

POETIC RECESS.
Song of a Greek Islander in Exile.
Where is the sea?—I languish here—
Where is my own blue sea?
With all its banks of fleet career,
And flags and breezes free.
I miss that voice of waves—the first
That woke my childish gloze.
The measured chime—the thundering burst—
Where is my own blue sea?
Oh! rich your myrtle's breath may rise,
Soft, soft your winds may be;
Yet my sick heart within me dies—
Where is my own blue sea?
I hear the shepherd's moulain flute,
I hear the whispering tree—
The echoes of my soul are mute—
Where is my own blue sea!

VARIETY.

Abernethy and Liston.—With all his power of creating faith and provoking laughter in others, Liston was, when at home, the dullest man imaginable, and a prey to low spirits, which frequently threatened his reason. By the persuasion of his wife, he went to the celebrated Abernethy, so well known for the brusquerie of his manner. Liston was ushered into the surgeon's room, and was received with a slight bow by the old cur, who was unacquainted with the name or person of his visitor.
"Sit down sir—what ails you?" said the doctor.
Liston stated his complaint with gravity and deliberation.
"Is that all?" inquired Abernethy. "There's nothing the matter with you; low spirits! Pooh! pooh!—go to Covent Garden to night and see Liston perform—if it has no effect, go to-morrow—that will do it: two doses of Liston will restore a melancholy madman—there—go—go."
Liston was taken aback—tipped his hat—and made a most theatrical exit.

Removing a Wrong Impression.—"I fear," said a country parson to his flock, "which I explained to you in my last charity sermon, that Philanthropy was the love of our species, you must have understood me to say specie, which may account for the smallness of the collection. You will prove, I hope, by your present contribution, that you are no longer under the mistake."

A Broad Hint.—Lady Isabella Finch, daughter of the Earl of Winchelsea, was lady of the bed-chamber to the Princess Amelia. Lord Bath one evening, having no silver, borrowed a half crown of her; he sent it the next day, with a very gallant wish that he could give her a crown. She replied, that "though he could not give her a crown, he could give her a coronet, and she was very ready to accept it."

"Anything more Sir."—The following colloquy took place lately, between an inquisitive English gentleman and his butcher boy:—"What are your politics?" said the gentleman. "The Queen's sir." "What are the Queen's?" "Mojo sir." "What's your name?" "My name," replied the boy, "is the same as father's." "And what is his name?" "Then what are both your names?" "Why they are both alike," said the boy. The gentleman turned upon his heel, and the boy shouted "Anything more sir."

Refinement.—A boarding school Miss, being unwell, thought it was not genteel to say she was Bilious, so she complained of being Williamous.

A person observed to his friend who was learning to take snuff, that it was wrong to teach one's nose a bad habit, as a man generally followed his nose.

When we are alone, we have our thoughts to watch—in our families, our tempers—and in society, our tongue.

An Irishman sold a horse, warranted "without fault." The buyer found him stone blind, and complained accordingly. "By no means!" said the seller, "but that's not his fault, it's only his misfortune, sure."

Common conversation is the best mirror of a man's heart; and he that can be deceived by a passion with whom he has been intimate, discovers a want of discernment, that would, were it possible, excuse the imposition.

A madman once described money thus: "Money is excessively convenient. It enables me to purchase diamonds, tennypenny nails, gin stings, and salt mackerel."

Old Times.—The following is extracted from an old number of the London Magazine, of October, 1773.
"Fairfield, Aug. 29th.—Last evening, was married, the Hon. John Hancock, Esq., president of the Continental Congress, to Miss Dorothy Quincy, Esq., of Boston."

Believe nothing against another but upon good authority; nor report what may hurt another, unless it be a greater hurt to others to conceal it.

Out of the three best things, three of the worst arise—from truth, hatred; from familiarity, contempt; from happiness, envy.

Women, the world over, are uniformly gentle, courteous and polite. Leveard, the traveller says, "I never addressed myself in the language of decency and friendship to a woman, whether civilized or savage, without receiving a decent and friendly answer."

He who is young in years may be old in hours if he have lost no time.—Chesterfield.

Time is money, yet money will not buy time.

Retort.—Some years ago, Roger M. Sherman, and Perry Smith, of Rhode Island were opposed to each other as advocates in an important case before a court of justice. Smith opened the case with a violent and foolish tirade against Sherman's political character. Sherman rose very composedly and remarked—"I shall not discuss politics with Mr. Smith before this court, but I am perfectly willing to argue questions of law, to chop logic, or even to split hairs with him." "Split that then," said Smith, at the same time pulling a short rough looking hair from his own head, and handing it over towards Sherman. "May it please the honorable court," retorted Sherman as quick as lightning, "I didn't say bristles."

