Salisbury:

JULY 15, 1828.

THE PEOPLE'S NOMINATION.

FOR PRESIDENT,
Andrew Jackson.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JOHN C. CALHOUN.

Jackson Electoral Ticket for North Carolina.

We take great pleasure (says the Raleigh Star of the 3d inst.) in presenting to our readers the Jackson and Calhoun Ticket for this State. The Ticket was formed by the people themselves, in their respective districts, and has been announced by the Corresponding Committees to the Central Jackson Committee in this city. The following are the names of which it is composed:

- 1st Dist.—Robert Love, of Haywood county.
- 2d Montfort Stokes, of Wilkes.
- 3d Peter Forney, of Lincoln.
- 4th John Giles, of Rowan.
- 5th Abraham Philips, of Rockingham.
- 6th John M. Morehead, of Guilford.
- 7th Walter F. Leake, of Richmond.
- 8th Willie P. Maugum, of Orange.
- 9th Josiah Crump, of Wake.
- 10th John Hall, of Warren.
- 11th Joseph J. Williams, of Martin.
- 12th Kedar Ballard, of Gates.
- 13th Louis D. Wilson, of Edgecomb.
- 14th Richard D. Spaight, of Craven.
- 15th Edward B. Dudley, of New-Hanover.

These gentlemen are pledged to vote for Andrew Jackson as President, and John C. Calhoun as Vice President. It would be superfluous to commend them to the suffrages of our fellow-citizens. Enlightened, and true country; convinced of the good policy they pursue in assisting to place the distinguished individual in the Presidential chair, who, to borrow the just and forcible language of Mr. Jefferson, is "the only hope left," to correct the abuses of government, and bring it back to its primitive purity; and apprized of the pure and unadulterated source from whence the nomination of their distinguished fellow-citizens, who form the Electoral Ticket, sprang;—the predilections, the wisdom and patriotism of the citizens of North Carolina, will not, cannot allow them to do otherwise than to give it their most cordial and decided support. From authentic information, received daily, from every part of the State, we are irresistibly convinced, without the smallest shadow of doubt, that it will prevail by an overwhelming majority over the Administration Ticket.

CONSECRATION.

On Saturday and Sunday, the 26th and 27th inst. divine service will be celebrated in this place, by Bishop Ravenscroft. It is expected that the new Episcopal Church will be consecrated on Sunday, the 27th: The pews in the church will be disposed of (at the church) after divine service on Saturday, the 26th, when and where the Vestry will attend and make known the terms.

Salisbury, July 10th, 1828. 124

CELEBRATION OF THE 4th JULY, IN CHARLOTTE.

In pursuance of previous arrangements, Capt. Kendrick's company of Artillery paraded at the Court-House, at 11 o'clock, joined by citizens and strangers in town, and formed a procession under the direction of Col. John Sloan, who acted as Marshal of the day: the procession moved then to the brick church, where the business of the day was opened by the Rev. Mr. Cottrell, with an appropriate prayer. The Declaration of Independence was read by Doctor James L. Williamson; after which, an excellent Oration was delivered by K. P. Willis. The business of the day being closed at the church, the procession again formed and marched to Robert I. Dinkins's tavern, where an excellent dinner was prepared by Mr. Dinkins; at which William Davidson, Esq. presided as President, assisted by James Dinkins, Esq. as Vice President. After the cloth was removed, the following regular toasts were drunk followed by a number of volunteers. The utmost good order and good humor prevailed throughout the day, and the company broke up at an early hour, with feelings of friendship towards each other. A Ball was given to the ladies in the evening, at Mr. Dinkins's long room.

REGULAR TOASTS.

1. The day we celebrate; the glorious period of our Independence, that gave us rank among the nations of the earth, may its genuine principles be duly appreciated.
2. Geo. Washington: may his memory be always held in the highest veneration by the American people, and his course through life, a guide to all aspiring men.
3. The heroes and patriots of '76: when eulogising the virtues and valor of the dead, may we be liberal in substantial gratitude to the living.
4. The constitution of the U. States; a basis on which is erected the best form of government on earth; may a liberal construction of its provisions promote the general welfare of the people, and the peace and prosperity of the states.
5. The President, and Heads of Departments of the United States.
6. Agriculture, Commerce and Manufactures; may each be protected so as not to be injurious to either.
7. Our country, and the union of the States; palsy to the brain, and leprosy to the hand, of those that would attempt a separation.
8. Gen. ANDREW JACKSON, and his compatriots in arms in the last war.

9. The Militia of the United States; well organized, armed and disciplined, they are the bulwark of the nation.

10. The Governor and State of North Carolina.

11. Internal Improvement; what nature has denied us, we must supply by art; good Roads and Canals promote the wealth and prosperity of the country.

12. The New States which have been added to the Union; may they always prove valuable members of the confederacy.

13. The Fair Sex; Though last among our toasts, yet first in our affections.

VOLUNTEERS.
Capt. Wm. Davidson: the county of Mecklenburg; the first to declare independence, may it be the last to surrender it.

