A SALE OF VALUABLE
Green River Lands.
STATE of North Carolina, Supreme Court, December term, 1828. Kesannah Pickett and others, vs. Susannah Johns and others. By virtue of a decree of the Supreme Court, made in said cause, on Monday, the 16th day of March next on the premises, I shall expose to sale, to the highest bidder, that valuable tract of Land and Plantation, lying in Rutherford county on both sides of Green River, where the Road to Middleburg crosses the said River, now in occupancy of James McKinn. The tract contains, it is supposed, about 1000 acres; of which, a large proportion is dry swamp, of a quality excellent by none on the River. On the tract are good orchards of fruit; and adjoining it, is a most excellent range for stock. It is advantageously situated for a Drovers, and has been valued at from 6000 to $8000.
Terms of sale: purchase money to be paid in three equal instalments, at 12, 18, and 24 months, with interest from the day of sale, and to be secured by bonds, payable to me, with approved securities; no title will be made till the payment of the purchase money, and then only under the direction of the Court.

A certain Cure for Intemperance.
THE subscriber has discovered a certain remedy for those who are unfortunately addicted to that most stretched of all vices, the too free use of ardent spirits, a single trial of the prescription will prove its efficacy. Letters addressed to the subscriber, post paid, enclosing two dollars will be promptly attended to, by a remittance of the medicine and directions.
WM. L. AUSTIN.
N. B. Printers friendly to the cause of the unfortunate drunkards, will please give this an insertion.

Salisbury Light Infantry Blues.
YOU are required to appear in full uniform, at the Court-House in Salisbury, on Saturday, the 28th day of February next, the last Saturday in the month. As Capt. Lemly intends resigning, having been appointed Adjutant of the regiment, you will be required to elect, on that day, some suitable gentleman as your Commander; it is particularly desirable, therefore, that every member of the company should be punctual in his attendance.
By order: JOHN H. HARDIE, Sec'y.

225,000 acres of LAND FOR SALE!
THE subscriber will sell two hundred and twenty five thousand Acres of LAND, lying in the counties of Buncombe and Haywood in the state of North Carolina, on the waters of Swannano, French Broad, Tuckasee and Occochee Rivers. The healthiness of this section of North Carolina is well known. The Land is of a good quality, and for grazing, surpassed by none, even in the more western states. It lies generally in large bodies; but will be sold in quantities to suit the convenience of purchasers, except one tract of fifty thousand acres, lying on both sides of the French Broad River, partly in Buncombe and partly in Haywood counties, on which large and rich banks of Iron Ore have recently been discovered. Terms will be made accommodating, by the agent, who may generally be found in Asheville. JAS. COOK, Agent.

POETRY.
THE BOWL WE TIP.
BY THOMAS MOORE.
The bowl we tip,
When love we sip,
Contains both sweet and sour;
And those who drink,
Must never think
To escape their acid power.

The bliss we sip
From beauty's lip,
Is gone as soon as tasted;
And of our time
Spent in our prime,
Of life, in love is wasted.
For though these flows
From love's young rose
The sweetest sweets; there glitter
Nestle every leaf
The hour of grief
Of life in the blue flowers
Then when you dip
Your trembling lip
In Cupid's bowl, prepare
To leave behind
Your peace of mine,
Or never venture there.

TWO WONDERS.....A Dialogue.
Tom.
I woman once, as it is sung,
Should speak so loud without a tongue,
That you could hear her full a mile hence,
Dick.
A greater wonder I can tell:
I knew a woman very well,
That had a tongue, and yet kept silence.

Epitaph on an Infant.
He took the cup of life to sip,
Far better 'twas to drain;
He put it quickly from his lip,
And went to sleep again.

Inscription for a Gaming House.
Three ample doors this mansion bath,
Their names—hope, infamy and death;
The first alone for entrance made,
The others are for those—whose played.

M.M.
Not he first fell from Eden's happy place;
Not he entailed destruction on our race;
He, like all men, both subjects and their kings,
Was wise enough, till led by apron strings!

From the Newbern Spectator.
Reflections of a Member of Assembly towards the close of the Session.
We still sit here in cool debate,
While the people still on us do wait,
Expecting daily to hear good news;
But the longer we sit the worse confus'd.

