We therefore advise all who are about to think of returning to the city, until they can be satisfied that the cause of the disease itself is removed. We think there will be but little suffering more from sickness, if we can keep people from coming to the city, for a few weeks longer.—Id.

THE WESTERN CAROLINIAN

SALISBURY:

Friday Morning, October 25, 1839.

The Junior Editor of this paper will, in a short time, be absent from the State for some months.

The Suspension.—As was to have been expected after the suspension of the Philadelphia Banks, those of this State and all South of Pennsylvania have done likewise. All this is the consequence of the suspension of the Philadelphia Banks. We have no doubt but that the Banks in this State are as sound as Banks can be; nevertheless, it would be great folly in them to keep their vaults open, while all the others close up, since the consequence would inevitably be, a drain of specie by the brokers and speculators.

It is believed by many that the suspension will be of short duration, we hope it may be so, but it is evident from the tone of some of their organs, who are doing their utmost to induce the New York Banks, now standing firm, to suspend too, that the Federal party will make desperate exertions to bring about, and maintain an embarrassed state of affairs in order to urge their scheme of a National Bank. This however they cannot do, since it is plain, beyond dispute, that the present suspension is occasioned wholly by the embarrassments of the United States Bank of Pennsylvania, the so-called "Regulator."

Bills to the amount of 7 millions of Francs drawn by this Institution on a banking establishment of France have been protested.—If this United States Bank of Pennsylvania is not too far gone to recover, it may be hoped that as soon as these difficulties are adjusted—if a general suspension cannot be effected in New York and New England—it will resume specie payments.—This Bank by its outrageous speculations in Cotton and politics has brought these embarrassments on itself and the country.—Its stock which some weeks ago was up to 120, has fallen in New York to 70, and its notes are now 10 per cent. discount in the same place. This is regulating the currency with a vengeance.—Perhaps the eyes of its advocates will be opened after a while, but "none are so blind as those who do not wish to see."

The extraordinary fact is disclosed, that with a deficit in the export of some five hundred thousand bales from the United States, the stock of American cotton now on hand in this place, amounts to the enormous sum of 592,000 bales; being the largest stock ever before known, and which exceeds that of last year on to-day, by 74,000 bales.—The above is an extract from a letter of Genl. Hamilton, dated from Liverpool the 20th August. The fact which he states of the large surplus of American Cotton on hand, is anything but favorable and agreeable intelligence for the planters.—The amount mentioned, nearly six hundred thousand bales, is sufficient, he says, for nine months supply of Great Britain, according to the ratio of her consumption for the last five months. This fact being so, it follows as a matter of course, that early consignments of the coming season, by increasing the already over-sufficient supply in market, must tend to depreciate the price.—Genl. Hamilton recommends the adoption of some effectual measures to keep back shipments until February, and points to the proposed convention of Cotton Planters to be held in Macon, as the only apparent resort.—If the Convention can devise means to change the regular course of trade heretofore, and keep up the price of Cotton by so doing, it will certainly be something new under the sun.

The Southern Cotton Crops.—All accounts concur in stating that the Southern Cotton crop has been so seriously affected by a drought late in the season, that it will fall far short of realizing the anticipations sometime since entertained, of a heavy yield.

Direct Trade to the South.—We notice several late advertisements of merchants in Charleston, direct importers from Europe, and it is recently announced, that a line of Packets, owned in that city, will go into operation on the 1st of February next, to run monthly between Liverpool and Charleston.—This is the most important step yet taken, and looks like establishing a direct trade in earnest, and we shall now see who are the advocates of Southern trade in fact, and who are its talking friends only. All approve the recommendations of the Commercial Conventions held,—now is the time for them to show their willingness to aid in carrying them out by stepping forward to the encouragement of the enterprising men who are boldly attempting to push them forward. Let our merchants go to Charleston and buy their goods, instead of the North; they ought to feel themselves bound to make the experiment at least. If the Southern merchants will continue to go to the North for their supplies, this enterprising and patriotic effort of the Charleston merchants, to establish a direct trade, cannot be sustained, conventions are not sufficient of themselves,—there must be some efficient steps taken. There is now an opportunity and we shall see who are and who are not the real and substantial friends of direct trade.