Col. Wm. J. Alexander: Governor Iradell; distinguished alike for talents and patriotism; N. Carolina is proud of such a son.

Col. Jno. Sloan: that legacy which was bequeathed us by our Revolutionary ancestors; may their posterity support it, until time itself shall be no more.

Dr. Thos. Cottrell: the humane, literary and moral institutions of our country, may they ever find friends in the friends of science, and never fail for the want of patronage.

Mr. Bosworth: Rail-roads and Canals: the best expletives of the prosperity of a state.

Maj. Sam'l. McComb: Henry Clay, and the American System; may they triumph over British policy and molasses demagogues, who brawl out a dissolution of the union.

U. S. States; may their unity of interest be more judiciously considered by the next congress.

A. Torrence, Esq. of Salisbury: the town of Charlotte; famous for its hospitality and patriotism; may the golden dreams of its citizens be realized by pecks of pigodas and bushels of Rupees.

Thos. B. Smart, Esq.: the town of Salisbury; second to none in hospitality; prosperity and happiness to its citizens.

R. H. Alexander, Esq. of Salisbury: the present administration; the best since the days of Washington.

Thos. B. Smart, Esq.; J. Q. Adams; may he, on the 4th March, 1829, have cause to exclaim in the language of Cardinal Wolsey: "Farewell, a long farewell to all my greatness."

R. H. Alexander, Esq. of Salisbury: he that believes that a corrupt compact was entered into between John Quincy Adams and Henry Clay, preceding the late presidential election, is either a knave or a fool.

D. M. Barringer: the patriotic town of Charlotte; a hornet's nest to Cornwallis; may it always prove a sting to our country's oppressors.

T. I. Johnson: Johnston Blakely; Born off the coast of N. Carolina, naturalized in Newbern, educated at Chapel Hill; the ornament and boast of the navy.

Alexander Hodge, a Revolutionary soldier; may the opponents of J. Q. Adams be convinced of their error.

James Dinkins, Esq.; J. Q. Adams; although the shafts of calumny have been hurled at him with the utmost velocity, yet he still remains invulnerable; his arm a fortress, and his name a host.

Dr. Thos. Harris: whoever may be the choice of the American people for President, disappointment and contempt to the man who wishes to obtain office by a dissolution of the union.

J. H. Blake: Henry Clay; who has been repeatedly tried in the political furnace, and found in purity like our own native gold, above the standard coin of the country.

W. Morrison: may the fair daughters of these United States, by their profound erudition be enabled to silence the aspirations of proud man, who has been ready to ascribe to them inferiority of intellect.

Dr. J. B. S. Harris: may the American political physicians reverence the constitution, and ever keep in view, that universal peace, civilization and commerce, should ever be the happy lot of man, and never dream of war being their trade, plunder and revenue their objects.

D. M. Barringer: our distinguished Governor, James Iradell: let N. Carolina always duly appreciate such talents and virtue, and she must soon attain that elevation to which her real worth so justly entitles her. (Drank standing.)

Thomas B. Smart: Gen. Andrew Jackson; Hickory stripes and blisters to the back and tongue of him who would attempt to sully his fair fame.

F. M. Ross: the fair sex, man's most valuable treasure; patisee be the tongue that would deceive them.

A man was tried in Hardeman county, Tennessee, last month, for the murder of his wife; found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged.

Orange county.—James Mebane, Esq. is a candidate to represent Orange county in the Senate of the next legislature. We have heretofore mentioned that Dr. William Montgomery is a candidate for the same honor.

Fourth of July in Lincoln.

The citizens of Lincoln and vicinity celebrated the anniversary of Independence in a patriotic and becoming style. The utmost decorum and harmony prevailed throughout the day; and all, without distinction of party, united in rendering the exercises agreeable.

The Declaration of Independence, and a patriotic address, were read and pronounced by Mr. Beverly L. Thompson: And at two o'clock, the company partook of an American dinner, at Mr. Mcbee's; no foreign dainties were placed on the table, to suit the appetites of republican heroes.

The following Toasts, after the removal of the cloth, were drunk to, not in cups of Madeira, but in pure American wine, manufactured by Mr. Steiner, from grapes the production of the soil of our own country; interspersed with patriotic songs, by Dr. W. W. Morris.

REGULAR TOASTS.

1. The day we celebrate: may the unanimity that prevailed in the Congress of '76, be restored, and may we learn that "united we stand, divided we fall." Song, "Oh say can you see by the dawn's early light."

2. The Heroes of the Revolution: to those who survive, be our grateful care, to those who are gone, our liberty a monument to their memory.— Song, "Scots wha hae."

3. Charles Carroll of Carrollton: the only survivor of the signers of the Declaration of Independence: may another Carroll arise to sign the declaration of Independence of his native country, Ireland. Drank standing, 3 cheers.

4. The President of the United States.

5. The memory of the illustrious Washington.

6. Our political Institutions: the first great experiment of man's capacity for self government; may their duration through all time, make it the last.

