

THE OCEAN.
Lament of Heaven!
Apostrophe of power!
Man in the water,
Shower of the waves!

SCRAPS.

Misconception.—As a canal boat was passing under a bridge, the captain gave the usual warning, "look out," when a little Frenchman, who was in the cabin, obeyed the order by popping his head out of the window, which received a severe thump by coming in contact with a pillar of the bridge.

TO THE PUBLIC.
THERE came into this neighborhood some four or five years since, a colored man, who calls himself WALKEN GUADELOPEAN, says he was a free man, a Spaniard by birth, and that he was born and raised in Manila; that he left Manila while young; that he went on board an American Merchantman, the Isabella from Boston, commanded by C. J. Cherries Taylor, as a cabin boy, that he made several voyages in the Isabella, that the vessel was ultimately sold in Holland; that Capt. Taylor then purchased or chartered a brig, in which he came to America. That he was afterwards employed in different vessels engaged in the coasting trade; that at length he left that employment and made his way through the country, from Philadelphia, to Tennessee, and from Tennessee to this place.