It is matter of astonishment that we should find any of the State Banks of the country friendly towards a United States Bank.—The conduct of the present United States Bank of Pennsylvania has been in a high degree oppressive and unjust towards them.—Witness her late operations in New York, as an instance,—she issues post notes and draws bills of exchange on Europe, (without previous arrangement to redeem them as the late protests of her bills in France show) these post notes and drafts she sells at a depreciation, for the notes of the State Banks, with which she drains the specie from their vaults, for exportation.—This is the operation to which the banking institutions have been subjected to sustain the sinking credit of this United States Bank, and yet we hear men talking about its correcting the currency, and regulating exchanges. What stuff.

ELECTIONS.
The late elections in New Jersey have resulted in favor of the Whigs.
Those in Pennsylvania and Ohio in favor of the Administration.
Final returns have not been received from Georgia, but so far as to render certain the election of McDonald, the Administration Candidate for Governor, by a considerable majority.

Federal meeting in Rowan.—The Federalists of this County, held a meeting in the Court-house on yesterday.—We were not a "looker on," but understand that it was a small one.—The object of the meeting was to choose delegates to the Raleigh Convention and perhaps the Harrisburg, to save the people the trouble of making a Governor and President.

Federal meeting in Davie.—We understand that the Federalists have called a meeting to be held in Mocksville on the 27th inst. We suppose the purpose is the same as that of the Rowan meeting, noted above.

Shipplasters.—The authorities in the Dist. of Columbia, and Pennsylvania, have given notice of their intention, rigorously to enforce the laws against the shipplaster issues, with which the country was so abominably flooded during the late suspension. They are a species of worse than trash, that ought to be kept down every where.

By the laws of Pennsylvania, the suspension of specie payments by the Banks, involves a forfeiture of their charters. In consideration of the state of affairs coercing the first suspension, the Legislature restrained an enforcement of the penalty.—They have, however, incurred the forfeit again with what consequence, remains to be seen.

No. 1 of the second volume of the American Philosophical Journal has been received. It is embellished with a lithograph, and contains a biography of Dr. Gall, besides several other interesting articles.

This periodical is certainly conducted with a degree of ability and candor, that deserves notice, and however its particular doctrines may be regarded, it contains many things highly interesting to men of science, and is altogether an acquisition to the literary publications of the country.

If the United States Bank had now a few millions of the people's money, from the surplus taxes on hand, they would greatly relieve its wants.—No doubt her managers look back with longing recollection and yearning hearts, to the times when they fingered for years, millions upon millions of the public money, without paying for its use, a cent of interest.—but these golden days for them have gone by, it is to be hoped, never more to return. We hope hereafter that the pockets of the people will be considered quite as safe depositories for their own money, as the Bank of the United States, or any other Bank.

Genl. McDuffie has been selected by a Committee of the citizens of Charleston to deliver a Eulogium on the character of Genl. Hayne.

The remains of Genl. Hayne interred at Asheville are to be removed to Charleston, and a monument will be erected over them to his memory.

The number of contested seats in the House of Representatives of the next Congress is eight.—Five from New Jersey, one from Pennsylvania, one from Virginia, and one from Illinois.

Fatal Occurrence.—A lad by the name of Wm. Dowdy, a bound boy to Mr. Wm. Taylor of Davie Co., was killed on the 14th inst., in a shocking manner. He rode with a negro boy to water, a short distance from the house, without a bridle on his horse, on returning, they commenced racing their horses, when the one on which Dowdy rode, fell, threw him over his head, and falling over on him, crushed him instantly to death.

Our acknowledgements are due to a young friend, who has politely sent us a Catalogue of the University for the present year. It is highly gratifying to its friends to be assured of the flourishing state of the Institution which the Catalogue shows.