7. The Judiciary: our ark of safety amidst the storms of political contention.

8. Jefferson and Adams: on the 4th of July, '76, their hearts united in the cause of Liberty; the 4th of July, '26, their spirits ascended to the mansions of eternity.

9. The army and navy: our right and left arm of defence; may they always be subject to the body politic, the people. Song, "The Hunter's of Kentucky."

10. Greece, who gave letters and science to Europe, has been enslaved by Saracens; Europe awakes, and gives liberty to Greece in return for letters and science. Tune, "Bruce's address."

11. Lafayette: Let him say, like Caesar, "veni, vidi, vici." Tune, "Auld Lang Syne."

12. The American Women: the mothers, the wives and the sisters of freemen. Song, "Wife, children and friends."

VOLUNTEERS.

By Thos. Williamson, Esq. President of the day: the village of Lincoln; the virtue of her citizens is seen in the prosperity of the place.

By P. Newton, Vice President: domestic manufactures; Bacchus has taken a flight from Madeira, and landed in Lincoln, and intends to dwell amongst us.

By Major L. Henderson: the constitution of the United States; the ark of our political safety: may the hand be paralyzed that would attempt its dissolution.

By Robert Williamson, Esq: state rights; may they never fall victims to the power of the general government.

By B. J. Thompson: the press of our country; may the preserving its purity be regarded as the highest excellence of its conductors.

By Carlos Leonard, Esq: Independence; we have assembled to celebrate its declaration; may succeeding generations ever observe the same.

By Daniel Seagel, Esq: the opposers of the tariff; may they soon see their error.

By J. D. Hoke: Our Union; better to suffer partial oppression, than general destruction by its separation.

By J. A. Ramsour: the memory of Clinton, the strenuous advocate of Internal Improvement; may his name be cherished by every true American.

By J. P. Henderson: Here 's to the day that our forefathers bid defiance to British thunder, and firmly erected the holy temple of American liberty over the tomb of British tyranny.

By Major J. Michal: the Mechanics of Lincoln; may they be prosperous while they conduct honestly.

By V. Mcbee, Esq: Agriculture requires protection more than manufactures.

By M. Hoke: A well regulated militia, the main substitute for a standing army.

By G. Lapole: slavery; may the time soon arrive, when this curse, that is hovering over the heads of the American people; shall be swept away.

By Dr. W. W. Morris: the battle of Lundy's Lane; it showed to the British that the fire of the Revolution was not extinguished.

editor of the Journal: there is no such county as Salisbury in this state; neither are there any such "encouraging prospects" as the Journal speaks of: the hottest partizan of the administration would not hazard the expression of such an opinion here; for he would expect to be laughed at by his own party, for perpetrating such a "notion." If the "gentleman" who gave the Journal this piece of veracious information, belongs to the town of Salisbury, we will lay a wager, of one year's subscription to the Carolinian (for we have no money to bet) against ten grains of talcum, that he cannot publicly avow himself here, without exposing himself to the derision of his own party. You had better talk of Mr. Adams's prospects in England, than in North Carolina: the people are too republican here.

The Auction System..... We have been satisfied, for some time, of the evils, the mischievous effects of the auction system, particularly in the present excessive extent to which it is carried in the large cities. This grievance has been long felt, and complained of, but, until lately, endured; finally, perceiving that the calamitous tendency of this gambling mode of disposing of goods, had brought about a state of things nearly insufferable, the merchants of New-York recently held a public meeting, and set forth their reasons, in resolutions, and an able address, why the present auction system ought to be abolished, or a heavy duty levied by act of congress on sales at auction. Our columns are so engrossed, at this time, with the insertion of two long advertisements, and the publication of the U. S. laws.... (which have a strong claim on our attention, as such things are the only profitable part of our business).... that we are reluctantly compelled to omit the publication, entire, of this document, which has emanated from the whole body of New York merchants. The merchants are determined not to suffer this subject to be made a political handle of; it is a question of abstract right and justice, and in that light it will be presented to Congress, at its next session, in a memorial, for the consideration of the representatives of the people, as a national evil. As we can find room, we shall make extracts on this subject, that the people may be made acquainted with the grievance, and be induced to second the efforts of those of their fellow-citizens who are engaged in mercantile pursuits, in seeking redress.

The Attorney General.—The members of the Supreme Court, and the members of the bar in attendance, met on the 30th ultimo; and it was resolved to wear crape 20 days, in respect for their deceased associate, James F. Taylor, the Attorney General.

The Governor has called a meeting of the Executive Council, to take place on Wednesday, the 30th ult. to appoint an Attorney General, in place of James F. Taylor, deceased.

The letter of "Adam," and the reply of "Eve," are received, and shall be duly considered, as soon as we can find time to read them attentively. They cannot, we apprehend, suffer much from a short delay, being, as we should judge from the antiquity of the ostensible authors, relics of "times long gone by."

The communication of "An Orange Voter," shall be published shortly, as soon as we can dispose of some other matter, that has a prior claim on our columns.

Junius.—A book has been published in Boston, to prove that Lord George Sackville was the author of the celebrated letters of Junius.
