DR. SAMUEL PARR, LL. D.

The death of this eminent scholar, on the 6th ult. is announced in the English papers. From the year 1780, (when commenced his literary career by the publication of two sermons, till a late period, he frequently employed his pen on critical, political, and theological subjects.

"The Brethren who worked together on the lines on the 8th of January, and the Master workman who directed them."

Miss Preble, whose death was mentioned in our last, at Woolwich, in full health, fell dead at the foot of the bed, while her brother was addressing her in his last moments.

OLDEN TIMES.

One of the Professors of the University, at Chapel Hill, being solicitous to rescue from oblivion the many ballads and patriotic songs which were composed during the war of the Revolution, by the Bands of those times, and sung in camps, at meetings, &c. has laudably undertaken to collect all those in this state that may yet be in existence.

By Timothy Riggs, of Rutherford county.—The Battle of the Cowpens.

By the same.—The Battle of King's Mountain.

By a man in Fredell, name not known.—The Battle of Ramsour's Mill.

By a man in Rowan, name unknown.—A Dialogue between a Soldier and Officer, to the tune, "Banks of the Dee."

The following is a specimen, being all the writer recollects of it:

It was in the summer, no breezes were blowing When we were encamp'd near the Swamps of Santee;

The gnats and mosquitoes around us did hover, The frogs in each pond they sang merrily.

The torrid heat in the swamps were a lying, Beef and rice in the kettles on the fires were frying.

Whilst many a poor soldier in his tent lay a dying, Lamenting his fate in the Swamps of Santee.

Another by John Fleningham, Esq. of Mecklenburg. He was Commissary to the expedition to Wilmington, in the autumn of the year 1781, (since removed near Pittsburg) and made a song describing the incidents of the expedition, to the tune of "Bold Armstrong man."

The following is recollecting as describing the charge of our cavalry on the Highland Scotch at Raft Swamp:

Their swords they drew, And did rush through The tory crew, And bonnets flew, Made them fly helter skelter.

In the late war we had songs, one by a Tennessean about Old Hickory and the Creek War, which was sung in several western counties in this state before the late Presidential Election, and it was admitted, produced considerable effect.

The Grand Jury of the District Court of the United States, (which was in session in Milledgeville when the outrage was committed by the Creeks) has presented the whole Indian nation, for killing Gen. McIntosh, and other chiefs.

In another column, the reader will find a more detailed account of the outrage committed by the Creeks: from which it would seem that a kind of religious infatuation had no small agency in prompting them to commit the excesses.

Philip C. Pendleton, of Berkeley county, Virginia, has been appointed, by the President of the United States, Judge of the Western district of that state, in place of Gen. John G. Jackson, deceased.

More Mail Robbers.—It is stated in the Charleston Courier of the 14th inst. that the southern mail carrier, soon after leaving Asheville, was suddenly seized by two or more robbers, dragged from his sulky, and cruelly beaten: the horse, in the mean time, took fright, and ran off with the mail, and was met and secured by another mail rider. So these desperadoes were cheated out of their plunder.

A man by the name of Stewart, who was employed in the post-office at Montgomery, Alabama, has been detected in having stolen from a letter passing through that office, post notes on the New-York banks, to the amount of $9,900: the letter containing the post notes, was directed to S. St. John, Jr. Mobile. Stewart, to elude the pursuit of the officers, had fled to a swamp, from which he was driven by dogs.

That infectious disease, the South Sea, has been introduced into Milledgeville, Georgia, by a merchant from Charleston. Two or three deaths had taken place (but, at our last account, manuscripts had been taken effectually to check the spread of the disease; most of those persons who had been previously vaccinated, were affected very lightly, and others not at all.

An election took place in the city of Charleston, on the 15th and 16th inst. for a Representative in Congress, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the appointment of Mr. Poinsett as minister to Mexico. Col. William Drayton, the distinguished gentleman whom Gen. Jackson recommended to Mr. Monroe, in 1816, as a suitable person for the appointment of Secretary of War, was a candidate. Mr. William Crafts was Col. Drayton's opponent.

The United States ship of the line, North Carolina, which sailed for the Mediterranean a short time since, mounts 94 guns, with ports in her gang-ways for 8 more 42 pound carronades.

SLEEP vs. STUDY.

