

We are authorized to announce BERTON CRABBE, Esq., as a Candidate to represent Rowan County in the House of Commons of the next General Assembly...

On the 27th instant a meeting was held in Charlotte, composed of the political friends of the Hon. W. P. Mangum...

The late Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence appears to have been celebrated with more than the usual spirit...

We congratulate our friends, both of Syria and Turkey, on the improving prospect for wool crops...

Our readers will find in another column of the head of "The Fanatics," an article from the "Philosophical Intelligence," and a couple from the "New York Courant..."

An intimate acquaintance with the gentleman who proposes that publication, enables us to speak confidently of his thoroughgoing political principles...

HURRY FOR THE BOSTONIANS.—SECOND ACT OF THE "TEA-PARTY." Our readers cannot have forgotten the disgust with which we some time since witnessed the pollution of the water...

From the Boston Advertiser.—The image of the President, in which Commodore Elliott desecrated the ship Constitution, was indignantly decapitated...

See the following extract from the Report: The account exhibited by the Department shows that F. P. Blair, Editor of the Globe, received, from the 30th of December 1831, to the 30th of October 1833...

It is said he has offered a reward. So did the King's officer, when John Brown and his Indians burnt the Gaspes in Pennsylvania over in '76, but he never found any body to pay the money in.

THE FIGURE-HEAD COMPLETED.—We congratulate Commodore Elliott on the completion of his "great work." We think we hear, amidst the peans of applause which rend the skies, the sweet-toned and flustering voice of Immortality...

of in harmonious union with "Chantry and Washington." The work is accomplished—"The Figure-Head has lost its head—and all Rome rejoices!"

We lament the necessity (but our conscience will not permit us to be silent) that impels us to announce the truly lamentable and melancholy intelligence that the Grenville image which Jesse the Commodore has set up...

"The Cap Snuff."—George Poindexter (better known by his alias of Old Poms) was elected President pro tem. by the coalition of the Senate.

Mr. Poindexter, during the late races, made a public exhibition of himself as a letter at the gold pharolanks—E-O-tables, or black and red, &c.—got drunk—and was at last, by the interposition of some well disposed persons, feeling regard for the station he holds, conveyed from the ground.

It was manifestly determined by the majority, before the meeting of the Senate on Saturday, that Mr. Poindexter should be chosen President pro tem.

The above very decent effusion is from "The Globe" newspaper, the President's mouth-piece at Washington. We know very little of the habits of Mr. Poindexter...

It is the regular vocation of the Globe to calumniate every man who has talents, and principles that render those talents formidable to the President, who is, in those degenerate days, the fountain of profit, if not of honor.

But we suspect the President himself will scarcely thank the Editor of the Globe for the manner in which he abuses Mr. Poindexter.

Did not the President shrink when he read that "his whole life has been habitually addicted to a course of this sort?"

NOTA BENE!—"The Globe" says that even Mr. Webster and Mr. Clay assisted in electing Mr. Poindexter President of the Senate.

See the following extract from the Report: The account exhibited by the Department shows that F. P. Blair, Editor of the Globe, received, from the 30th of December 1831, to the 30th of October 1833...

It is said he has offered a reward. So did the King's officer, when John Brown and his Indians burnt the Gaspes in Pennsylvania over in '76, but he never found any body to pay the money in.

As would readily go to the tail of the Betsey, or any other tail. We really rejoice to hear that Daniel Webster and Henry Clay voted for a Nullifier in preference to a Tory.

TEMPERANCE, AND THE FOURTH OF JULY. At a meeting of the Back Creek Temperance Society, on the Fourth of July, 1834, the following Resolutions were offered and accepted, viz:

- 1. Resolved, That the friends of Temperance Societies take encouragement from what they have already effected; and that they hold up our another's hands in the cause that has done, is doing, and promises to do, so much for the peace and prosperity of the present and succeeding generations.

J. N. ANDREWS, Secretary. Judge Gaston delivered the Opinion of the Court in the case of Thomas Foster vs. James Frost, from Rowan...

HOME INDUSTRY.—The proprietor of the Steam Cotton Factory, at Greensborough, announces that it is now in the full tide of successful experiment.

SIGNS.—If the Tongs drank in this State, on the recent Anniversary of American Independence, be a correct indication of the state of public sentiment on political matters, then is the tide unmistakably setting strongly against the Administration...