We meet at ten and sit till two,
And then debate, but nothing do;
The State is no better, the law no worse,
And nothing done that's worth a curse.
We have been sitting here near fifty days,
To legislate in various ways;
I think we had better now adjourn,
Lest we take some worse turn.
(If that a poet.... and what a Legislator, too?)

DIVERSITY.
DEATH.—To a notice of a sudden death, the editor of a paper in the interior of this State adds the following:
"This affords another proof of the uncertainty of human life.
Surely it does mingle with the world of proof before us—but why note it as such? No one doubts that the sun shines; yet, who adduces proofs of the fact from occasional instances? The world is full of death—man walks among the spirits and over the abode of his ancestors, a single life in a wilderness of death. All that we see, and all that we admire, is only the going out of life, and the advent of death is all.

What is it that has thinned the circle of our acquaintance, dimmed the bright eyes, and hushed the mirthful voice? What is it that makes so many "mourner's go about the streets?" What is it that has strewed the lilies upon the visages of her to whose beauty youth did reverence; and what palsies the hand that traces this scroll, almost illegible by the sinuosity of the lines—and what sends the blood feverishly to the throbbing head, (and why not the swelling heart that indites it?)—What but Death, Death, Death! And he who would talk of "proofs of the uncertainty of human life," should hold a court of inquest in a charnel house, and summon the dead men's bones to give testimony between life and death.

RELIGION IN INDIANA.
Extract of a letter from the Rev. W. Sickels, to the corresponding Secretary of the General Assembly's Board of missions; dated Indianapolis, Nov. 23, 1828.
The state of religion in the Presbyterian church in Indiana is at this time, more promising than at any former period. During the summer and autumn, many congregations have been favoured with the special influences of the Holy Spirit. More than 400 persons have been added to the Presbyterian church in this state, on confession of their faith, during the past year, and it is believed a more lively interest is manifesting itself in the benevolent and religious operations of the day than heretofore.

CURES FOR RHEUMATISM.
A correspondent of the Albany Daily Advertiser informs the editors of that paper, that during a short confinement from an attack of Rheumatism, his kind friends and neighbors have visited him, and recommended, beside a great many more, the following infallible remedies for that disorder:
"Blue clay mixed with vinegar and salt, applied cold to the part affected; beef brine applied hot; live angle worms, put on crawling; pulverized brimstone and turpentine, mixed; cider and brandy and red pepper, bathe the part and drink plentifully; raw musk rat skins, fur next to the part affected; rattle snake's oil; tar, brimstone and saltpeter, mixed to a salve and applied hot; skunk's grease; the marrow of a horse's off hind leg; gin and saltpeter, to drink; camphor and alcohol; bark of mountain ash steeped in brandy; root of skunks cabbage, made a poultice of; marrow of hogs jaws, oint with it; hops steeped in vinegar; rattle snakes skins, bound around; slices of fat pork spread with pulverized saltpeter, and applied; carry a certain bone of a certain animal in my waistcoat pocket nine days; ginger and ground red pepper, mixed with hogs lard; old shoes, burnt to charcoal, pulverized and mixed with raw whiskey and vinegar, drink nine spoonful a day; friction of the part affected by the hands of a pure blooded African; equal parts of wild turnip, Cayenne pepper and gunpowder, steeped in cider brandy, nine spoonful a day, nine days in succession. This is an antidote to inflammation with a vengeance to it: my teeth are yet blazing like light-wood."

Divorces in France.—The following is the system of divorce in France. If either the man or woman wish to be divorced, they must give notice of it to the Prefect, and six months' time is necessary before it takes place; in the interim the necessary arrangements for the maintenance of the children are as follows:—"The girls are generally consigned to the care of the mother, and the boys to the father; a very minute investigation takes place of the father's or mother's fortune, so that the children are certain of being provided for." If a man is rich, and is the party that sues for the divorce, he must return all his wife's jointure, and settle a maintenance on her for life. If a woman sues for the divorce, the wife must return every article of present she has received from her husband, even before marriage. The woman is not compelled however, to maintain her husband, after divorce, but must her children. If the father marries, and has heirs by his last marriage, the children by the former wife have the same claim to the patrimony as the others.

Requisites.—There are five requisites for a professed drunkard:—A face of brass; nerves of steel; lungs of leather; heart of stone; and an incombustible liver.

At a turkey shooting and card playing frolic in Dummerston, Vt. on the 19th inst. a rifle was accidentally discharged, and the ball went through the side of the house into the room among the card players, where it passed through the thigh of one person and the body of another. The latter died in about an hour after the accident.

