And power is in my arm!
I come! oppression's sweetest bane,

WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES.

From Latimore's Rambles in America.
Fragrances have affirmed that the women of the United States were of a superior race to men, both in person and in mind.

THE COMIC ALMANAC FOR 1836.

January.—"When it freezes and blows, take care of your nose, that it doesn't get froze, and wrap up your toes in warm worsted hose. At night you slip into bed, you may sip a can of good flip."

February.—"In this gay month I would not choose to walk the streets in dancing shoes, nor would I for the world be seen to trip along in light nankeen."

June.—"Lawyers now may take their ease, and counsel reckon up their fees; for now the welcome long vacation gives a rest to litigation; while happy they on quarter-day, who're not obliged to run away!"

August.—"In Germany, they rest their heads between a pair of feather beds; a famous plan, I will be bound, while frost and snow are on the ground; but in the dog days' raging heat, I shouldn't think it such a treat."

November.—"Murky, burly, dark and drear, see this gloomy month appear; London, fill'd with slush and fog, looks just like an Irish bog; every trouble now seems double, and the worst in all the year."

Of the head of the pages, the following are specimens:
DEAR ME! how hot the weather grows—There's scarce a breath to cool one's face; Through Air Street not a zephyr blows,

"We admire the Globe, and when we turn to its editorials, we look for the truth."—Montgomery Advertiser.
You are like Daniel O'Rourke, then—the more you look, the more you won't see, it so you will.
—Arkansas Advocate.

The Democratic Herald says, "Mr. Van Buren occupies the lofty ground of a Jefferson Democrat." If so, he must feel like Christopher Sly, who went to bed a finker, and waked up a Lord—vastly astonished at his new character, and more so at himself.—18.

northern counties in New York, several years since, the professional merits of two drummers, a certain Ben Morse, drum major to the regiment; and a very uncertain Tom Burnham, a candidate for the same office, were discussed very freely by the soldiers, over a pint tumbler of blue ruin, at a cake and beer shantee without the centry. Some maintained that Burnham was the best musician; others again that Morse had not his superior "in the six counties," when a long lantern-jawed, freckled faced chap, standing some six feet four, without either stockings or shoes, elbowed his way into the ring, with an old rusty Queen Ann's firelock in one hand and a card of rye gingerbread in the other, and after picking his teeth with his bayonet, and wiping his face on something that served as an apology for a coat-sleeve; addressed one of the company thus:

"I tell you what it is, Corporal Cowan, I grant that Morse can beat Burnham in drumming on training tunes, but when you come to the real sentimental, I tell you Corporal, (and he spoke the words with great emphasis) Tom Burnham can drum Ben Morse's shirt tail off."

A Strong Puff.—The Wheeling Times in the most flattering manner notices the arrival of the "industrious fleas" in that town. The showman must feel highly gratified at reading such compliments as this:— The industrious fleas are here, (or were before we put down our finger) and we are sorry to say, some few of our citizens were induced to visit them. The scappaloos who can find no better means of obtaining a livelihood than by such contemptible impositions, should be publicly whipped from every community.

Fattening Hogs on Apples.—Mr. Oren Kingsley of Westhampton recently killed two hogs, one weighing 400 and the other 320 pounds. They were, he says, the fattest hogs that he ever butchered, and yielded lard in abundance. They were fed almost entirely with apples until the severely cold weather in December about five weeks before they were killed. During the five weeks, they had six bushels of provender and 15 or 20 bushels of potatoes. Mr. K. is confident that apples for stock are not estimated at half their value.

A good Example.—A young man in one of our southern States had, for several years, been attached to a young lady of merit. Their friends knew they loved each other and thought seriously of marriage. One evening, in company with several friends he addressed her in the following manner: "Jane, the world have expected long that we should be married; let us stop their talk at once, by entering into the expected union." She looked seriously and steadfast at him for a moment, and replied: "Charles, I am willing to acknowledge to you and to all our friends, that I love you; the only objection I have to marrying you is—your cups.—Till I can have better evidence that you will relinquish your cups, and be a temperate man, I can never consent to marry you, you would make me wretched." A deep silence ensued till broken by a friend. Charles, instead of relinquishing his cups, took a journey to divert his mind. How very strong is man's attachment to ardent spirits. If all females would be thus decided some reformation would be effected. The expectation of a female to reform an intemperate man by marrying him, is vain.