LETTER FROM MAJOR DOWNING. SENATE CHAMBER, WASHINGTON, June 25th, 1834. To my old friend Mr. Dwight of the New York Daily Advertiser.

Some folks, and especially those who want or expect votes, think that the Senate ought to do just what the General tells em—but that ain't my notion, for I don't see why the people should be at the expense of having a Senate if that is to be the rule.

Times have got so now, that most folks think when they are elected to office they have any right to say the party who voted for em, and look upon all the rest as a set of Abnegates; and they go on...

It won't do good to be bothering yet about who is to be next President—its time enough to select a miller when we've got the harvest home and all thrash'd out; it will be enough to see that we get a good honest miller then.

We have got a playful ruff of garlic, and mullen, and dock wood, in the present Congress, and that the reason the harvest ain't worth nothing.

10 Likely Negroes, Consisting of men, women, and children, all of the likeliest kind. All the above will be sold on a liberal credit.

We went along for a spell party smooth, and the Captain was all the while master of the Two Pollies; and well he might, for she was a power, and was called so by her crew...

Capt. Jumper said it wasn't no time now to make a long speech, and all he had to say about it was, that if the anchor book'd on to good holdin' ground, the "Two Pollies" would, by the blessing of Providence, be saved...

I'd 'nt hear Capt. Jumper tell about that ere peril party often; and when I would try to corner him about his venturin so near the land in that quarter, he'd try to get off by telling me that as the Two Pollies was bran splinter now, and the rocks all along there playin' out...

A fatal accident occurred at Millidgeville, on the 4th instant, which has overwhelmed our community with astonishment and grief.

MILLEDGEVILLE, JULY 9, 1834. A fatal accident occurred at Millidgeville, on the 4th instant, which has overwhelmed our community with astonishment and grief.

Proposals for Publishing, in the Town of Morganton, N. C., A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER, TO BE DEVOTED TO Politics, Morality, Literature, and General Intelligence.

IN looking around in search of an eligible situation for the establishment of himself in business, with a reasonable prospect of receiving and imparting benefit by his labors...

He believes that the celebrated Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions and Reports of 1776 and 1790, which were drawn up by those great statesmen and patriots Madison and Jefferson, contain a true exposition of the rights of the States...

He thinks that the surest way to avoid collisions would be by adhering to a liberal construction of the Constitution, and by abstaining from the exercise of any power, whether it be by the General Government or by the States...

He thinks that nothing can justify an infraction of the Constitution. One slight breach will open the way for another, and that for a third, until every restriction loses its original strength...

The Subscriber has witnessed, with painful anxiety, the abuse of precedents, which have been made to fritter away the Constitution, until, in practice at least, it is scarcely like the same instrument that came from the hands of the Convention which formed it.

As to State concerns, it will advocate a speedy alteration in the Constitution, a liberal system of Internal Improvement, an enlightened course of Agriculture, and every thing else calculated to advance the prosperity and honor of the Editor's adopted State.

A due proportion of the paper will be devoted to Religious, Moral, Literary, and other useful subjects, together with the passing News of the Day, both domestic and foreign; and some of the leaders of our Spirit shall be always typed with such tints of the Editor's and the Wit's imaginative efforts, as will afford to its patrons that "Variety" which is "the very spice of life."

The Subscriber hopes that this first Spruce of a plant fatal to tyrants, that has ever attempted to enslave its head within view of the Table Rock, will not be suffered to perish in the bud, but that it will receive such a degree of public care as will enable it to grow into a great tree, spreading its branches and shedding its leaves from the Atlantic even unto the great river, the River Mississippi.

1. The first No. of "The Mountain Sprout" will be issued as soon as the requisite number of subscribers can be obtained to warrant the making of the necessary arrangements for that purpose; and the undersigned would appeal to the friends of the proposed undertaking to enroll their names at an early day.

2. It will be printed once a week, upon a sheet of medium size, with new type and on good paper, at Two Dollars per year, payable on the receipt of the first number.

3. Responsible persons who will take the trouble to act as Agents, in procuring subscribers, &c., will be allowed 10 per cent. upon their transactions.

It is requested that Letters from a distance be directed to Salisbury, where the Subscriber at present resides.