Industrious apprentices.—The master of a ship walking on deck called into the hold, "Who is there?" A boy answered, "Will, sir." "What are you doing?" "Nothing, sir." "Is Tom there?" "Yes," said Tom. "What are you doing?" "Helping Will, sir."

A neat one.—The Boston Palladium, in given an account from another paper, of the bad custom of suffering dogs to enter houses of worship, observes:—"This evil does not exist in Boston. The dogs, instead of disturbing divine service, go out of town with those who have no time to attend meeting."

Husks, &c.—Cobbett states that he has received from a paper manufacturer at Guilford, fifty sheets of paper made from the husks of his own corn, which he had only sent off the week before. This, he says, is a discovery absolutely without a parallel, and will save the nation a million a year; sent out of it for rags. He says he will cancel the title-pages of his book, which is already printed, for the purpose of having the title-pages printed on paper made out of the husks of the corn itself.

New-Year's Tax.—The custom of making a levy on the pocket in the shape of New-Year's presents, is very humorously treated in the Boston Galaxy. A girl went to a respectable merchant, and said "Papa wishes you a happy new-year, and says he will take the pay in loaf sugar."
The Berkshire Wit.

Tricks in Trade.—A pair of elegantly matched ponies, belonging to the south were on a visit to this city, and on inspecting one of them closely, the animal was found to have a glass eye, a close resemblance to the natural one, and the animal blink'd, closed the lid over the artificial as well as the real one. It seems that a nail in the manger had struck out the eye of the horse, which being a favorite with his master, was carried to Doctor Scudder who soon remedied the defect by a large artificial one, fixed in with great neatness. The defect is not easily seen.
Noah.

Method of Preventing Milk from Turning Sour.
Put a spoonful of wild horse radish into a dish of milk; the milk may then be preserved sweet, either in the open air or in a cellar for several days, whilst such as have not been so guarded will become sour.

A cause was lately tried, which originated in a dispute about a pair of small clothes. The judge, who was a noted punster, observed, it was the first time he had ever known a suff made out of a pair of breeches.

It is said of Sir Isaac Newton, whose researches into the wonders of creation astonished the world, that he never mentioned the name of God without moving his hat or showing some mark of respect.

A Chinese Proclamation.—In a proclamation of the Emperor of China, called forth by the troublesome increase of appeals from the provinces, his Celestial Majesty has enjoined strict search to be made to discover all law suit exciting blackguards, and when found, to punish them severely. Globe.
[If his Celestial Majesty would send a few of his officers here, we could put them in the way of catching a pretty large lot of "law-suit-exciting blackguards."] Noah.

A letter from Smyrna says the Turkish regular troops there, officers and soldiers, have their Koran in a large silver box, hung round their necks. Previous to going into action, one or two chapters are read aloud, after which they sing, and then commence the battle.

A dwarf, said to be a native of Mexico, only 32 inches high, and 51 years of age, is exhibiting at 50 cents a sight in Augusta. Amongst his performances are dancing, sword and gun exercise, &c.

Fashion.....and Intemperance.
The New-York Enquirer is of opinion that Fashion kills six where Intemperance carries off one! The number of people that yearly die with consumption, is appalling. And in most cases, this disease is proximately caused by the pernicious fashion of tight lacing, &c. Intemperance is a low, vulgar, disreputable vice. It requires only to be seen to be despised. It strikes the senses at once. But the parent of consumption—the parent of that disorder which slays her thousands and tens of thousands, is permitted to walk abroad in the world without molestation. She is arrayed in the habiliments of gaiety; and who can suppose she carries death under her smiling exterior? She comes forth in the morning, glittering with the gold of Ophir, and flouncing in the modes of France. Who can resist her allurements? She visits every fashionable resort in the country; delight, wit, and exaltation follow in her train. Who can believe that death hangs upon her footsteps? The palace is illuminated by her smiles; the ball-room is brilliant with her presence; and every public occasion borrows half its delights from her arts and her fascinations. Vanity, pride, affection, every vice, and some of the virtues of civilized society, minister to her gratifications, and swell the number of her victims.

Anti Duelling Medal.—The premium of a Gold Medal offered by the Anti Duelling Society of Savannah, Geo. for the best essay on Duelling, has been awarded to Wm. Jay, of Bedford, Westchester county, New-York. Twenty-two essays were received.
