

THE MUSE.

Mark'd you the pale, the wan, the haggard cheek,
The weary brow that trickles from the eye,
The deeply furrow'd brow, the accent weak,

MY FATHER'S AT THE HELM.

'Twas when the sea, with awful roar,
A little bark assail'd,
And pall'd Year's distracting power

IMPROVPTU.

Addressed to a young scape-grace who was neglecting his professional study as a lawyer, and whose extravagance frequently placed him in the keeping of the sheriff's officers.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LA GRANGE.

The Estate of General La Fayette.
Grange is derived (quasi) from grana, gerendo, i. e. bearing grain, and was originally applied to the farmhouse of a Monastery, from which it was separated at some distance.

MOUNT VERNON.

This venerated seat was so called, from respect to Admiral Vernon.
The arms of his family bore for their motto, Ver non semper viret; spring does not always flourish; or, Vernon always flourishes.

SOMETHING FOR ANATOMISTS.

Not long ago, an ox belonging to Mr. Curtis Mallory, of Hamilton county, [Indiana] died of what is called the bloody murrain. A neighbour expressed a belief that there were leeches in the liver of the ox; to test which, he was opened in the presence of Dr. Palmer, Mr. Potts, Mr. Minor, Mr. Mallory, and several others.

A LAME EXCUSE.

An ignorant person went to a scribe, to get him to write a letter for him, who excused himself on account of a sore foot.
" What has that to do with it," answered the applicant—" you are not to carry it." " May be not," rejoined the other " but when I write a letter to any one, I am always sent for to read it—as nobody else can make it out."

Melancholy, studies how to improve itself; and sorrow finds wonderful relief in being more sorrowful.

GREEN GLASS.
A piece of green glass, laid flat on a book, will be of the utmost benefit to those who are troubled with weak sight, particularly to those who wish to read, but who are often, in the most interesting parts, perhaps, obliged reluctantly to leave off.

The President of the United States has appointed Henry Hitchcock, Attorney of the United States for the Southern District of Alabama, in place of Wm. Crawford, resigned; and Alex. Caldwell, Judge of the United States for the Western District of Virginia, in place of Daniel Smith, declined.

When the late speculation in cotton was at the "top of the wheel," it was calculated the American holders of the article would make an additional profit of not less than seventeen millions of dollars on it. It will be well if they get off with a loss of ten millions, on account of the failure of English houses to whom shipments were made; the bills on which have come back protested.

UNITED STATES BOUNDARY LINE.

General P. B. Porter, and the Hon. A. Barclay, American and British Commissioners under the 7th article of the Treaty of Ghent, have held several meetings in Albany last week, preparatory to a final close of their commission.

FROM THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

Our fellow citizen, General Ashley, has just returned from his adventurous enterprise to the Rocky Mountains, bringing with him one of the richest cargoes of fur that ever arrived at St. Louis. He spent the past winter in the bosom of the mountains, and made excursions in the spring down several of the rivers which go to the Pacific Ocean.

In the course of his expedition, General Ashley fell in with a party in the service of the Hudson Bay Company, who are believed to have 1000 men in their employ west of the Rocky Mountains. The riches which this Company are carrying out of the territory of the United States, are immense, and beyond all calculation.

The "National Chronicle," formerly the Columbian Observer, a Daily Paper published in this city, by S. Simpson, Esq. was discontinued last week. Phil. B. Post.

FOR SALE.

IN conformity with the last will and testament of Solomon Hill, deceased, will be sold, at private sale, that well known plantation, in York District, on Allison's creek, ten miles North East of Yorkville, where on formerly stood Hill's Iron Works.

On the premises are a large, new and elegant Dwelling House, a good Kitchen, commodious Barn, Stables, and every other necessary out buildings; and a new Store House immediately on the great road. The situation of the dwelling house is high, healthy and romantic, commanding a view of an extensive and variegated landscape.

The stream on which the Mills are situated has a good fall and affords a never failing supply of water. The situation of the place is an eligible one for many purposes. It is at the point where the great roads leading from Charlotte and Lincolnton to Yorkville, Camden and Charleston intersect, in the midst of a cotton and provision country, and within one mile and a half of an inexhaustible supply of IRON ORE.