A correspondent in the Glasgow Mechanics' Magazine, who describes himself as debarred from reading in the day by business, and as always experiencing an irresistible drowsiness when he takes a book at night, although very fond of it, says he discovered an antidote to this baffling tendency, in a common onion, cut through the middle and placed in close contact with the eyes. Some involuntary tears are of course produced by this process, but the writer affirms that it leaves the eye-balls refreshed and dispels the soporific heaviness.

Eye Stone.—It is said that a grain of flax seed possesses all the valuable properties of the stone.

To wash Calico without fading.—Put a table spoonful of common salt into the suds, and the colors will remain as bright as before washing.

As it should be.—The legislature of Upper Canada have passed a law admitting printing presses, types, and every article made for printers' use, to be imported duty free.

To keep hops for the future use.—Hops lose all their fine flavour by exposure to the air and damp. They should be kept in a dry close place, and lightly packed.

Lord Bacon, on being once asked to drink the King's health, is said to have replied, that "he would drink for his own health, and pray for that of the King."

FROM A CONNECTICUT PAPER.

An intelligent farmer has communicated to us what he says is an effectual remedy against injury to horses and cattle, that may have eaten too much grain: It is simply to administer a pint of melted hog's lard, as soon as the fact is discovered. He says he has tried the experiment a number of times, and always with success.

TO OUR PATRONS.

This week's number (the 260th) of the Western Carolinian, completed few years since its establishment. The course we have pursued, and the humble efforts we have exerted, in conducting the paper thus far, enables us to take a retrospect of our labors with a degree of self-complacency, which, in connexion with an extended and liberal patronage, is a source to us of grateful contemplation; and will remain deeply impressed upon our recollection, when the ill-feeling incident (to times of excitement shall be buried in eternal forgetfulness.

Amidst the acrimony of feeling engendered by the violent political agitation which has just passed by, it were vain for us to expect to avoid the entangling contentions of the time. Although we were studious to allay the asperity of discussion, and neutralize the bitterness of feeling, which some people seemed solicitous only to cherish, between the adverse parties, we know that, in pursuing, as we did, consistently and determinedly, a course which we believed the interest of the people and the common welfare of our country called for, we were no more exempt from the little aberrations and excesses of which such times are always very prolific, than others who engaged in the discussion. Every member of the human family is abundantly in need of the charitable indulgence of his fellow-members; and we acknowledge ourselves debtor to a plentiful share of that indulgent forbearance.

Now that the troubled waters of the political sea are hushed into stillness, and the placid surface indicates a season of respite from the bickerings of political strife, we hope to devote a greater portion of our columns to such essays and extracts as may tend to cherish those social feelings, without which civilized society loses one-half its charms. In the miscellaneous department of our paper, our humble endeavors shall be exerted to amuse the fancy, and strengthen the understanding—to embellish the mind, and refine the heart—to guide the wayward inclination, and point the soul to Heaven. In the political department, it is our desire to discard every thing like intemperate discussion, and unprofitable disputation; but we invite calm and dispassionate inquiry and discussion, on all subjects of national importance or local interest. In selecting political, commercial, religious, or miscellaneous articles of information, we shall exercise our maturest judgment; and, in fine, shall unceasingly devote our time and humble talents towards rendering the Western Carolinian worthy the patronage of those who have hitherto so generously supported it, through evil and through good report.

MARRIED.

In Nash county, on the 25th inst. Josiah Cradup, Esq. of Wake, to Miss Mary Boddie, daughter of George Boddie, Esq. of the former place.

DIED.

At his rest, near Pittsborough, Chatham county, on the evening of the 4th inst. John Henderson, Esq. at the advanced age of 84 years, a native of Scotland, but for many years a respectable inhabitant of Chatham county.

In Franklin county, Alabama, lately, Major Wm. Russell, aged upwards of 60.—The Major was a native of Rutherford county, in this state, from whence he removed early in life to Tennessee, and was an active soldier in the various contests which took place with the Cherokee Indians, both under Gen. Sevier and Gen. Jackson. Indeed, as a mark of respect for his services, which were made known by Gen. Jackson at the public sale of the land at Franklin, no one bid against him for the land which he had made claim of for a settlement, and the Legislature afterwards named the county town in which he resided Russellville.

In London, March 7, Andrew Allan Esq. aged 85, Attorney General of Pennsylvania, previous to the Revolution.

By Saturday's Mail.

"Nero" is inadmissible. We admire his ingenuity, but cannot say as much of his allusions.

Josiah Cradup, Esq. at the last week's session of the Raleigh County Court, announced himself a candidate to represent that district in the next session of the United States House of Representatives, the late representative, is also a candidate.

