

Our private correspondents from the British and French metropolises will give the reader a complete...

Correspondence of the Courier & Enquirer. London, November 1, 1850.

The British Queen, steam-ship, having punctually left the Thames at 8 this morning, will be at Portsmouth at noon to-morrow, and consequently your latest intelligence from London, must be to the latest hour of this afternoon.

The state of monetary and mercantile affairs, has not altered for the better, since your preceding accounts by the Great Western, steam-ship...

The foreign exchanges continue unfavorable—and an increasing exportation of silver is weekly going forward to Hamburg, St. Petersburg, and Amsterdam...

We hear no more of the "demon steamers" of 1,500 or 2,000 tons each, which the Government was to have constructed...

You will here, naturally, expect that I speak of the late affair between the Bank of the United States and the house of Hottinger & Co., but no new fact has transpired.

Respecting the operations of Mr. Jaudon, of which the usual flood of misrepresentations and fabrications will be found in your files of the London journals, the following is the correct account.

Immense numbers of your fellow citizens of the United States continue to arrive here—most of them on their way to Italy. Among the most distinguished of our late arrivals is your celebrated lawyer and legislator, Daniel Webster.

There is important intelligence from the East Indies and China brought yesterday by an overland mail. The campaign has ended in Cabot, and Dost Mahomet has been dethroned with only a slight loss to the English troops.

There is some probability that Queen Victoria will confer upon her subjects the honor of a king. Prince Albert, of Saxe-Coburg, is the gentleman in question; but it is not expected to be a popular affair, as Victoria is not perfectly popular herself.

and, "another boggary German" is the language which appears to be in the multitude of mouths.

The negotiations for a recognition by England of the independence of Texas have failed for the present, in consequence of the inability of Col. Henderson to satisfy this government on the question of slaves...

Correspondence of the Courier & Enquirer. Paris, October 29, 1850.

The tendency to improvement observable in commercial affairs at the date of my letters by the Great Western, and the inclination towards a decline, apparent about that time, in the price of grain and flour, have not continued.

We hear no more of the "demon steamers" of 1,500 or 2,000 tons each, which the Government was to have constructed...

HOUSE & LOT for Sale; good payment will be given. Here is a chance for a good stand in the business part of the town. Also, on the premises, suitable buildings for a merchant and mechanic. Such an opportunity to purchase do not present themselves every day. HENRY SMITH, Salisbury, N. C., Nov. 22, 1850.

DENTAL OPERATIONS. DR. R. W. WHITTINGTON. HAVING located himself in the Town of Salisbury, offers his professional services to the citizens of Rowan, and the adjoining counties. He may be found at Col. Leno's Store, where he is prepared to perform any and every DENTAL OPERATION. N. B.—Examination made without charge, materials and work warranted in all cases. Salisbury, Nov. 6, 1850.

DR. G. B. DOUGLAS. HAVING located himself in Salisbury, respectfully tenders his professional services to his citizens, and those of the surrounding country. His office is at the room formerly occupied by Dr. R. M. Bouchelle, where he may be found at all times except when absent on professional duties. Salisbury, May 2, 1850.

To Owners of Mills. THE Subscriber has an improved patent Spindle for Mills, by which a mill will do much better than with the usual form of Spindles. It is so constructed as to keep from heating or killing the meal in any manner. The runner is so constructed by the Spindle as always to preserve its balance, and of course there is no rubbing of the stones. I think, by this improved Spindle, the same water will do more than one-third more business, and the cost of superior quality. Any person wishing to use one of these Spindles, may obtain one or more by making application, (within a short time) to the Subscriber at Mechanics, in Rowan Co., N. C. I think the probable cost will not exceed $20 for the Patent and Spindle ready for use. The following persons have my Patent Mill Spindles in successful operation:—Col. W. F. Kelly, Treas. Foster, Joseph Hall and David J. Foster of Davie County; Gilbert Dickson and David J. Ramsey of Lincoln County; and William Doss of Surry, all of whom are highly pleased with its performance. L. M. GILBERT, October 25, 1850.
