

THE SABBATH IN PARIS.

From the Journal of an American. January 2d.—This day I shall long remember as the first that I ever passed in Paris where the Sabbath is habitually observed as a day of cessation from labor, of religious and moral instruction...

From the New York Enquirer. FOUR DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND.

Our new schooner Eclipse arrived in town this morning, with London papers to the evening of the 28d May, brought by the packet ship Philadelphia, Captain Champlin.

The question of the expediency of the British Corn Laws had been again discussed in the House of Commons, and although it resulted in retaining all their objectionable features for the present, it is evident, we think, that some alteration in them will eventually be made.

Scenarios' Criticism.

The following satirical summary of the moral merits of some of the standard novels, is from a new Magazine which has just been attempted by two of the sons of William Cobbett.

America Manufacture.

Our neighbor, Mr. J. D. Towns, has exhibited to us several pieces of the Georgia Nankeen, assigned to him for sale. It is manufactured from the real Nankens Cotton, cultivated on the Estate of Senator FOSTER.

A Judgment and Execution in favor of John Woods vs. Hiram Pether for a sum between $25 or $30.00. A Judgment and Execution in favor of A. Torrence, Almr, vs. Ephraim Brown for about $32.00, also a bond on Erwin for the delivery of property levied on to satisfy that Execution.

THE CHOLERA.

The ravages of this terrific disease on our city will be an ample apology for the failure of the Gazette for 20 weeks successively. After the first day of our paper, the 15th inst., had been struck off, the greater part of the hands in the office were attacked with the Cholera, and the rest were required to attend them.

FROM THE NEWVILLE (NEW) BANNER, OF July the 3d.

THE CHOLERA.

The Louisville Herald states that on the 9th of June, there were six or seven cases of Cholera in one lodge in that city, and thence the persons thus affected fled. From that day to the present, June 23rd, there have not been more than ten or twelve deaths by cholera, and most of these persons who have been attacked upon the river.

TO THE SHERIFFS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

At a meeting held in the city of Raleigh, during the last session of our General Assembly, it was resolved to address the People of this State on the subject of relieving the Candidates for the office of Sheriff of the several counties to open a poll for taking the votes of the people for or against a change of the Constitution at the separate elections to be held in August 1833, for members of Assembly, and report the result to his excellency the Governor.

ROBT. J. TULL.

In the great contest of Liberty which has recently agitated this country, few men took a more conspicuous part than Robert J. Tull, of South Carolina.

It called out in search of the church of the Oratorio, in the rue St. Honoré, where we were told, we should hear Protestant services. Here we found a mixed congregation of Americans and English, amounting to some eighty or one hundred. The Rev. Mr. Wilkes, long known by our Christian community for his indefatigable and benevolent exertions, was the preacher. I could not help feeling the distance between the apparently clandestine manner which Christians seem compelled to adopt in their meetings for worship in this great capital, and the open and fearless manner in which Christians of other countries assemble in their respective churches.

On the order of the day being read in the House of Commons for going into committee on the Irish Church Temporalities bill, Mr. Gillon moved as an amendment—that it be an instruction to the committee that the revenue of the church in Ireland be applied to purposes of general utility after the manner of the present incumbents. He contended that the church establishments in Ireland was unjust in principle, and indefensible as a matter of expediency. The amendment was seconded by Mr. Rippon, who characterized the present measure as a wily attempt at reform, whilst his real object was to perpetuate the grievance of compelling the majority of the people to pay for the support of a church to which they did not belong.

The accounts from Ireland represent the state of the public mind of that country as perfectly tranquil. The most important intelligence on foreign affairs is that relative to the Dutch and Belgian question. It would appear that the King of Holland has, at last, agreed to an indefinite armistice. An official announcement of this event has, it is true, not yet appeared, still the positive tone in which the London papers speak of it, leave little reason to doubt that it has actually taken place.

Italian Opera.—We translate from the Courier des Etats Unis of yesterday the following extract of a letter from Paris of 14th May, addressed to M. Bergonzio:—Our excellent friend Riquadri arrived at a fortunate moment in Paris. The handsome Mlle Bordogni was about going to Milan, where she was offered an advantageous engagement. She is now engaged for New York, and will sail towards the end of August. Other engagements are also in train. This morning he was lucky enough to fall in with a first tenor, compelled by late political occurrences to leave Italy—a fine looking man, with a fine voice. You can hardly conceive how much he has succeeded in overcoming the objections which artists of the first rank have to go to the United States.

It will be seen from our report of the London market, that serious apprehensions are entertained of a great scarcity of food in the British East Indies, and that it has already affected the prices of rice. A letter from Bombay, 22th November, says:—We have had so little rain this year, especially in the Deccan, that grain and forage have risen in price greatly, so much so, that in Poonah and other places, the native troops have plundered several of the principal grain dealers. These disturbances have considerable trouble. The natives (the poorer classes) wish Government to fix a rate for grain, which probably will be done. A common laborer's pay in the Deccan is from three to four rupees a month—a Sepoy is seven. Grain is now selling at 34 rupees a maund, equal to about 25 lbs. English.

On the subject of negro emancipation, a questioner being put in the House of Commons, to ministers, Lord Althorp said that he was glad of an opportunity to state, that ministers were determined to persevere with the question with all possible despatch. The accounts from Ireland represent the state of the public mind of that country as perfectly tranquil. The most important intelligence on foreign affairs is that relative to the Dutch and Belgian question. It would appear that the King of Holland has, at last, agreed to an indefinite armistice. An official announcement of this event has, it is true, not yet appeared, still the positive tone in which the London papers speak of it, leave little reason to doubt that it has actually taken place.

On Portuguese affairs the London Courier says:—We are inclined to think with great caution of the contest now going on in Portugal between the army of the Queen and the army of Don Miguel; and we should hesitate to spread reports which might either create unnecessary alarm, or inspire delusive confidence in respect to the success of the expedition of the Duke of Braganza.

Fatal Duel.—We find the following in a New Orleans paper of the 19th of June. No names are given, and the desperate affair seems to have created no ordinary impression. Such matters indeed, are regarded there with all the indifference of every day occurrences:—A duel was fought yesterday on the other side of the river, by two gentlemen of this city. The weapons were muskets, and the distance forty paces. Four shots were exchanged without effect. On the fifth fire, one received a ball in the abdomen, which came out at the spine of the back, and he expired this morning; the other had a ball passed through one of his legs, near the ankle, which struck and broke in pieces the ankle bone of the other leg, and an amputation is thought to be demanded.
