WE REAP WHAT WE SOW.

For pleasure or pain, or for weal or for woe,
'Tis the law of our being—we reap what we sow,
We may try to evade them, may do what we will;
But our acts like our shadows, will follow us still.

The world is a wonderful chemist, be sure,
And detects in a moment the base or the pure;
We may boast of our claims to genius or birth,
But the world takes a man for just what he is worth.

We start in the race for fortune or fame;
And then, when we fail the world bears the blame,
But nine times in ten, 'tis plain to be seen,
There's a "screw somewhere loose" in the human machine.

Are you wearied and worn in this hard earthly strife?
Do you yearn for affection to sweeten your life?
Remember this truth has been often times proved—
We must make ourselves lovable, would we be loved.

Though life may appear as a desolate track,
Yet the bread that we cast on the waters comes back,
This law was enacted by Heaven above—
That "like begets like, and love begets love."

We are proud of our mansions of mortar and stone,
In our gardens are flowers from every zone;
But the beautiful oraces that blossom within,
Grow shivelled and die 'neath the upas of sin.

We make ourselves heroes and martyrs for gold,
Till health becomes broken, and youth becomes old;
Ah! did we the same for a beautiful love,
Our lives might be music for angels above.

We reap what we sow. O wounderful truth!
A truth hard to lean in the days of our youth.
But it shines out at last as the "hand on the wall,"
For the word has its debt and its credit for all.

ANDY JOHNSON ON GRANT.

In his speech at Knoxville some days ago, ex-President Johnson told some startling facts on Grant, the gift-taker, andcharacterised his habit of receiving presents and bestowing offices in return as a high crime. Mr. Johnson made reference to the case of Sir John Trevor, Speaker of the British House of Common in 1695, who, for receiving a gift of 1000 guineas from the city of London for his aid in getting a bill through was pronounced by resolution of the House guilty of high crimes, and was expelled by a unanimous vote. Alluding to this, the first and last case of the sort in British legislation, Mr. Johnson thus draws the contrast between the first and last President of the United States:

Here was where our forefathers obtained there idea from. The trial of Trevor established that principle which was inserted in our Constitution. Washington felt overwhelmed with the importance of the protection of the country. What will modern history show? That the present President of the United States received a bribe of $65,000 from A. T. Stewart. The President, in return, appointed Stewart Secretary of the Treasury. Hoar, of Massachusetts, was appointed Attorney General in consideration of a gift of a library valued at $10,000. Borie presented him with a house and lot worth $4,000, for which he was appointed Secretary of the Navy. I might if time would permit, enumerate a long list of such cases.—Estimates of gifts received by Grant to the amout of $495,000 have already been made. When our country has come to this, is it time to talk about who were Whigs who Democrats, rebels or Radicals? Rather see to it that great foundations of public service are strictly adhered to. Where are your public morals to be found when your officers of trust and responsibility are bargained and peddled out by corrupt rulers.

Mr. George Powers has a tobacco factory at Newnan, Ga., which employs thirty hands, and, turns out 12 to 15 boxes of tobacco every day.
