

THE MUSE.

There's beauty in my Jane;
Although her mild and radiant eye
Beams gaily as the arching sky;

There's quiet in my Jane;
It is not in her slumbering hours
That pass so still in summer bowers;

A FRAGMENT.

Dear Sister, I was once as thou art now,
A thing all life and joyance; then my brow,
Untouched by time or care, was smooth, my

The following remarks, by Dr. Dwight, should be read with attention, and impressed on the heart of every being who properly regards his own happiness, the welfare of friends, or the good order of society:
