CHANGE.

Change! Change! The mouraful story Of all that's gone before! The wrecks of perished glory Bestrewing every shore.

The exattered tower and palace, That frown'd o'er every glea, in broken language tell us Of the fleeting power of men.

Change! Change! The scythe is sweeping
O'er many a cottage hearth;
The sickled hand is reaping
O'er some scenes of household mirth.
The sheaf is bound where daughters Round their mothers used to spin; And where little feet did patter Full often out and to Change! Change! for all things human! Kingdonis, states of amplest wing Have their flight in common With the meanest mortal thing : With besuty, love and passion, With all of earthly trust; With life's smallest wavelet rushing, Curling, breaking into dust !

Where arose in marble grandeur The wall'd cities of the past, The sallen winds now wander O'er a ruin huddled waste. Rent is the pelace splendid;
The owl, in cience, wings
O'er floors, where, eye attended,
Paced the sandalled feet of kings.

Still change ! Go thou and view All desolately sunk, The circle of the Druid, The closter of the monk; The abbey, boled and squalid, With its grass maned staggering wall, Ask by whom these were unhallowed-Twas change that did it all.

But Mind, the ever-living. From Time's each succeeding birth, Will receive some more of heaven. Will retain some less of earth. More of truth, and less of error; Less of hate and more of love: Till the world below shall mirror All the purity above.

Manufactures in Tennessee .- The statistics of the Middle district, Tennessee, are published in the Nashville Union. In the account of manual industry, we notice that there are 23 furnaces for casting iron, producing 14,000 tons; 28 bloomeries, forges and rolling unils, producing 7,806 tons; 1,185,846 as the gentleman is. tons of fuel consumed, 2,273 men employed, and $1,219,800 capital invested. Of cotton manufactures, there are 423, employing 10,260 spindles; 1,259 persons employed, and $282,000 capital invested. Of woollen manufactures there are 18; value of manufactured goods, $12,750; number of we have yet seen. persons employed 36; capital invested, $459,415. All other manufactures not enumerated, value $154 588, capital invested, $70 490. Total capital invested in manufactures, $2,110,071.

All this is exclusive of the manufacture of hats and caps, coarse linear, tobacco, leather and leather ware, norn and candles, puwder, carthen ware, paeated to a considerable amount.—Newark Ade,

Years shorten as a min advaniste declines as he travels towards the frezen pole, until it dwindles to a point, and vanishes forever. Is it possible that life is of so short duration?— Will ninety years erase all the gulden names over the doors in towns and country, and substititle others in towns and country, and substitute others in their stend? Will all the new blooming beauties fade and disappear, all the pride and passion, the love, hope, and joy, pass away in ninety years and be torgotton?—"Ninety years!" says Death, "do you think I shall wait ninety years? Behold, to day, and to-morrow, and every day is mine. When ninety years are past, this generation will have mingled with the dust and remembered not."

Getting Rich by trading .- A newly married couple in the old Bay State, before the Revolution, commenced the world with no other patrimony than a barrel of rum. On this they determined to commence business for a living. Accordingly they open ed what they called a shop or store, and advertised rum for sale at retail. But as wery and cautious merchants they solomoly resolve to forswear the cridit system, and to sell not a drain but for ready money. A dram was soon sold, and James had n groat for it. This was a good capital to begin upon. The next day James became thirsty and arranged with his wife Betty to pay her the groat, for which she deals him out a dram. But why should not trade be reciprocated? Why should not Betty have rights as well as James! And so the next day she purchased a dram of her dear husband. and paid him a great for the same. Thus a shrewd plan of mutual exchanges having been devised, the each kept a constant circulation between James and Betty, till the barrel was empty and both became confirmed drunkards.

Much of the benefits in trade in this country are well illustrated by the anecdote of James and Betty. It is a mere passing of the great around. A bosiness that nids in the consamption and extravagance of the people, but neither adds to not encourages the production of any of the means of for work.

Matrimony is like masonry, no one knows the secret until he is initiated,-it is like an ed trap, easy enough to get into, but plaguy hard to get out. Begging - A little girl who had been in the habit of begging for cold victuals, called as she had been accustomed, at a certain house in a village, and on boing given the usual portion, entered her protest against it, and said there was not enough.
"Why," said the lady, " is this not as much as we have been in the habit of giving you?" The girl very innocently replied, " oh yes; but we are taking boarders now."
