EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM A FRIEND IN ONE OF THE UPPER COUNTRIES.

"I wish you would publish Mr. Calhoun's address, as soon as you possibly can, for the Adamsites about here have got hold of a Greenville paper, and from this they try to prove, that he is a nullifier. I have not seen this Greenville paper, but am told, that the Editor acknowledges, that he never saw the address, and only has been told, that such is the fact. Such a fellow, as this, is not fit to edit an Almanac. I have read Mr. Calhoun's publication, which was sent to Mr. ——. I have read it over twice, and can see nothing in it which a Republican can disapprove. I always thought Mr. Calhoun an honest and able man, but never have been one of his partisans; nor am I now; but I must say this address has raised me in my opinion. In the days of terror, I mean in 1798, I took sides with the state-rights party. We put down old John Adams and put up our man Tom Jefferson. I have ever since stuck to the same opinions and am determined to carry them with me to my grave. In 1828 did we not turn out the other John Adams, and put in old Andrew Jackson on the same principles?"

I saw in your paper of the Star (I don't remember which) some resolutions that were adopted by the last Legislature of this State, on the subject of state-rights. I liked them very much, only I thought the composition bad. Mr. Bynum seems to have good principles, but he don't write like Jefferson. These are equally times, and I hope our next Legislature will pass more resolutions asserting State rights. If they are Republican they certainly will. We cannot too often recur to first principles.—it is the only way to keep the rising generation straight."

[It will be seen that we had complied with the wishes of our old correspondent, even, before his letter came to hand.] ED. CAR.

UNFAIR TREATMENT OF MR. CALHOUN.
MR. CRAIG.

I am no partisan of Mr. Calhoun, but I feel indignant at every candid man must, at the unfair treatment, he is receiving from the Clay Editors who attempt to comment on his address. The Editor of the "Yadkin and Catawba Journal," without giving his readers a chance of judging for themselves by laying the Vice Presidents publication before them, fills a whole column with strictures on it,—calling it "nullification," and the author "nullifier;"—and then very meekly concludes by saying — but "Not wishing to do any injustice to Mr. Calhoun by forestalling public opinion, we shall make no additional remarks on his exposition, until we commence its publication."—This is really very kind—it is the very quintessence of impartiality;—but of that sort, for which the Editors of the Journal, of the Camden paper, and of the Greenville paper, have been long distinguished. All of these worthy Editors, it should be remembered, were "manufactured in New England."

But let us see how this impartial Editor Mr. Bingham, proves that Mr. Calhoun is a nullifier. Here are his words,—speaking of Mr. Calhoun and his address, he says—"The Constitution he says is a compact to which each State is a party, &c. This is the proof that Mr. Calhoun is a "nullifier" because he holds "that the constitution is a compact, to which each State is a party." If it is nullification to hold this doctrine then, there are a great many "nullifiers" in North Carolina, and I hope always will be. The last Legislature had a large majority of them, for the House of Commons passed resolutions asserting the same principles,—and it is to be hoped, that the next session, will do the same. This is the very doctrine that every "Republican" in the land places as the first article in his creed. When I say "Republican," I do not mean your new sort of "Republicans," who seek to cover their dangerous principles under the shadow of a popular name. I mean the old fashion Republicans, who hold to the principles of 1798, and who stand up for the "rights of the States."—What man of intelligence but knows that they are the very principles that carried Thomas Jefferson into power, and for the want of them, old John Adams was turned out.

These are the very principles that sustained Madison and Monroe, for sixteen years. These are the very principles, that in a great measure carried Genl. Jackson into office, and the violation of which carried the second John Adams his office and shatters out. But, according to your impartial neighbor, this is "nullification." If Mr. Calhoun is a nullifier, because he holds—"that the Federal government is a compact to which the States are parties," then Mr. Jefferson must likewise be a nullifier for he says—"The several States composing the United States of America, are not united on a principle of unlimited submission to the general government; but by compact, under the title and style of a constitution of the U. States, &c."—That to this compact each State acceded as a State, and is an integral party,—its co-states forming, as it itself, the other party"—Mr. Madison according to must also be a nullifier, for he holds the same doctrine. He says—"The States who are the parties (to the constitution) have the right, and are in duty bound to, interpose for arresting the progress of the evil, &c."

Mr. Craige, it is very easy to see through the schemes of these Editors who do not wish "to forestall public opinion." They flatter themselves that our present chief-magistrate will not be a candidate for reelection, and that, then, they can force Clay on the nation by laboring before hand to prejudice the public mind against Calhoun and every other Republican spoken of. This is their calculation but it never will succeed. If contrary to expectation Genl. Jackson should decline a reelection, Mr. Calhoun may not succeed him, Judge McClain, may not, nor, may Mr. Van Buren,—but one thing is certain, it will not be Henry Clay. The people are not yet ripe for a change of our government. We are not yet ready for the blessings of the "American System" nor for Henry Clay.

A NATIVE OF NORTH CAROLINA.
N. B. Since writing the above, I have seen the Raleigh Register—the comments of that consistent paper are what we might suppose. Should Henry Clay be elected to the presidency, then Gales & Weston may stand some chance to be elected public printers. "When the sky falls, we will catch larks."

THE ELECTIONS.

KENTUCKY.
We learn that Messrs. Daniel Johnson, Lecompte, Adair, Wickliffe, and Galtier, are certainly re-elected; and that Mr. Lyon will be, we have but little doubt. Telegraph.

INDIANA.
In this State, Gen. McCarty is elected by a majority of about 800 votes over Mr. Test; and it is believed that the entire vote of the State will be opposed to Mr. Clay. ib.

ILLINOIS.
We have no returns from this State; but a judicious and well informed correspondent informs us, that Gen. Duncan will be re-elected. ib.

MISSOURI.
Mr. Pettit had a gain of about 400 votes over the opposition vote in the county of St. Louis. This increase was no doubt, caused by a personal attack made upon him by Major Biddle, of the United States' Army; and we have no doubts of his re-election by an increased majority. It will be seen that Mr. Clay's prospects of election are at an end. He cannot get a single western vote in the House of Representatives. ib.

It will be seen by the following that our friend Schuyler has had the good luck to sell the ticket which drew the $10,000 prize in a late N. York Lottery.....Schuyler after all is the luckiest fellow, that we know of, in the lottery line.

FROM SCHUYLER'S LOTTERY HERALD.
We stop the press to announce the sale of the HIGHEST CAPITAL PRIZE, of $10,000! in the Lottery drawn this day, at my Office, to a Gentleman in this City. No. 6 46 53 of the GRAND CAPITAL OF 10,000! Was actually Sold by SCHUYLER, last Wednesday evening. Also many other splendid Capitals too numerous to mention.

Counterfeit Notes.—We were shown a few days since, says the Memphis (Tenn.) Advocate, ten counterfeit $10 notes on the following branches of the United States Bank, viz: nine on the branch at Fayetteville, and one on the branch at Lexington Ky. They are marked with the letter D, and are of the same plate, which is coarsely engraved and easily detected. Those on the Fayetteville branch are payable to D. Anderson, and bear date the 2d day of July, 1827; the one on the Lexington branch is payable to I. Fowler, and bears date February, 1828

A child about eight years old was run over by a cart in Eldridge street on Saturday afternoon and killed instantly. The three persons who were in the cart were arrested, and committed to Bridewell by Justice Wyman upon a charge of manslaughter. N. Y. Journal of Commerce.
