THE DEVIL AND THE DOCTORS. The following verses are intended as a "hit" at the English Medical Faculty. Sir Charles and Sir Astley are intended for two eminent physicians named Cooper: "The Devil he sat on his garden gate, A pecking his teeth with the end of his tail, And because he'd been doing so much work of late, He grew sick, and his appetite often would fail; When a Toad, who came by in a carriage and six, Walk'd up to the idler so grave and so ghastly, Felt his pulse, view'd his tongue, and did other wise tricks That are practiced by Sir Charles and Sir Astley. "Oh, oh!" says the Doctor, "your majesty's ill! You must take tonight morning draught and a pill; But the Devil the Toad 'neath his foot quickly jam'd, And said, "I take your stuff!—If I'll be d—d!" Then his Lordship grew worse—in vain had he tried A draught of the Styx and a bath of the Lethe; Till, worn by his torments, one morning he cried, "Must I die like a dog?—no; go fetch Abernathy." The Doctor he came, looking surly and sage, One hand in his pocket, one stuck in his waist; Said he, "Read my book;" and he mentioned the page; "Take a blue pill every night. Where's my fee? I'm in haste!" Then said Lucifer, fiercely, "This can't be endured! You cure my disease without wishing to learn it! I've got indignation—how's that to be cured?" Replied John: "Lave on six-pence a week, friend, and earn it!"

From the Augusta (Ga.) Sentinel. BOB SHORT'S AUCTION.

Was knocked off, to the highest bidder, on the first Monday in October last, the following articles: VAN BUREN.—A neat pattern, but a neat article, suited to the newest fashions—made in Baltimore, by Rucker, Brothers & Company, and sent out as a sample—colour, changeable, upon a dark ground. WHITE.—A plain, useful article, manufactured by Rip Van Winkle in his best days, and used with the highest approbation in Tennessee—color, white, with a speck of crimson. JOHNSON.—An admirable article for house servants—manufactured by Rucker, Brothers & Co., Baltimore—color, jet black.

How they catch Monkeys.—There is a curious way of catching Monkeys, without hurting them much, except that it frightens them; though by the way that is bad enough, for who had not much rather be whipped stoutly, than to be excessively frightened.

The Eastern hunters, who know how ready the monkeys are to try to do every thing which they see men do, repair to the woods which is frequented by these animals, carrying with them some very strong soapuds, and a great many pair of little boots. When they get to the spot where the little fellows are chattering in great numbers among the trees, and watching them, they stop and go to washing their faces and drawing on their own boots.

After putting on boots and washing faces a little while, they retire a short distance and hide themselves, leaving the soapuds and the little boots behind them. Down come the monkeys from off the trees, and go to imitating them. They draw on the small boots and wash their faces well in soapuds. When they get fairly at it, and their eyes begin to smart, so that they can hardly see, out rush the hunters and pursue them. Blinded by the soapuds, and fettered by the boots, they are soon and easily taken.

Hard Living.—We have it from good authority that there lives an old bachelor (!) in the city of N. York, who is very rich and keeps a store in which he employs two clerks. These clerks' salary he pays by allowing them extra privileges in the store. He is so darn'd close that he sleeps in the store on the bare counter. His meals consist of two pennies' worth of dried apples for breakfast, eaten dry and without drink; for dinner he drinks a quart of water to swell the apples, and for supper he eats and drinks nothing the year round.

This is but little better board than the Dutchman got, when apprenticed to the Tailoring trade, who never had any breakfast given him; for dinner he'd get a flogging, and for supper that which was left from dinner warmed over again. He would have almost starved, had it not been for the cabbage.—Auburn Miscellany.

Married.—In Matilda, Upper Canada, on the 13th ult., Mr. Israel Satan, journeyman cabinet-maker, to Miss Grace Parlor. Since Mr. Satan has obtained for himself a local habitation, and a wife, it is hoped that his "goings up and down," &c., will be limited for the future to that section of the country which he has chosen for his residence. Manhood are free, peace shall abound, Since Grace by Satan has been found; And in full proof that peace is meant, Israel by Grace has pitch'd his tent; No more in deserts wild he'll roam, He's got a Parlor for his home.

Rule in Singing.—Never pronounce the words distinctly. The ladies should, and in truth they do generally attend to this rule, and for an excellent reason. The hearer's attention is not diverted to any ideas the words might convey, but is left entirely to the luxury of sound.

This couplet, for instance— At anchor laid, remote from home; Toiling I cry sweet spirit, come, Should be sung thus: A-tan-chor laidee mo-tro home, To-iling! cryswee spirit come.

