FROM THE BROOKVILLE WHIG.

England.—The foreign news will command the attention of the reader—there has been none so important since the battle of Waterloo. The change of ministry—the elevation of Canning and Huskisson to the first places in the government of the Empire—both of obscure if not unknown parentage, proves that England is closely approximated in fact to a Commonwealth—that the influence of the Commons has completely prevailed over that of the Nobility. It proves more than this—that the situation of England is so critical—her trade so much embarrassed, her manufacturers in so suffering a condition, and her finances by consequence, so much diminished, that the prejudices of 167 [illegible] were obliged to yield to the force of circumstances and consent to the elevation of the popular favorite, Mr Canning, to the Premiership. Geo. Canning, the illegitimate son of a strolling actress, is King of England in effect—the King we presume still exists, but de facto, George Guelph.

Whatever cause the American people may have for disliking Mr Canning—a cause in some degree removed by his subsequent opinions on the Spanish Colonies, and which there is [illegible] exist, that the change of ministry will lead to a change of European foreign policy—yet as the friends of popular rights and as the enemies of Aristocracy, the people of the United States have great cause of congratulation at the elevation of Mr Canning. His promotion is the triumph of the people of England over a few, whose merit lies in their birth—of the Whigs over the Tories—of the popular branch of the constitution over the Aristocratical or hereditary branch. Protestantism will [illegible] England, and when [illegible] rules [illegible] hope that the triumph of Mr Canning will lead to the speedy emancipation of the Catholics and the establishment of oppressed and generous principles of human rights, and that the [illegible] policy of his Predecessor will be exchanged for a firm and decided interference in behalf of liberty. In short we hope a more glorious day was dawned upon England and the world.

—

A letter from Paris states that Spain now pretends to have a navy [illegible] projects for invading [illegible] It is asserted that the French ministry has [illegible] to the Spanish Court, [illegible] that if the Spanish army [illegible] Madrid to send an expedition against Mexico, [illegible] de Paule as sovereign. It was very doubtful whether the English and French cabinets would concur in the measure.

Canada.—The crime of burning a public [illegible] Quebec. Mercury gives the following most probable account of an execution, for robbing the house of a Mr Grote:

The [illegible] from Banister and Mills, Montreal brothers, were taken from the prisons by large parties of the 71st and 73d regiments, to be executed at Point Levis for the robbery. Before the passage boats of that place left the shore of the island [illegible] their destination [illegible] each [illegible] a halter round his neck. [illegible] was [illegible] and even [illegible] passed [illegible] A rope was [illegible] Tower Martello [illegible] the [illegible] to the [illegible] Mr Mills [illegible] de Paule as sovereign. It was very doubtful whether the English and French cabinets would concur in the measure.

Canada.—The crime of burning a public [illegible] Quebec. Mercury gives the following most probable account of an execution for robbing the house of a Mr Grote:

The [illegible] from Banister and Mills, Montreal brothers, were taken from the prisons by large parties of the 71st and 73d regiments, to be executed at Point Levis for the robbery. Before the passage boats of that place left the shore of the island [illegible] their destination [illegible] each [illegible] a halter round his neck. [illegible] was [illegible] and even [illegible] passed [illegible] A rope was [illegible] Tower Martello [illegible] the [illegible] to the [illegible] Mr Mills [illegible] Lazzo wharf, [illegible] the [illegible] was [illegible] distance of two miles. Arrived at the [illegible] guard, [illegible] the [illegible] the Rev. M. M. Kenny and Mills. [illegible] younger brothers, Mr Mills then [illegible] his parents, [illegible] telling him to die like a man, and [illegible] witnessed the execution. In doing this the executioner had put the knot [illegible] well, and on [illegible] the rope [illegible] ted to the rope fell to the ground, he [illegible] distinctly asked for his pardon which of course no person had authority to grant. He ascended the gallows anew, the halter was again misplaced; the knot came under the culprit's chin. he long struggled in agony; the executioner seized his feet and pulled them down while his assistant turned the rope on his neck.

The brothers, after witnessing this scene, walked back to town, and, in a state of distraction, passed through the streets, reproaching heaven that it had preserved his life.

Such, at least, are the facts which we have been able to collect, and which we believe true. After such a scene, we might ask what are the effects of our executions? They are full, we may say, of disastrous evils.

Matrimonial.—Mr. M'Kenny was lately married to Mrs. Mary Jackson, both of Harper's Ferry, Virginia, he being the lady's fifth husband, and she only in her twenty eighth year.

Slander.—Miss Thayer recovered of Mr Bissel, in Montrose, Pennsylvania, a verdict of $1500, for slandering her reputation.

FROM THE UNITED STATES TELEGRAPH.

ASSISTANT BISHOP.

At a convention of the Episcopal Church, held at Harrisburg, last week, the Rev. H. U. Onderdonk, of New York, was elected Assistant Bishop of the diocess of Pennsylvania. The vote was as follows:

Clergy,	26	to	23
Laity, about	71	to	56

It is believed that this is the second instance in which an Assistant Bishop of the Episcopal Church has been chosen in this country. The first instance occurred about twenty years ago, when the Rev. John Henry Hopkins, the present worthy Bishop of Vermont, was elected an Assistant to the Venerable Benjamin Moore, Bishop of the diocess of New-York, whose age and infirmities rendered him unable to discharge the duties of the office.

In the present instance, although an assistant is not so imperiously required by circumstances, yet it is due to Bishop White, who is the oldest Bishop in this country, and emphatically the Patriarch of the American Episcopal Church, that he should be relieved from the more active duties of his charge. The qualifications of Mr Onderdonk are in every respect equal to the reputation to which he has been called, and there can be no doubt that he will be truly an assistant to the venerable superintendant, whose pious, his literary attainments, and for his long and ardent devotion to the eternal welfare of the flock which has been committed to his care by the Bishop of Bishops.

—

The Marriage Question.—At a meeting of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, we learn that the question of revising the Confession of Faith, so far as it [illegible] the marriage of a man with his [illegible] was discussed, and the affirmative [illegible] The Presbytery of this [illegible] Presbyteries of Philadelphia [illegible] Recorder, have [illegible] the erasure. The [illegible] and Baltimore [illegible] Presbytery [illegible] Philadelphia. The Presbytery of [illegible] have decided (we believe unanimously) in favor of [illegible] which [illegible] Presbyteries [illegible] Presbytery [illegible] Presbyteries [illegible] Presbytery [illegible] Presbyteries [illegible] Presbytery