The schoolmaster asked poor Tam, the idiot, how long a man could live without brains? Tam laying hold of the domineer's button, and gazing for a few moments in his face, replied, "how long hea've lived, domineer!"—Highland Len.

How to Pick a Spec.—"I say," said an archbishop to another in the street the other day, "You're the fellow who stole my marbles."
"No I ain't."
"Then I'm a liar, am I?"—and without more ado he commenced a violent battery on the person of the offending lad.

MOFFAT'S VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS AND PHENIX BITTERS.—The universal estimation in which the celebrated Life Pills and Phenix Bitters are held, is satisfactorily demonstrated by the increasing demand for them in every State and section of the Union, and by the voluntary testimonials to their remarkable efficacy which are every where offered. It is not less from a deeply gratifying confidence that they are the means of extensive and inestimable good among his afflicted fellow-creatures, than from interested considerations, that the Proprietor of these pre-eminently successful medicines is desirous of keeping them constantly before the public eye. The sale of every additional box and bottle is a guarantee that some persons will be relieved from a greater or less degree of suffering from disease can they be taken in vain.—The Proprietor has never known or been informed of an instance in which they have failed to do good. In the most obstinate cases of chronic disease, such as chronic dyspepsia, torpid liver, rheumatism, asthma, nervous and bilious head-ache, costiveness, piles, general debility, scrofulous swellings and ulcers, scurvy, salt rheum and all other chronic affections of the organs and membranes, they effect cures with a rapidity and permanency which few persons would theoretically believe, but to which thousands have testified from happy experience. In colds and coughs, which, if neglected, superinduce the most fatal diseases of the lungs, and indeed the viscera in general, these medicines, if taken but for three or four days, never fail. Taken at night, they so promote the inextinguishable perspiration, and so relieve the system of febrile action and feculent obstructions, as to produce a most delightful sense of convalescence in the morning; and though the usual symptoms of a cold should partially return during the day, the repetition of a suitable dose at the next hour of bed-time will almost invariably effect permanent relief, without further aid. Their effect upon fevers of a more acute and violent kind is not less sure and speedy if taken in proportionable quantity; and persons returning to bed with inflammatory symptoms of the most alarming kind, will awake with the gratifying consciousness that the fierce enemy has been overthrown, and can easily be subdued. In the same way, visceral turgescence, though long established, and visceral inflammations, however critical, will yield—the former to small and the latter to large doses of the Life Pills; and so also hysterical affections, hypochondriacal restlessness, and very many other varieties of the Neurotical class of diseases, yield to the efficacy of the Phenix Bitters. Full directions for the use of these medicines, and showing their distinctive applicability to different complaints, accompany them; and they can be obtained, wholesale and retail, at 375 Broadway, where numerous certificates of their unparalleled success are always open to inspection.

For additional particulars of the above medicines, see Moffat's "GOOD SAMARITAN," a copy of which accompanies the different Agents who have the medicines for sale. French, German, and Spanish directions can be obtained on application at the office, 375 Broadway, N. Y. A liberal deduction made to those who purchase to sell again.

Agents.—The Life Medicines may also be had of the principal Druggists in every town throughout the United States and the Canada. Ask for Moffat's Life Pills and Phenix Bitters; and be sure that a fac simile of John Moffat's signature is upon the label of each bottle of Bitters, or box of Pills.

FEVER AND AGUE.—TO MY FRIENDS IN THE WEST, and particularly those who have used the LIFE MEDICINES in treatment of FEVER AND AGUE.
It is but a very short time since these Medicines have been introduced into the Fevers and Agues Districts, and the proprietor has himself tried during that period, wherever they have been used according to the directions, they have done more towards exterminating the disease, than all other remedies and prescriptions combined. It is a common exclamation among "regular practitioners," when specifics are introduced, that they cannot cure diseases which people are in the habit of considering incurable. Medical experience is continually doing away a part of the list of the incurable diseases, and Mr. Moffat has the happiness of confidently announcing that Fevers and Agues is now to be added to the number of complaints which modern skill has conquered.

In Fevers and Agues the Life Medicines not only give quicker relief than any other remedy, but, if preserved in effect a permanent cure; so that if the patient is only ordinarily careful, and resorts directly to his medicine upon the first symptom of tendency to a new attack, it may always be ward off. To suppose one child would be or infinitely more consequence to the sufferer than the value of the remedy—to remove the disease permanently would confer a benefit upon him which cannot be estimated by any earthly standard. That these Medicines will effect what is here claimed for them, the Proprietor has the testimony of all acquainted with them and their application and use in the Fevers and Agues; and his object in now addressing his friends at the West is to request them that they spare no pains in communicating their experience, and disseminating this highly interesting information, now that the season for Fevers and Agues has arrived.

