

From the Jeffersonian & Va. Times.

THEIR GREAT NOT SAY, ERID IS.

Macbeth.

Federalism is in full bloom. At no time... not even in the "palmy State" of the Adams dynasty...

But the obedient instrument of Jackson's ambition in this city, tells us still, that he is "earnestly endeavoring to reduce the Tariff."

MR. WEBSTER.

Among the gamblers in politics—a tribe which has increased with fearful rapidity within the last few years—there is no one who has less to lose...

In 1823-4, Daniel Webster, came out from among his old associates of Hartford memory, and offered his services to the South to put down the Tariff.

It is well known in Washington, that Mr. Webster has become a great favorite at the Palace of the Cam.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

We give this document and Mr. Calhoun's commentary upon it. No man is to be trusted with the powers which it bestows to clothe the President...

Representatives hold the purse strings—but he who holds the sword can cut them. "Give me men" says Caesar...

Daunille (Va.) Reporter.

FROM THE RALEIGH STAR.

We are Southern men, and go for Southern principles, and so do this the more heartily, because we conscientiously believe they are the true principles of the Constitution.

It is feared that it will so inspire the Tariff party, that they will relax or yield any portion of the "leaves and bays" of the protective system...

From the Jeffersonian & Virginia Times.

THE TRUE QUESTION.

Distinct from the constitutional principles, which, indeed, involve all that is dear to man,—all that is sacred to Liberty, the present issue between South Carolina and Andrew Jackson...

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

The following is anonymous, but not improbable. The reader is desired to attach to it what credit he pleases:

SOUTH CAROLINA TRIUMPHANT—AND NULLIFICATION ESTABLISHED!

A rumor is afloat, founded upon pretty plausible data, that Mr. Clay, to save the effusion of blood, and restore tranquility to the nation, has offered to Mr. Calhoun...

From the Washington (N. C.) Union.

The Richmond Whig contains an admirable letter from a gentleman in Washington City, who it is said, is a man of high character, and a long and devoted friend of Andrew Jackson.

We make a short extract from the letter.

The writer, after speaking of the reading of the President's Message to the Senate, says: "As soon as the reading was over, Mr. Calhoun addressed the House..."

quivered not, nor his finances faded him, the large tear drop burst forth from his flaming eyes, and rolled over his burning cheek...

The editor of the Jeffersonian, indulging in some remarks on Mr. Calhoun, says:

"We have seen other letters from some who heard Mr. Calhoun on the same occasion; and who speak in equally strong terms of the speech."

THE CONTEST OF '78 AND '83.

Every well informed reader, must be struck with the wonderful resemblance which the present contest in our government bears to the contest of '78 between BUNGLE and the Colonies.

GREAT WHIG MEETING IN CHARLESTON.

On the 23rd of January a very numerous meeting of the WHIGS of Charleston took place between two and three thousand persons were present.

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

and it is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

and it is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

and it is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

STATE INTERPOSITION.

It is by no means an improbable case, to suppose that Congress should pass an act declaring that all the slaves should be set free...

THE UNION—HOW TO PRESERVE IT?

"The Union must be preserved" is a sentiment cherished by a very large majority of the States, and the means necessary for that purpose, if not described in the constitution...

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Senate of Virginia have agreed to the Resolution, adopted in the House of DELEGATES, and R. W. LEBRON Esq. one of the most talented men in the ancient Dominion, has been unanimously chosen by the Legislature as our COMMISSIONER to bear the letters to South Carolina...

Notice.

THAT on the 26th inst. at Neely's Mills, said Mills will be rented, also the NEGROES belonging to the estate of Alex. Neely, dec'd. will be hired, and at the same time and place will be sold that valuable...

CLAY BANK MARE.

due attendance and conditions made known on the day of sale. As the estate is in debt no indulgence can be given, we hope all indebted will make immediate payment, and that those having claims will present them according to law or their receipt will be paid in bar of their recovery.