

VARIETY.

A BREACH OF PROMISE.

A novel case was tried the last term at Worcester, Mass., before the Court of Common Pleas. It was an action for a breach of marriage promise, brought by a gentleman against a lady. The parties reside in Athol, and the facts in the case are briefly these: The "lady fair," by the name of Morton, was engaged to be married to a young gentleman by the name of Smith; but, by some means or other, an intimacy, in the mean time, commenced and was carried on between Miss Fanny and the plaintiff, whose name is Peckham, and which eventually ripened into an engagement of marriage. But "the course of true love never did run smooth." The fair damsel insisted that she should adhere to "her first love," which finally prevailed. Lynde Smith and Fanny Morton were in due form pronounced man and wife. Whereupon Lewis Peckham, when he found himself the victim of unrequited love, instead of bemoaning himself to "the chrysalis cup, and drinking intoxicating draughts," or yielding himself the victim of a green and yellow melancholy, came up to the temple of justice with a suit to recover his lost affections, or their equivalent in money. He urged that, as the defendant had possessed himself of the personal charms of the fair one, the Court, like Solomon of old, ought to make a division between them, and give him possession of her real charms, which, it seems, consisted in certain acres of rich pasture and fertile fields. The case was ably argued on both sides, and the Jury "sat up together" till the witching hour of midnight without being able to decide the delicate question whether Fanny had or had not played the coquette. No the prayer of Lewis for justice was unsuccessful—he must press his suit again.—Boston Traveller.

A Centenarian Spinster.—Mrs. Bogue, of Amherst, (Mass.) on the anniversary of her ninety-ninth birth day, which occurred on the 29th September last, spun "sixty knots and thirty threads of handsome woollen yarn." The Northampton paper exclaims, "What a capital wife she would make." Mrs. Bogue has made a capital wife, we have no doubt; but we should ourselves prefer one in the present tense, who is probably better qualified to spin "street yarn."—Cov. and Eng.

Temperance Society.—We find from the last book of the Temperance Society, the Advocate and Herald, that the number of members in England and Wales is 101,444; of which there are in Lancashire 27,546, in Yorkshire 10,888, in Cornwall 10,530, in Middlesex 7,053. The next in point of number is Gloucestershire, 4,075. The counties highest in numbers from that downward to where they do not exceed 1,000 are Durham, Somersetshire, Cumberland, Cheshire, Devon, Warwick, Wilts, Surrey, Northumberland, Essex, Derby, Berkshire, Stafford, Worcester, and Bucks. In Wales there are 1,705, and in Jersey 1,025 members. The increase reported during November last is 2,928, and in the same period nine new associations are reported, one of which (Huddersfield) is returned "with nine associations."

Ancient.—A young man and a female stopped at a country tavern to pass a day or two. Their awkward appearance excited the curiosity of one of the family, who commenced a conversation with the female by inquiring how far she had travelled that day. "Travelled," repeated the stranger, somewhat indignantly, "we didn't travel, we rid."

The Memorable Eighth.—That old Architect, Jack Frost, constructed a bridge over the Broad Lake on the eighth, and the crossing from Port Kent to Burlington is now brisk and safe.—The friends of the Administration celebrated the occasion in this village, in a very spirited manner. We have more and better ice under the present administration than any preceding one, let the Post Office be as it may. "Honor to whom honor is due."—Keesville Argus.

The interments in New York in the year 1834 were one thousand and eighty-two, being an excess of 3330 over the previous year. There were deaths of consumption 1471; small pox 233; cholera 971.

A bad rule that won't work both ways.—A fellow recently appeared before the police of Boston, to obtain a warrant against a girl—first, as an abominable and awful liar, and secondly, for stealing skeins of silk. The only evidence he could bring against the girl to sustain the latter charge was her own confession. This was a teaser; for if the first charge was proved, how could she be convicted on the last?

The present Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain (Lord Lyndhurst) is a native of Boston, Mass. He left Boston with his father (the late Sir John Copley) the day preceding the battle of Lexington, which circumstance saved their family property from confiscation. The land below the Hancock estate on Beacon street, now occupied by some of the most splendid private residences in the Union, belonged to the Copley family. The widow of the late Gardner Green, of Boston, is sister to Lord Lyndhurst.—Mercantile.

Reward Offered.—An English paper contains the following paragraphs: "An elegant and commodious house, situated in Brighton, will be given to any individual who can produce proof of his having realized a single farthing by evading payment of the King's duties, or by simulating transactions: or to him who can bring forward testimony of his having got rich by working on the Sabbath day. Letters (post paid) addressed to the Editor of the Brighton Herald, will experience due attention, and the utmost secrecy observed.

A handsome annuity for life will be granted to any individual who can furnish undeniable proof of having ruined himself or injured his family by acts of benevolence. Letters (post paid) to be addressed to the Editor of the Brighton Herald.

An Old Subscriber.—The Massachusetts Spy says that Deacon Benjamin Goddard, of Shrewsbury, was a subscriber to that paper from its commencement to his death—a period of sixty-five years.

Pre-ocious Wits.—I asked two little village boys, one seven, the other eight years old, what they meant to be when they were men. Says one, "I shall be the doctor of the village." And you, what shall you be? said I to the other. "Oh! if brother's doctor, I'll be Cure. He shall kill the people, and I'll bury them—so we shall have the whole village between us."—Bulwer's France.

A wonderful Wife.—On the south wall of Stratham church there is a monument with the following inscription: "Elizabeth, wife of major general Hamilton, who was married 47 years, and never did one thing to displease her husband."