It is not for the mere purpose of disposing of a few hundred packages of the Life Medicines, that the proprietor makes this appeal. The demand for his Medicines is already greater than he can conveniently supply; and even were it insufficient to afford him business, he would conceive himself supremely selfish, if his pleasure was not greater at the benefit conferred upon his race, than at his own pecuniary profit. The Life Medicines, if properly used and persevered in, recommend themselves, still it is necessary that the public should know that such medicines exist, and hence the propriety of advertising them. It is hoped, therefore, that the proprietor will not be accused of egotism when he says that there is no medicine or mode of treatment extant, for fevers and agues, so appropriate, thorough and positive in its happy effects as Moffat's Life Pills and Phenix Bitters.

For further particulars of the above medicine see Moffat's GOOD SAMARITAN, a copy of which accompanies the medicine. A copy may also be obtained of the different Agents who have the medicines for sale.
French, German, and Spanish directions can be obtained on application at the office, 375 Broadway.
All post paid letters will receive immediate attention.
Sold wholesale and retail by WILLIAM B. MOFFAT, 375 Broadway, N. Y. A liberal deduction made to those who purchase to sell again.
Agents.—The Life Medicines may also be had of the principal Druggists in every town throughout the United States and the Canada. Ask for Moffat's Life Pills and Phenix Bitters; and be sure that a fac simile of John Moffat's signature is upon the label of each bottle of Bitters, or box of Pills.

FEVER AND AGUE POSITIVELY CURED.—Fevers and Agues is a most obstinate disease, and in warm and humid climates, frequently resists every ordinary mode of cure, so as to become very distressing to the person, and by the extreme debility which the disease induces, it often gives rise to other chronic complaints. Malarial miasmata, or the effluvia arising from stagnant water, is the most frequent exciting cause of this disease; and one of its most peculiarities is its susceptibility of a renewal from very slight causes, such as from the prevalence of an easterly wind—even without the repetition of the original exciting cause. In this, Fevers and Agues differs from most other fevers; as it is well known, that after an ordinary fever has once occurred, and been removed, the person affected is not so liable to a fresh attack as one who was not so affected. These circumstances render it extremely difficult to effect a permanent cure of Fevers and Agues, though to relieve the patient for the time being is a very easy task.

TERS have been thoroughly tested, and proved to be a positive and radical cure of Fevers and Agues. Hundreds of his fellow-citizens in the West, have voluntarily come forward to assure Mr. Moffat that the Life Medicines are the only medicines that will thoroughly effect a removal of this most tedious and disagreeable disease.

Others who have emigrated to that rich and promising portion of our country—men who went out full of hope, and confident of winning a competence from the luxuriance of the soil; or who carried to the outposts of our settlements the mercantile or mechanical experience won in the crowded cities and towns of the older States, have either returned with shattered constitutions and depressed spirits, or they remain in their new homes, dragging out a weary life; at last, to sink under some disease to which they are predisposed by that terror of the West, the Fevers and Agues. Their hopes are blasted—their business energies destroyed—their El Dorado becomes a desert, and the word, made to the ear, is broken to the hope.

To these individuals, Mr. Moffat would say—Try the Life Medicines, and you will yet anticipate your most sanguine expectations, for they will certainly restore you to health.
Fevers and Agues is a complaint which requires to be met at its first approach, and combated at every stage. Seldom fatal of itself, it reduces the strength, and impairs the functions of the organs, so that upon the manifestation of disease, Nature is unable, unassisted, to resist the invader. The Life Medicines, when taken strictly according to directions will cure it, and give to the weak and trembling victim of disease, new health, life, and strength.

For full particulars of the mode of treatment, the reader is referred to the GOOD SAMARITAN, a copy of which accompanies the medicine. A copy may be obtained of the different Agents who have the medicine for sale.

TO OWNERS OF MILLS.
THE SUBSCRIBER has an improved Spindle for Mills by which a mill will do much better than with the usual form of Spindles. It is so constructed as to keep from heating or killing the meal in any manner. The runner is so confined by the Spindle as always to preserve its balance, and of course there is no rubbing of the stones.
I think, by this improved Spindle, the same water will do at least one-third more business, and the meal of superior quality.
Any person wishing to use one of these Spindles, may obtain one or more, by making application, (within a short time) to the Subscriber at Mocksville, Davie Co. N. C. I think the probable cost will not exceed $30 for the Patent and Spindle ready for use.
Col. Wm. F. Kelly and Thos. Foster, in the vicinity of Mocksville, have recently tried the improved Spindle, and are highly pleased with it.