Rebus.—A charade appeared in one of the city publications not long since, the solution of which was BLUNDERBUS. Blunder, an error or mistake; and buss, a kiss or salute with the lips. On being read to a lady, she was asked how she liked riddles, when she innocently replied, she liked a re-buss sweetly.

A Turkish paper says, "A soul-animating rose-bush, bud and blossom yielding, in the happy imperial rose-garden, has exhibited signs of vegetation." By which we are to understand that the Sultan is expecting an addition to his family.

All publishers of newspapers are not such small boys as Mrs. Butler supposes them to be. Among them is no less a personage than the son of the Moon, the grand Sultan Mahmood, the publisher of the "Ottoman Monitor," from which he receives a revenue of $166,000.

Remarkable Warm Weather.—A Kentuckian said, when he was South, the weather was so hot that his buttons dropped off by spoon-fuls!

Useful Discoveries.—It is found that by mixing hard with butter, sand with sugar, water with milk, and brick bats with cotton, they will go much farther.

CATAWBA SPRINGS FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber, having determined to remove to the south-west, offers for sale the above property, with or without the Furniture. The Plantation contains about 700 Acres of Land; between 95 and 100 acres are low-grounds, cleared, ditched, and in good order otherwise; and is either good for Grain or Grass—there being about 12 Acres of the latter, (viz: meadow land). About 200 Acres of the high-lands are cleared and in fine order for cultivation. In all I think it good for 3,000 bushels of Corn, with a proportionable quantity of small grain. The Houses want no repair, and are sufficient for entertaining 60 or 70 boarders, with fine Stables, Carriage-house, and Threshing Machine. No building of any description is requisite for the place at present.

The property is now positively offered at a price so low that it will pay for itself in three years, by attention to the Farm and House. Persons wishing to buy had better lose no time, as it shall be sold, and the price at which it is offered will force it immediately. Letters to my address, at this Office, will meet prompt attention. NEGROES, for my own use, will be taken at fair prices.

Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic PILLS.

WE extract, from the Hand-bills accompanying each Box, the following testimonials to the efficacy of this valuable Medicine:

From the Rt. Rev. Levi S. Ives, D. D., Bishop of North Carolina. RALEIGH, March 2, 1835.

Having, for the last three years, been intimately acquainted with Dr. John Beckwith, of this City, and enjoyed his professional services, I take pleasure in stating that his character as a Christian gentleman and experienced Physician, entitles his testimony, in regard to the use of his Anti-dyspeptic Pills, to the entire confidence of the public.—My experience of the good effects of these Pills, for two years past, satisfies me of their eminent value, particularly in aiding in impaired digestion and warding off bilious attacks. Having been for a long time subject to the annual recurrence of such attacks, I was in the habit of resorting for security against them, and with a very partial success, to a liberal use of Calomel or blue Pill. But since my acquaintance with the Anti-dyspeptic Pill of Dr. Beckwith, which he prescribed in the first instance himself, I have not been under the necessity of using Mercury in any form, besides, being wholly exempt from bilious attacks. Several members of my family are experiencing the same beneficial effects. L. S. IVES.

From Governor Iredell. AUGUST 21, 1835.

Dr. Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills have been used in my family, which is a large one, with the most beneficial effects. A number of my friends who have been afflicted with the Dyspepsia, and other disorders of the stomach, have spoken to me in strong terms of the relief they experienced from this remedy. Without the evidence I have received from others, my intimate knowledge of the professional and private character of Dr. Beckwith, for the last twenty years, justifies me in declaring, that he would give no assurances of facts of his own experience, or of professional deductions, of which he was not perfectly confident, and on which the public might not safely rely. JAMES IREDELL.

From the Hon. George E. Badger. RALEIGH, Nov. 7, 1834.

For several years past, Dr. Beckwith's Anti-Dyspeptic Pills have been used as a domestic medicine in my family. I have myself frequently used them for the relief of head ache, acid and otherwise disordered stomach, resulting from imprudence or excess in diet, and I have had many opportunities of learning from others their effects, when used by them for like purposes. My experience and observation justify me in saying that the relief afforded by the Pills is generally speedy, and almost always certain—that they may be taken at any time without danger or inconvenience, and their operation is attended by no nausea or disagreeable effects whatever—and though I have known many persons use them, I have known none who did not approve them—none who sustained any injury, and none who failed to derive benefit from their use. And upon the whole, I do not hesitate to recommend them as an agreeable, safe, and efficacious remedy in Dyspeptic affections, and believe them myself to be the best Anti-dyspeptic medicine ever offered to the public. G. E. BADGER.