Ab, the future! the dressing, the deceiving future, which promises every thing, and performs nothing—what would the present be without it?

From the Greenborough Patriot of Jan. 4. "MY PROCLAMATION! The way that we are prepared to print HORSE BILLS, &c. &c. &c. is curious! It is a 'Reform' oil way; and, being entirely 'Constitutional,' we (that is to say, 'our MAJESTY,') are under the impression that it will go off with great 'Eclat.'!"

From the Greenborough Patriot of Jan. 4. "MY PROCLAMATION.—Whereas the Printer's Devil of the Western Carolinian has issued his Proclamation, wherein he states and sets forth that the way they are prepared to print (Horse-Bills, &c. &c. &c.) is curious!—And whereas the editor, printer, publisher, foreman, journeyman, apprentice, and devil, of the said Carolinian, are laboring under the suspicion of the heresy of Nullification: Now, therefore, be it known, that I, by this my first and last proclamation, do visit upon them the practical results of their doctrine, and hereby nullify the said proclamation of his highness of the Carolinian, and issue this everlasting veto upon the same.—And I do further assert, state, and proclaim, that all sorts and sizes of horsebills, handbills, and advertisements, shall be printed by Our Majesty, on application at the office of the Greenborough Patriot, in a style that shall put the jobs done by His Majesty of the Carolinian as far in the back ground, as the Proclamation of Gen. Jackson did S. Carolina Nullification! 'DEVIL.'"

It is the intention of the Editor diligently and fairly to report the passing political and other News of the Day; and, while he cannot, consistently with his principles, advocate the course pursued by the present Administration, he feels the public that he feels every disposition to do full justice to its merits. The press will be open to both parties—the Editor will endeavor to adhere strictly to principle, and to disregard all party influence. The Editor intends to avail himself of the advantage of many of the best publications on the subject of Agriculture and Internal Improvement—by which means he will be able to select and lay before his readers a large number of Essays which cannot fail of being interesting to every one who has at heart the prosperity of his country. All the most important and interesting proceedings of Congress and the State Legislature will be duly reported, and a portion of the paper will at all times be devoted to Police Literature. The Subscriber is aware of the many difficulties he must encounter in advancing to public favor; he relies greatly upon the liberality always shown by an enlightened public towards enterprise well conducted, and assures his patrons that no pains shall be spared on his part to render his paper both a useful and interesting publication. TYPE-FOUNDRY.

E. White and William Hager RESPECTFULLY inform the PRINTERS of the United States (to whom they have long been individually known as Letter-Founders) that they have now formed a Co-Partnership in said business, and hope, from their united and extensive experience, to be able to give full satisfaction to all who may favor them with orders. The introduction of Machinery, in place of the tedious and unhealthful process of casting type by hand, (a desiderate felt by the American and European foundries,) was by American ingenuity, and at a heavy expenditure of time and money on the part of our senior partner, first successfully accomplished. Extensive machine-cast letter has fully tested and established its superiority in every particular over that cast by the old process. The Letter-Foundry business will be carried on by the parties before named, under the firm of White, Hager, & Co. Their Specimen-Book exhibits a complete series, from Diamond to 14-lines Pica—their Book and News Type being in the most modern and approved style. White, Hager, & Co., are agents for the sale of the Smith and Rust Printing Presses, which they can furnish to their customers at the manufacturers' prices. Chases, Cases, Composing Sticks, Ljks, and every article used in the Printing Business, kept for sale, and furnished at short notice. Old Type taken in exchange for new, at 9 cents per pound. E. BECKWITH'S Anti-Dyspeptic Pills.

THOSE who are afflicted with HEAD-ACHES, HEART-BURNS, and other distressing symptoms of disordered stomach, bowels, and liver, may find relief in Dr. Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills, which can be had at this Office—price fifty cents per box. The Doctor, who once resided in this place, but now lives in Raleigh, has, after a long and extensive practice, been enabled to compound a most valuable remedy for the chronic diseases of the digestive organs, so common in Southern climates, especially with those who lead sedentary lives. It would be an easy matter to make out certificates to prove that these Pills are a "sovereign remedy" for "all the ills that flesh is heir to;" but it is not pretended that they are an universal antidote. Certificates of the most respectable Physicians and other gentlemen can be shown to substantiate their efficacy in the particular class of diseases above spoken of: and the Editor of this paper can testify that he has derived speedy and permanent relief, in the use of them, from a most distressing and long-continued head-ache. Some of his friends tried them, at his suggestion, and experienced the same beneficial effects. Salisbury, June 14, 1834.—4f

HORACE H. BEARD, Tailor, BEGS leave to inform his friends, and the public in general, that orders in his line will always be thankfully received by him, and executed in the most Neat, Fashionable, and Durable manner—terms as reasonable as any in this section of country. H. H. B. hopes, from his long practice of the business, (a number of years of which time he resided in the city of Philadelphia,) and from the general satisfaction he has heretofore given to his numerous respectable and fashionable customers, to merit and receive a portion of the patronage of the public in general. He flatters himself that his CUTTING is really superior to any done in this State, as may be testified by the undisputed elegance of fit which attends garments made in his establishment. He is in the regular receipt of the Reports of the Fashion as they change both in the large cities of this country and of Europe—so that gentlemen may be satisfied that their orders will always be executed in the very latest style. Orders from a distance will be attended to with the same punctuality and care as if the customer were present in person. Salisbury, May 17, 1834.—1y
