

THE PARTING OF SUMMER

There's bearing hence thy name,
Glad Summer, fare thee well!
Thou'rt singing thy last melody,
In every wood and dell.

SCRAPS.

A Stuttering Witness.—In one of our courts in this city, a blacksmith who had the gift of stammering to perfection, was called into court as a witness between two journey-men of his, in a law suit; the amount in question being about 75 cents.

Affliction.—As the snowdrop comes amid snow and frost, appearing as the herald of the rose, so religion comes amid the blight of affliction, to remind us of a perpetual Summer, where the bright sun never retires behind a wintry cloud.

Sympathy.—An English lord, riding on a cold and wet day, through the streets of London, permitted two of his servants to ride inside with him. Several days afterwards some ladies complimented him on the acorn of his humanity, when he said, "I took them in, poor fellows, because it was so cold, and you have no idea how my heart bled to think that I could not take the coachman and horses in likewise."

Both Mistaken.—Two honest Hibernians, with a gentle smile on their faces, discovered each other across the street—each one thought that he recognized the other as an old friend of the Emerald Isle. They advanced towards each other until they discovered their mistake, when one of them exclaimed, "Oh! good man, I thought 'twas you and you tho't 'twas me, and faith it is neither of us."

An old lady reading an account of the death of a venerable and distinguished lawyer, who was said to be the father of the Philadelphia bar, exclaimed, "Poor man! he had a dreadful noisy set of children!"

Female Influence.—Whoever has the women is sure of the men, you may depend, acquire openly or secretly, directly or indirectly, they do contrive, somehow, or another, to have their own way in the end; and though the men have the reins, the women tell us which way to drive. Now, if ever you go to canvass for votes, always canvass the wives, and you are sure of the husbands.

As a public meeting in England the weather was warm, and three stood near a little fat gentleman, who seemed much incommoded by the crowd. There came pressing behind him a tall rawboned man, holding a memorandum in his hand. "What do you mean, sir, (said the fat gentleman), by crowding and jostling in this manner? Who are you sir?" "Sir, I'm one of the gentlemen connected with the press." "I thought so, (was the ready reply) for you have nearly squeezed my ribs in."—Twenty Years in Retirement.

As Dr. Franklin was once trudging through the streets of London, with spectacles on his nose he accidentally jostled a porter, who was staggering along under an immense load, and who in consequence, mistaking his length upon the pavement, burden and all. "D—n your specks!" shouted the fellow, as he scrambled up with his luggage. "So much for wearing specks in the streets," said a friend to the Doctor, who was walking with him. "Yes," replied the philosopher, coolly wiping the article in question, "but had it not been for my specks, he would have d—d my eyes."

The following is an extract from a forthcoming work of Dr. Peters, the discoverer of the celebrated "Vegetable Anti-Bilious Pills."

"HEALTH, wealth, and enjoyment, are the three prime objects of life. The two former are only sought as a means to obtain the latter. Man seeks for wealth as a means of enjoyment. But vain is such pursuit without the possession of health. Without bodily vigor and strength, neither the physical nor the mental—the inner nor the outward man is capable of any achievement, whether of wealth or of enjoyment.—Man's aim in corpore sano—a sound mind in a sound body—is the sine qua non—the absolute requisite—for any efficient effort in the attainment of human ends.—The mind may be active, but if the body be feeble, then is the mind active to little purpose. Enjoyment is not there; and the finest laid plans are rendered abortive by the shattered condition of our instrument of clay."

But where, methinks I hear the reader ask, subscribe this homily on so plain and hackneyed a subject? Do we not all know the value of health? Do we not all attend to it as one of the chief, if not the chief, concerns of our mortal existence? Do we not employ the means to attain and preserve it? Do we not lay out money—do we not see physicians—do we not follow their advice—do we not swallow their prescriptions? True—most true—gentle reader, thou dost all things, we dare say, and more. Still, we cannot believe our homily on health to be altogether unnecessary. As in morals, so in physic it is requisite to have "line upon line, and precept upon precept." Men in health forget that they may be sick; and men in sickness do not all ways employ the most judicious means to attain health. Very true, Doctor—men do not as you say, always pursue the right road to health. No, I know of some people who are always doing themselves with physic, and running to the doctors and apothecaries every day of their lives. They take, I verily believe, a cart load of drugs in a year, and yet they are not well after all. Do you know the reason?

Why, yes, in my opinion, there are two reasons. In the first place, they take too much medicine, and in the second, they do not take the right kind. I used to make the same mistake. But lately—that is to say for two or three years past—I've hit upon a better plan. I take Dr. Peters' Vegetable Bilious Pills, and I derive more benefit from one dollar laid out in them, than I used in paying fifty in any former pursuit of health, besides saving a world of nausea and disgust in swallowing an enormous quantity of medicines. Do you know Dr. Peters? Very well.

"Aid have you ever taken his medicine?" "I have; I were a blockhead else." "They tell me he is none of your quacks, who undertake to mend and regulate the human machine, without so much as knowing of what parts it consists, and how they are put together. They say he understands anatomy and physiology, I think you call them; and is as familiar with botany and chemistry as I am with the road to mill."

"You are right informed, Dr. Peters is no empiric. He does not undertake what he does not understand.—He was regularly bred to the healing art. He has spent years in the acquisition of knowledge; he has devoted himself to the study of the human frame, and the diseases to which it is subject, and now he is applying his acquisitions to the relief of suffering humanity. He does not put forth the absurd claim so often advanced by the inventors of patent nostrums—namely, that of curing all diseases with a single prescription! Such a pretence he would deem about as difficult to swallow, as to take the nostrums of those who put it forth. There is no such medicine. There is, no, and never was, a panacea for all diseases. The water-cure seldom cures, but it is no such miracle. But what is infinitely better, they effect whatever they undertake. They keep the word of promise to the stomach, and the price is which they make to the ear and eye."

And that indeed is no slight recommendation. Nor are the complaints to which these Pills are adapted few nor far between. The disorders arising from a morbid state of the Bile are, unfortunately, many, distressing and fatal. A large proportion of all the fevers, especially the South and in the marshy districts, are owing to this cause, from the distressing ague and fever, which almost shakes asunder life and limb, to the fearful "Yellow Jack," which seldom quits his victim without assundering soul and body as he takes his leave. Conversant from his previous practice, with disease, in all its form, which originates of the disorder of the Bile, Dr. Peters was first led to employ his knowledge and experience in the preparation of a medicine which should prove efficacious in this large class of diseases, which should relieve the aching and dizzy head, and restore the unobscured and loathing stomach, at the same time that it prevented those more fatal effects which are so apt to follow from their imprudent neglect.

For this purpose he prepared, with much care and a just adaptation to the purpose, the Vegetable Bilious Pills, which he is happy to say, from long experience and the abundant testimony of those who have employed them have answered, more than answered his most sanguine expectations. It is not his own mere assertion that you are called upon to believe. It is not the ipse dixit of any single man—though he was as great as Galen or Hippocrates—that you are to pin your faith upon. Neither—although it is said in the sacred volume that "by the mouth of two or three witnesses shall all things be established"—are you to believe in so small a number only! "A cloud of witnesses" is before you. They are too numerous to be easily overlooked; they are too intelligent to be carelessly heard; they are too respectable to be slightly regarded.
