strick and Panel'd Gigs, coaches, Landulets, Caravans, and Mail Stages, of a superior construction. Repairs done in the shortest time, and in the best manner. Orders from a distance thankfully received, and punctually attended to. J. G. MORSE. Charlotte, March 1, 1824. 96

Notice.

ALL persons indebted to Alexander Torrence, as Guardian of J. J. Worke, are requested to come forward and make immediate payment, or give new notes, payable to A. J. Worke, as he has now taken all the notes and accounts out of the hands of his former Guardian, and is determined to collect his money, or have it secured by new notes. Mr. Alexander Torrence is authorized to settle any accounts or notes. The amount of any debts due the subscriber, during the next three months, and all notes, will be left with him, as agent for me, during that time. This is the last call that will be made; and if not attended to, an officer will make the next May 18, 1824. A. J. WORKE.