Q. Why is a bad pen like a wicked man?
A. Because he wants mending.
Savage Murder at New Orleans.—It is our opinion that there is not to be found on earth so unmitigated and irredeemable a set of villains as the professional black legs of the Southern and Western States. Blackguards indolent, they are at the same time fiends at heart, and while they dress in the garb of gentlemen—for decent men now wear low crowned hats with fearful longitude of brim—they are vagabonds by instinct and felons by education. Their career should be cut short by the penitentiary or the gallows, as the case may require—wherever they show themselves. The New Orleans paper of the 11th inst., gave the details of a murder perpetrated by a gang of these scoundrels in that city, which sufficiently bear us out in these remarks. A clan of blacklegs, headed by two miscreants named Whitaker,—brothers living at St. Francisville—went to the Planter's Hotel, kept by Mr. Armstrong, and after carous-ing through the evening, picked a groundless quarrel with Mr. A. and his two bar keepers, broke glasses and decanters, and attempted to climb over the counter; being resisted, the Whitakers drew a Bowie knife, and commenced a deadly warfare upon the unarmed inmates of the house. The two Messrs. Armstrongs and their bar keepers fled from such an unequal contest, but the butchers held fast to a young man named Murphy, whom they literally slaughtered; stabbing him several times in the head with their knife (two feet long,) and finally plunged it into his heart. The murderers then fled to the City Hotel, and were there found in one bed, with the bloody instrument of their villany roasting with blood under their pillow. They were dragged to prison, and there we hope may be speedily dragged to the gallows—unless indeed, the jury which tries them should recommend the culprits to mercy. We are too fast, however—the code Livingston, which is the law of Louisiana, does not permit such offenders to be punished capitally!

Another murder was committed in New Orleans a day or two after. A young gentleman named Harvey, was remonstrating with a drayman for an overcharge, when the latter drew a knife, and cut into the abdomen of his victim from the side to the centre. Mr. Harvey's life is despaired of.

MY HORSE, UWHARIE,

By the Celebrated race horse Washington, dam Betsy Ruffin, by Virginia, will stand in LEXING-TON the coming Spring. He will be let to Mares at the reduced price of $15 the season.

Uwharie cannot only boast of a pure pedigree, but that he is nearly allied to the most distinguished horses that have for the last twenty years figured on the Turf. The request in which his stock is held, and the high prices they are commanding, will claim the attention of the judicious breeder.
Of Betsy Ruffin's produce (Uwharie's dam) I sold last May a Tomson Filley, 1 year old, for $300, —last August a Tomson Colt, 2 years old, (unbroken) and out of pasture for $1,000—and in November last Husler, a 3 year old Colt by Tom's Medley, for $1,500. Others, however, from the same stock, have been more fortunate: in a letter to me of the 14th instant, from a most respectable source, it is stated that the Hon. B. Peyton, of Tennessee, lately sold the filly Lelah, 3 years old, out of the sister on the dam's side, of Betsy Ruffin and by the imp. Leviathan, for $3,000 T.
S. Money. I will also state that Polly Hopkins and Betsy Ruffin of the same stock have been purchased since they have gone into the breeding stall. The former at $2,750, the latter also at a high and round figure, and sent to England to breed from Priam, the best horse in England.

As there are but few thorough bred mares in this region, Uwharie is put down to a Farmer's price, to promote the prevalence of stock. Of his extended pedigree and his performances more hereafter.
My Durham short horned Bull Colt MAJOR, will be let to a few Cows this Spring at $3. He was bred by Gov. Shelby, of Kentucky, and got by a full bred Durham Bull out of a Cow of the Parson importation.