LUCK! LUCK!

Ticket No. 14,788, in the Maryland State Lottery, which drew the highest prize of twenty thousand dollars, remained unsold at Clark's (a lucky name, a Mr. Clark having drawn the hundred thousand dollar prize, a few years since) Lottery Office in Baltimore.

HAIL STORM.

On Thursday last, about one o'clock, this place was visited by a most tremendous and destructive hail storm, accompanied with thunder and lightning; and one which, in the size of the hailstones, is seldom if ever equalled. An almost total destruction of glass, in the windows exposed to the west, was the immediate consequence. Though it lasted but two or three minutes, the hail completely covered the ground.

Hillsboro Recorder, 25th inst.

From the tenor of the last arrivals from Europe, it is evident that a very extensive and general disaffection prevails throughout Spain. There are still to be found numbers who are eager to exhibit their attachment to the Constitution and Cortes even at the risk of personal safety. The police is vigilant and active in the suppression of every dangerous indication; and numerous arrests have been made in consequence. An attempt is said to have been made to poison the fountain used by the Royal Family. All these circumstances tend to prove the existence of a dissatisfaction among the people of Spain: but whether that spirit prevails to an extent which may reasonably excite the fear of the existing administration, is to be judged from the public prints.

FROM THE (SAYANAN) GEORGIAN.

THE CREEKS.

We are gratified to learn that the late hostile movement of the Creeks is not likely to be pursued. Gen. Thompson, of Gwinet, who arrived in this city a few days since, we understand, stated that the party who murdered Gen. McIntosh had dispersed, satisfied with the vengeance which they had taken; and it was expected would offer no further resistance to the execution of the treaty. "The General was shot about daylight on the morning of the first instant, between twenty and thirty balls entered his body as he stood prepared to address his assailants.

LATE FROM ENGLAND.

On Tuesday, May 17, the packet ship Robert Fulton, Captain Britton, arrived at New York in 23 days from Greenock. By this arrival Glasgow papers to the 19th of April have been received, containing London dates of the 17th. The most important intelligence, is a still further advance in the cotton market, which is announced in Letters from Liverpool of the 18th of April.

Glasgow, 20th April.

"Yesterday an express was received by some houses here from Liverpool, advising the transaction there in cotton, and one of the brokers made considerable purchases at former rates, on which 1 1/2 could now be readily obtained. We annex the transactions at Liverpool on the 18th."

Liverpool, April 18th.

"On the 16th, 18 to 20,000 bales of cotton were sold, chiefly to speculators, at an advance of 1d on Brazil and Egyptian, and 1/4 on other kinds. This day we estimate 20,000 bales have changed hands at a further advance of 1d. on Brazil and Egyptian, and 3/4d. on all American descriptions.

During the week ending the 16th April, 7760 bags of cotton were sold in the London market, at a rise of from one penny to 1 1/2d. per lb. On the 16th, there was a stagnation in the money market, occasioned it would appear by rumors of an unfavorable nature respecting the designs of the Holy Alliance.

London, April 17. Cotton.—The demand for Cotton in our market last week was less active, the sales amounting to only seventy-five thousand bales, viz. four thousand Egyptian 16d a 17d; two thousand Farnes 17d a 18d; one thousand Gambia 18d to ten pence half penny; three hundred Bengal 8 1/2 a 9 1/2; two hundred Smyrna 12d a 13 pence.

Yesterday the demand for Cotton was considerable; about one thousand bags were disposed of, chiefly Egyptian, good quality sixteen pence three farthings and seventeen pence; Madras ten pence; Buras nine pence three farthings and 11 3/4d. The inquiries to day continue considerable.

The illustrious Humboldt, says a Liverpool paper is the president of an association for opening a communication between the Atlantic and Pacific. There are two associations, totally unconnected with each other, for opening communications between the two Oceans. The association of which Humboldt is president, proposes to cut a ship canal by the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, in the State of Mexico; the other intends to perform a similar work by the Lake Nicaragua in the State of Central America.

State of North-Carolina,

WELLSBURG COUNTY.

MR. WILLIAM WYNEN, late of Jasper county, and State of Georgia, hath this day informed me that some false reports have been put in circulation in this neighborhood, relative to his character, and which reports are believed by many good citizens to be prejudicial. This will certify, that William Wynens lived near me during his stay in Georgia, and was esteemed as an honest, correct young man; and so far as my information extends, he left our neighborhood with the same credit that he had formerly done on similar occasions, to visit this state.
